Wake Forest Institute was founded in 1834 by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. The school opened its doors on February 3 with Samuel Wait as principal. Classes were first held in a farmhouse on the Calvin Jones plantation in Wake County, North Carolina, near which the village of Wake Forest later developed.

Rechartered in 1838 as Wake Forest College, Wake Forest is one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in the state. The School of Law was established in 1894, followed by a two-year medical school in 1902. Wake Forest was exclusively a college for men until World War II, when women were admitted for the first time.

In 1941 the medical school moved to Winston-Salem to become affiliated with North Carolina Baptist Hospital and was renamed the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. In 1946 the trustees of Wake Forest and the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina accepted a proposal by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to relocate the College to Winston-Salem. The late Charles and Mary Reynolds Babcock donated much of the R.J. Reynolds family estate as the site for the campus and building funds were received from many sources. From 1952 to 1956, the first fourteen buildings were constructed in Georgian style on the new campus. The move to Winston-Salem took place in the summer of 1956; the original, or “old” campus, is now home to Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Following the move, Wake Forest grew considerably in enrollment, programs, and stature and became a University in 1967. The School of Business Administration, first established in 1948, was named the Charles H. Babcock School of Business Administration in 1969 and admitted its first graduate students in 1971. In 1972 the school enrolled only graduate students and the name was changed to the Babcock Graduate School of Management; departments of business and accountancy and economics were established in the College. In 1980 the Department of Business and Accountancy was reconstituted as the School of Business and Accountancy; the name was changed to the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy in 1995.

The Division of Graduate Studies, established in 1961, is now organized as the Graduate School and encompasses advanced work in the arts and sciences on both the Reynolda and Bowman Gray campuses. In 1997 the medical school was renamed the Wake Forest University School of Medicine; its campus is now known as the Bowman Gray Campus. The Divinity School was established in 1999.
Wake Forest honors its Baptist heritage in word and deed. The University will fulfill the opportunities for service arising out of that heritage. Governance is now by an independent Board of Trustees; there are advisory boards of visitors for the College and each professional school. A joint board of University trustees and trustees of the North Carolina Baptist Hospital is responsible for Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center, which includes the hospital and the medical school.

The College, Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy, Babcock Graduate School of Management, School of Law, the Graduate School, and the Divinity School are located on the Reynolda Campus in northwest Winston-Salem. The Wake Forest School of Medicine is about four miles away, near the city’s downtown. The University also offers instruction regularly at Casa Artom in Venice, at Worrell House in London, at Flow House in Vienna, and in other places around the world.

The College offers courses in more than forty fields of study leading to the baccalaureate degree. The Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy offers courses of study leading to baccalaureate degrees in business, finance, or mathematical business (in cooperation with the Department of Mathematics). The Divinity School offers the master of divinity degree.

The School of Law offers the juris doctor and master of laws in American law degrees, and the Babcock Graduate School of Management, the master of business administration and the master of art in management degrees. Both schools also offer a joint JD/MBA degree.

In addition to the doctor of medicine degree, the Wake Forest School of Medicine offers, through the Graduate School, programs leading to the master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees in biomedical sciences. The School of Medicine and the Babcock School offer a joint MD/MBA program.

The Graduate School confers the master of arts, master of arts in education, master of arts in liberal studies, and master of science degrees in the arts and sciences and the doctor of philosophy degree in biology, chemistry, and physics. The Graduate School also offers MD/PhD and PhD/MBA programs.

Buildings and Grounds

The Reynolda Campus of Wake Forest is situated on approximately 340 acres; its physical facilities consist of over thirty buildings, most of which are of modified Georgian architecture and constructed of Old Virginia brick trimmed in granite and limestone. The main Quadrangle, Hearn Plaza, is named for Wake Forest’s twelfth president, Thomas K. Hearn Jr., who served from 1983 to 2005. Manchester Plaza, named for benefactors and Wake Forest parents Doug and Elizabeth Manchester, is located on south campus. The Reynolda Gardens annex, consisting of about 150 acres and including Reynolda Woods, Reynolda Village, Reynolda Gardens, and Reynolda House Museum of American Art, is adjacent to the campus. The Graylyn International Conference Center is nearby.

Wait Chapel, named in memory of the first president of the College, seats 2,300. The Wait Chapel tower contains the Janet Jeffrey Carlisle Harris Carillon, an instrument of forty-eight bells. Wingate Hall, named in honor of President Washington Manly Wingate, houses the Department of Religion, the Divinity School, and the offices of the University chaplain and Wake Forest Baptist Church. Reynolda Hall, across the upper plaza from Wait Chapel, houses most of the administrative offices for the Reynolda Campus. The Benson University Center is the central hub for student activities and events. The Z. Smith Reynolds Library and its Edwin Graves Wilson Wing house the main collection of books and documents on the Reynolda Campus. Along with eight floors of open stacks, it has reading and reference rooms for study. Carswell Hall houses the Departments of Communication, Economics, and Sociology, and a large multi-media lecture area, the Annenberg Forum.
Winston Hall houses the biology department; Salem Hall, the chemistry department. Both buildings have laboratories as well as classrooms and special research facilities. The Olin Physical Laboratory houses the physics department. Harold W. Tribble Hall accommodates primarily humanities departments and the women’s and gender studies program, and has seminar rooms, a philosophy library, and a multimedia lecture area, DeTamble Auditorium. The Museum of Anthropology houses the anthropology department and North Carolina’s only museum dedicated to the study of world cultures. The Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy is located in Kirby Hall, and the Departments of Mathematics and Computer Science are in adjacent Manchester Hall. William B. Greene Jr. Hall houses psychology, German and Russian, and Romance languages.

The James R. Scales Fine Arts Center is of contemporary design appropriate to the functions of studio art, theatre, musical and dance performances, and instruction in art history, drama, and music. Off its lobby is the Charlotte and Philip Hanes Gallery for special exhibitions. In the art wing are spacious studios for drawing, painting, sculpture, and printmaking, along with a smaller gallery and classrooms. In the theatre wing are design and production areas and two technically complete theatres, the larger of traditional proscenium design and the smaller for experimental ring productions. The music wing contains Brendle Recital Hall for concerts and lectures, classrooms, practice rooms for individuals and groups, and the offices of the music department.

The Worrell Professional Center for Law and Management houses the School of Law and the Babcock Graduate School of Management under one roof.

The William N. Reynolds Gymnasium has classrooms for instruction in health and exercise science, courts for indoor sports, a swimming pool, and offices for the Department of Health and Exercise Science and Student Health Service. Adjacent are tennis courts, sports fields, Kentner Stadium, the Manchester Athletic Center, and the Kenneth D. Miller Center.

The Information Systems Building houses the information systems and military science departments, as well as a University Stores annex and a food service area.

The Wake Forest campus has a wide variety of housing options available to students. Babcock Hall, Bostwick Hall, Collins Hall, Davis Hall, Efird Hall, Huffman Hall, Johnson Hall, Kitchin Hall, Luter Hall, Martin Hall, Palmer Hall, Piccolo Hall, Polo Hall, Poteat Hall, the Student Apartments, and Taylor Hall are coeducational by floor, wing, or apartment. Substance-free living environments are available in some residence halls. Student housing is also available in the townhouse apartments and several small houses owned by the University.

Information Systems

Information Systems supports the instruction, research, and administrative needs of the Reynolda Campus of Wake Forest University. The campus computer network offers high-speed wired and wireless connectivity from all campus buildings.

Upon enrollment, all undergraduate students receive a computer equipped with wireless connectivity and a color printer. At the beginning of the junior year, students exchange the computer for a new model. Upon graduation, the computer and the printer become the property of the student.

The computers contain a standard suite of powerful programs that allow students easy access to research and class materials and offer the ability to interact with faculty, staff, and other students through the campus network. Software programs include Microsoft Office, Adobe Acrobat and digital media tools, and e-mail and Internet applications like Mozilla and Adobe Dreamweaver. A large variety of instructional, classroom, and research resources are also available on the computer. These include the online catalog, databases, and electronic journals provided by the Z. Smith Reynolds Library.

Information Systems maintains an extensive array of online information systems that support University admissions, student registration, grade processing, payroll administration, accounting services, and many other administrative and academic applications. In addition, the Wake Forest Information Network (WIN) provides the University community with features like faculty, staff, and student directories; an alumni directory and career networking service; online class registration; and vehicle registration.

Students also have access to computing resources outside the University. The University is a member of the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), located at the University of Michigan. Membership in ICPSR provides faculty and students with access to a large library of data files, including public opinion surveys, cross-cultural data, financial data, and complete census data. The University is also a member of EDUCAUSE, a national consortium of colleges and universities concerned with computing issues.

The University has an extensive collection of computing facilities serving both academic and business needs. An extensive set of LINUX and Windows-based systems provide for business, messaging, systems management, Internet, intranet, courseware, research, and file and print services for the University. A 214-node LINUX supercomputing cluster provides supercomputing services for physics, biotechnology, mathematics, computer science, and other scientific research. These systems are available to students, faculty, and staff 24 hours a day through the Wake Forest University network or other ISP connectivity. All connections are protected by VPN and firewalls.

Wake Forest’s network infrastructure includes a gigabit Ethernet backbone, 100 megabit switched connectivity to the desktop, and pervasive, 802.11a/g wireless connectivity in all campus buildings. Wake Forest has a gigabit Ethernet connection to the Winston-Salem RPOP (regional point of presence) for Internet access. This RPOP connects the University to the North Carolina Research and Education Network (NCREN), the Internet service provider for the majority of North Carolina colleges and universities. Through this connection, Wake Forest has access to additional extensive supercomputing facilities located throughout the state of North Carolina as well as access to all the premiere research networks in the world, including Internet II and the National Lambda Rail. Wake Forest works closely with NCREN on other advanced network and Internet technologies.

Information Systems also provides telephone and cable television services to the students, faculty, and staff of Wake Forest University. All residence hall rooms are equipped with telephone jacks and cable TV connections. Local dial service for the campus and Winston-Salem area is provided as part of the housing package. Students who reside in campus housing receive personal security codes for dialing long-distance calls, which are billed to them each month.

Cable television, while providing a recreational outlet, plays an important role by providing access to campus information and educational offerings. Cable channel 2 is the Wake Forest Information Systems channel, which provides updated information on campus technology, Service Desk hours, and the status of various technology services. Cable channel 6 is student-run WAKE-TV, which features various student programming. Channels 20 and 22 carry SCOLA and SCOLA2, nonprofit educational services that feature television programming from more than 50 different countries in their original languages. Information Systems also offers select HDTV channels to students in residence halls.
Information Systems provides assistance online at http://help.wfu.edu, by telephone at xHELP (x4357), and supports walk-in customers in room 256 of the Information Systems Building from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Friday; and 3-7 p.m. on Sunday. A voice mail retrieval system is activated on weekends and during holiday breaks to respond to emergency calls. On-site computing support in residence halls is available from Resident Technology Advisors (xRTAS).

Libraries

The libraries of Wake Forest University support instruction and research at the undergraduate level and in the disciplines awarding graduate degrees. The libraries of the University hold membership in the American Library Association and in the Association of Southeastern Research Libraries. They rank among the top libraries in the Southeast in expenditures per student.

The Wake Forest University libraries include the Z. Smith Reynolds Library, which is located on the Reynolda Campus and supports the undergraduate College, the Calloway School of Business and Accountancy, the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, and the Divinity School. The Professional Center Library, housed in the Worrell Professional Center on the Reynolda Campus, serves the Law School and the Babcock Graduate School of Management. The Coy C. Carpenter Library serves the Wake Forest School of Medicine and is located on the Bowman Gray Campus. The three library collections total over 1.9 million volumes. Subscriptions to more than 35,000 periodicals and serials, largely of scholarly content, are maintained at the libraries. The Z. Smith Reynolds Library holds over 1.4 million volumes in the general collection, over 1 million reels of microfilm and pieces of microtext, and nearly 25,000 media items. As a congressionally designated selective federal depository and depository of North Carolina government information, the Z. Smith Reynolds Library holds nearly 170,000 government documents. The Professional Center Library holds over 200,000 volumes and the Coy C. Carpenter Library holds over 150,000 volumes. The three libraries share an online catalog, which also provides access to electronic resources, journals and databases, all accessible via the campus network and on the Internet.

Through interlibrary loan service, students may obtain materials from other libraries at no charge. In addition, Wake Forest University faculty members have borrowing privileges and on site access to the collections of some of the most important research libraries in North America. The Z. Smith Reynolds Library provides access to a number of digital current awareness tools to help faculty stay up-to-date in their fields of interest. Library staff members instruct and support faculty in using the Blackboard course management system. Faculty may place course materials and readings on reserve, with electronic reserve options available. Faculty participate in collection development by recommending purchases through library liaisons, faculty library representatives, and academic department chairs. Faculty members, along with students, serve on the Library Planning Committee.

The Z. Smith Reynolds Library provides comprehensive reference and research services including assistance with directed and independent research and online searching, discipline related library instruction, general library orientation, tours, and a one-credit elective course entitled “Accessing Information in the 21st Century.” Reference tools are available in electronic and print formats.

Special collections in the Z. Smith Reynolds Library include the Rare Books and Manuscripts Collection and the Ethel Taylor Crittenden Baptist Historical Collection. The Rare Books and Manuscripts Collection, greatly enhanced by the donation of rare and fine books of the late Charles H. Babcock, emphasizes American and British authors of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Among the collections are works of Mark Twain, Gertrude Stein, William Butler Yeats, T.S. Eliot and the publications of the Hogarth Press. The extensive Anglo-Irish literature collection includes the Dolmen Press Archive. The archive of alumnus Harold Hayes, editor of Esquire magazine in the 1960s–70s, and the Maya Angelou works for theater, television and screen are maintained in the special collections. The Ethel Taylor Crittenden Baptist Historical Collection contains significant books, periodicals, manuscripts and church records relating to North Carolina Baptists, as well as the personal papers of prominent ministers, educators, and government officials with ties to Wake Forest College/University. The Wake Forest College/University Archive is maintained in the library as well.

The entire library is equipped for wireless Internet access. Facilities in the Z. Smith Reynolds Library include an Information Technology Center (ITC) which offers a computer lab, technology training classes and collaborative space for student group work. The ITC also offers a multimedia lab with stations for digital imaging, scanning, and multimedia projects. Small group study rooms may be reserved at the circulation desk. In addition, 90 locking study carrels located throughout the Reynolds stacks may be reserved by graduate students and faculty. Two 24-hour study rooms, one of which houses a cyber café, are located near the entrance to the library and may be accessed by keycard when the library is closed. A full description of the Z. Smith Reynolds Library resources and services is found at http://zsr.wfu.edu.

Recognition and Accreditation

Wake Forest University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees. The Commission can be contacted at 404.679.4501, 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 and www.sacscoc.org. Inquiries should relate only to the accreditation status of the institution and not to general admission information.

The Wake Forest University School of Medicine is a member of the Association of American Medical Colleges and is fully accredited by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education, the joint accrediting body of the Association of American Medical Colleges and the American Medical Association. The School of Law is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is listed as an approved school by the Council of the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar of the American Bar Association and by the Board of Law Examiners and the Council of the North Carolina State Bar. The Babcock Graduate School of Management and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy are accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. The Babcock Graduate School is also accredited by the European Foundation for Management Development. The program in counseling leading to the master of arts in education degree is accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs. The Divinity School has obtained associate membership in the Association of Theological Schools.

Wake Forest University is a member of many of the major institutional organizations and associations at the national, regional, and statewide levels, including the following: The American Council on Education, the Association of American Colleges, the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Southern Universities Conference, the North Carolina Conference of Graduate Schools, the North Carolina Association of Colleges and Universities, the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, and the North Carolina Association of Independent Colleges and Universities. In addition, many offices of the University are members of associations which focus on particular aspects of university administration. Wake Forest has chapters of the principal national social fraternities and sororities, professional fraternities, and honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. There is an active chapter of the American Association of University Professors on campus.

The Undergraduate Schools

The undergraduate schools, Wake Forest College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy, are governed by the Board of Trustees, the University administration, and by their respective faculties. Responsibility for academic administration is delegated by the president and trustees to the provost, who is the chief academic officer of the University. The deans of the schools report to the provost and are responsible for academic planning and administration for their schools.

Wake Forest University is committed to administer all educational and employment activities without discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, veteran status, handicapped status, or disability as required by law. The University has adopted a procedure for the purpose of resolving discrimination complaints. Inquiries or concerns should be directed to: Harold Holmes, dean of student services, at 336.758.5226; Deborah L. Best, dean of the college, at 336.758.5312; or Doris McLaughlin, assistant director of human resources, director of equal employment opportunity, and Title IX coordinator, at 336.758.4814.

The Higher Education Act requires that institutions of higher education make available by October 15 of each year a copy of the Equity in Athletics Disclosure Act annual report to any student who requests one. Please contact the athletic department to request a copy of this document.

Wake Forest rejects hatred and bigotry in any form and adheres to the principle that no person affiliated with Wake Forest should be judged or harassed on the basis of perceived or actual sexual orientation. In affirming its commitment to this principle, Wake Forest does not limit freedom of religious association or expression, does not presume to control the policies of persons or entities not affiliated with Wake Forest, and does not extend benefits beyond those provided under other policies of Wake Forest.
Wake Forest College is a place of meeting. Its teachers and students are of diverse backgrounds and interests, and that diversity is crucial to the distinctive character of the College. Wake Forest continually examines its educational purpose and evaluates its success in fulfilling it. A formal statement of purpose was prepared as part of the school’s decennial reaccreditation process and was adopted by the Board of Trustees.

Statement of Purpose

Wake Forest is a university dedicated to the pursuit of excellence in the liberal arts and in graduate and professional education. Its distinctiveness in its pursuit of its mission derives from its private, coeducational, and residential character; its size and location; and its Baptist heritage. Each of these factors constitutes a significant aspect of the unique character of the institution.

The University is now comprised of seven constituent parts: two undergraduate institutions, Wake Forest College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy; the Graduate School; and four professional schools: the School of Law, the Wake Forest University School of Medicine, the Babcock Graduate School of Management, and the Divinity School. It seeks to honor the ideals of liberal learning, which entail commitment to transmission of cultural heritages; teaching the modes of learning in the basic disciplines of human knowledge; developing critical appreciation of moral, aesthetic, and religious values; advancing the frontiers of knowledge through in-depth study and research; and applying and using knowledge in the service of humanity.

Wake Forest has been dedicated to the liberal arts for over a century and a half; this means education in the fundamental fields of human knowledge and achievement, as distinguished from education that is technical or narrowly vocational. It seeks to encourage habits of mind that ask “why,” that evaluate evidence, that are open to new ideas, that attempt to understand and appreciate the perspectives of others, that accept complexity and grapple with it, that admit error, and that pursue truth. Wake Forest College has by far the largest student body in the University, and its function is central to the University’s larger life. The College and the Graduate School are most singularly focused on learning for its own sake; they therefore serve as exemplars of specific academic values in the life of the University.

Beginning as early as 1894, Wake Forest accepted an obligation to provide professional training in a number of fields, as a complement to its primary mission of liberal arts education. This responsibility is fulfilled in the conviction that the humane values embodied in the liberal arts are also centrally relevant to the professions. Professional education at Wake Forest is characterized by a commitment to ethical and other professional ideals that transcend technical skills. Like the Graduate School, the professional schools are dedicated to the advancement of learning in their fields. In addition, they are specifically committed to the application of knowledge to solving concrete problems of human beings. They are strengthened by values and goals which they share with the College and Graduate School, and the professional schools enhance the work of these schools and the University as a whole by serving as models of service to humanity.

Wake Forest was founded by private initiative, and ultimate decision-making authority lies in a privately appointed Board of Trustees rather than in a public body. Funded to a large extent from private sources of support, Wake Forest is determined to chart its own course in the pursuit of its goals. As a coeducational institution, it seeks to “educate together” persons of both sexes and from a wide range of backgrounds—racial, ethnic, religious, geographical, socioeconomic, and cultural. Its residential features are conducive to learning and to the pursuit of a wide range of cocurricular activities. It has made a conscious choice to remain small in overall size; it takes pride in being able to function as a community rather than a conglomerate. Its location in the Piedmont area of North Carolina engenders an ethos that is distinctively Southern, and more specifically North Carolinian. As it seeks further to broaden its constituency and to receive national recognition, it is also finding ways to maintain the ethos associated with its regional roots.

Wake Forest is proud of its Baptist and Christian heritage. For more than a century and a half, it has provided the University an indispensable basis for its mission and purpose, enabling Wake Forest to educate thousands of ministers and lay people for enlightened leadership in their churches and communities. Far from being exclusive and parochial, this religious tradition gives the University roots that ensure its lasting identity and branches that provide a supportive environment for a wide variety of faiths. The Baptist insistence on both the separation of church and state and local autonomy has helped to protect the University from interference and domination by outside interests, whether these be commercial, governmental, or ecclesiastical. The Baptist stress upon an uncoerced conscience in matters of religious belief has been translated into a concern for academic freedom. The Baptist emphasis upon revealed truth enables a strong religious critique of human reason, even as the claims of revelation are put under the scrutiny of reason. The character of intellectual life at Wake Forest encourages open and frank dialogue and provides assurance that the University will be ecumenical and not provincial in scope, and that it must encompass perspectives other than the Christian. Wake Forest thus seeks to maintain and invigorate what is noblest in its religious heritage.

Honor System

Wake Forest University upholds the ideals of honor and integrity. The Honor System is central to University life; its essence is a commitment by each person to do what is right and abide by community standards. Each student is pledged to be trustworthy in all matters, and a violation of that trust is an offense against the community as a whole. In the specific terms of the Honor Code, a student pledges in all phases of life not to cheat, plagiarize, engage in other forms of academic or social misconduct, deceive, or steal. The strength of the Honor System derives from the commitment of each and every student to uphold its ideals.

The Honor System is jointly administered by the Office of the Dean of Student Services and the Judicial Council. Complete details are available at the Office of the Dean of Student Services.

Summary of Computing Rights and Responsibilities

The policy applies to all computer and computer communication facilities owned, leased, operated, or contracted by the University. This includes, but is not limited to, word processing equipment, microcomputers, minicomputers, mainframes, computer networks, computer peripherals, and software, whether used for administration, research, teaching, or other purposes. The policy extends to any use of University facilities to access computers elsewhere.

Wake Forest University provides each of its students and faculty with a computer and an e-mail account. Outside of the classroom, e-mail is an important means of communication between faculty, staff, and students. It is the responsibility of the student to regularly monitor his or her Wake Forest e-mail account for University communications.

Basic Principles. The University’s computing resources are for instructional and research use by the students, faculty, and staff of Wake Forest University. Ethical standards that apply to other University activities (Honor and Ethics System, the Social Regulations and Policies, and all local, state, and federal laws) apply equally to use of campus computing facilities.

As in all aspects of University life, users of computing facilities should act honorably and in a manner consistent with ordinary ethical obligations. Cheating, stealing, making false or deceiving statements, plagiarism, vandalism, and harassment are just as wrong in the context of computing systems as they are in all other domains.

Use of campus facilities is restricted to authorized users. An “authorized user” is an individual who has been assigned a login ID and password by Information Systems staff (on any relevant system), or by an authorized agent. Individual users are responsible for the proper use of their accounts, including the protection of their login IDs and passwords. Users are also responsible for reporting any activities that they believe to be in violation of this policy, just as students are responsible for reporting Honor and Ethics System violations.

Individuals should use these facilities:

- in a manner consistent with the terms under which they were granted access to them;
- in a way that respects the rights and privacy of other users; so as not to interfere with or violate the normal, appropriate use of these facilities; and
- in a responsible and efficient manner.

Abusive activities which are already covered under other University policies are to be handled in the same way, and by the same authorities, as if a computer had not been involved, following established guidelines.

Systems Monitoring. This statement serves as notice to all users of campus computing systems that regular monitoring of system activities may occur. Only designated staff of Information Systems have authorization to engage in systems monitoring.

Privacy. All individuals, including members of the Information Systems staff, should respect the privacy of other authorized users. Thus they should respect the rights of other users to security of files, confidentiality of data, and the ownership of their own work. Nonetheless, in order to enforce the policies set out here, designated Information Systems staff are permitted to monitor activity on local computing systems.

In the event that staff should investigate a user, a record of the investigation shall be placed in a permanent file to be kept in Information Systems, beyond the standard log of all systems monitoring. This record shall state why the user was investigated, what files were examined, and the results of the investigation. Information Systems staff shall not reveal the contents of users’ files, users’ activities, or the record of investigations except in the following cases (and then only with the approval of the chief information officer or the provost):

- Evidence of Honor and Ethics System or Social Regulations and Policies violations will be referred to the dean of the appropriate school or to the dean of student services.
- Evidence of improper activities by University employees will be referred to the director of human resources or the appropriate University officers.
- Evidence of violations of law will be referred to the appropriate law enforcement officials.

Disciplinary Actions. Substantial evidence of a violation of the principles described in this policy statement may result in disciplinary action. As stated above, in cases where a policy already exists, and the only difference is that a computer was used to perform the activity, such action will be taken through appropriate University channels such as administrative procedures, the Honor and Ethics Council, the Graduate Council, or other supervisory authority to which the individual is subject. Violation of state or federal statutes may result in civil or criminal proceedings. Otherwise, those who engage in computer violations are subject to the authority of Information Systems.

Violation of the policies articulated here may result in one or more of the following, plus any additional actions deemed appropriate by Information Systems:

- Suspension of one’s ability to perform interactive logins on relevant machines on campus.
- Suspension of one’s ability to login to a campus network.
- Suspension of one’s ability to send e-mail.
- Suspension of one’s ability to receive e-mail.
- Increased monitoring of further computer activity (beyond normal systems monitoring).

Any disciplinary action taken by Information Systems may be revoked and/or modified by the provost of the University or anyone the provost designates to deal with such matters.

Locating Computing Policy Information and Policy Updates. The above summary is based on the “Policy on Ethical and Responsible Use of Computing Resources” and other computing policies. These policies may be updated, shortened, or expanded from time to time. Full policies can be reviewed online at www.wfu.edu/is.

Student Complaints

Situations may arise in which a student believes that he or she has not received fair treatment by a representative of the University or has a complaint about the performance, actions, or inaction of the staff or faculty affecting a student. The procedure for bringing these issues to the appropriate person or body is outlined here. Students are encouraged to seek assistance from their advisers or another member of the faculty or staff in evaluating the nature of their complaints or deciding on an appropriate course of action.

A complaint should first be directed as soon as possible to the person or persons whose actions or inactions have given rise to the problem—not later than three months after the event. For complaints in the academic setting, the student should talk personally with the instructor. Should the student and instructor be unable to resolve the conflict, the student, if unsatisfied, should then turn to the chair of the involved department (the dean in the Calloway School) for assistance. The chair (or dean) will meet with both parties, seek to understand their individual perspectives, and within a reasonable time, reach a conclusion and share it with both parties. Finally, a student may appeal to the Committee on Academic Affairs which will study the matter, work with the parties, and reach a final resolution.

Students having complaints outside the academic setting, and who have been unable to resolve the matter with the individual directly involved, should process the complaint in a timely manner through the administrative channels of the appropriate unit. Students uncertain about the proper channels are encouraged to seek advice from faculty advisers, deans’ offices, or the Office of the Dean of Student Services. Complaints which rise to the level of a grievance (as determined by the earlier steps in the process) may be heard as a final appeal before a University official designated by the provost after reviewing the nature of the complaint. The committee will include a representative of the faculty and a member of the student body. The grievance must be filed in writing. Grievances not deemed frivolous by the committee will be heard. The student may be assisted during the hearing by a member of the University community.

The complaint/grievance process outlined above is meant to answer and resolve issues arising between individual students and the University and its various offices from practices and procedures affecting that relationship. In many cases, there are mechanisms already in place for the reporting and resolution of specialized complaints (harassment and discrimination, for instance), and these should be fully used where appropriate. Violation of student conduct rules or the honor system should be addressed through the judicial process specifically designed for that purpose.

History and Development

Since 1834, Wake Forest College has developed its distinctive pattern of characteristics: tenacity, independence, a fierce defense of free inquiry and expression, and a concern that knowledge be used responsibly and compassionately. That these characteristics have served the school well is displayed by its growth from a small sectarian school to one of the nation’s significant small private universities.

The brief history of Wake Forest appearing on page 18 is useful in understanding the University as it is today and appreciating the process through which it developed.

ALL STUDENTS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR FAMILIARIZING THEMSELVES WITH THE PORTIONS OF THIS BULLETIN THAT PERTAIN TO THEIR COURSE OF STUDY. STATEMENTS CONCERNING COURSES AND EXPENSES ARE NOT TO BE REGARDED AS IRREVOCABLE CONTRACTS BETWEEN THE STUDENT AND THE INSTITUTION. THE UNIVERSITY RESERVES THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THE SCHEDULE OF CLASSES AND THE COST OF INSTRUCTION AT ANY TIME WITHIN THE STUDENT’S TERM OF RESIDENCE.

Admission

Candidates for admission must furnish evidence of maturity and educational achievement. The Committee on Admissions carefully considers the applicant’s academic records, scores on tests, and evidence of character, motivation, goals, and general fitness for study in the College. The applicant’s secondary school program must establish a commitment to the kind of broad liberal education reflected in the academic requirements of the College.

Admission as a first-year student normally requires graduation from an accredited secondary school with a minimum of sixteen units of high school credit. These should include four units in English, three in mathematics, two in history and social studies, two in a single foreign language, and one in the natural sciences. An applicant who presents at least twelve units of differently distributed college preparatory study can be considered. A limited number of applicants may be admitted without the high school diploma, with particular attention given to ability, maturity, and motivation.

Application

An application is secured from the Office of Undergraduate Admissions in person or by mail (P.O. Box 7305, Winston-Salem, North Carolina 27109-7305) or online at www.wfu.edu/admissions. It should be completed and returned to that office no later than January 15 for the fall semester. Most admissions decisions for the fall semester are made by April 1, with prompt notification of applicants. For the spring semester, applications should be completed and returned no later than November 15. Except in emergency, the final date for applying for the fall semester is August 1 and for the spring semester, January 1. Application on this last-date basis is primarily for nonresident students.

Wake Forest accepts the Common Application and the Universal College Application in lieu of its own form and gives equal consideration to all.

The admission application requires records and recommendations directly from secondary school officials. It also requires test scores, preferably from the senior year, on the SAT I: Reasoning Test of The College Board or the ACT with writing test. SAT II: Subject Test scores are optional. All test scores should be sent directly to the University by Educational Testing Service. A nonrefundable $50 fee to cover the cost of processing must accompany an application. It cannot be applied to later charges for accepted students or refunded for others. The University reserves the right to reject any application without explanation.

A $500 admission deposit is required of all regularly admitted students and must be sent to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions no later than May 1 following notice of acceptance. It is credited toward first semester fees and is nonrefundable. Students notified of acceptance after May 1 for the fall semester or November 1 for the spring semester should make a nonrefundable admission deposit within two weeks of notification. Failure to make the admission deposit is taken as cancellation of application by the student. No deposit is required for summer session enrollment.

Early Decision

Wake Forest has a binding early decision plan for students who have decided conclusively that Wake Forest is their first college choice. Students may apply after completion of the junior year but no later than November 15. While early decision applicants may submit regular decision applications to other institutions, Wake Forest must be the applicant’s first choice and only early decision application. Students, parents, and school counselors must sign the Early Decision Agreement stating that the applicant will enroll if admitted and will withdraw all applications to other colleges upon acceptance to Wake Forest. Early decision applicants are notified on a rolling basis after September 15, typically 4-6 weeks after the application is completed. A $500 enrollment deposit is due January 1.

Admission of Students with Disabilities

Wake Forest College will consider the application of any qualified student, regardless of disability, on the basis of the selection criteria established by the University which include personal and academic merit. Upon matriculation, all students will be required to meet the same standards for graduation.

The University endeavors to provide facilities which are in compliance with all laws and regulations regarding access for individuals with disabilities. Additionally, special services are available to reasonably accommodate students with disabilities. For more information on assistance for undergraduate students, please contact Van D. Westervelt, director of the Learning Assistance Center, at 336.758.5929 or refer to Disability Services under Campus Life on the Wake Forest Web site.

Advanced Placement and CLEP

Advanced placement credit for college level work done in high school is available on the basis of the Advanced Placement Examination of The College Board and supplementary information. Especially well-qualified applicants for advanced standing may also be exempt from some basic core courses with credit on the authorization of the department concerned. Credit by advanced standing is treated in the same manner as credit transferred from another college. Students are permitted to take courses at Wake Forest for which they have received Advanced Placement (or International Baccalaureate) credit. When this happens, students lose the AP credit but the notation remains on the transcript.

Under certain conditions, especially well-prepared applicants may be granted limited college credit through the subject tests of the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) of the Educational Testing Service. Such credit may be assigned with the approval of the department concerned or the dean of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy.

Admission of Transfer Students

The number of transfer students who can be admitted each year depends upon the availability of space in the first-year (second semester), sophomore, and junior classes. Transfer students must be eligible for readmission to the last college attended and must supply a Dean’s Statement(s) from all colleges attended. The Dean’s Statement addresses any disciplinary action that may have been taken against the student for academic or non-academic reasons. The student must have an overall average of at least C on all college work attempted. A student who is admitted from another college before fully meeting the prescribed admissions requirements for entering first-year students must remove the entrance conditions during the first year at Wake Forest.

Courses satisfactorily completed in other accredited colleges are accepted subject to faculty approval. In general, no credit is allowed for courses not found in the Wake Forest curriculum. The minimum residence requirement for a baccalaureate degree is two academic years, the senior and one other.

Student Health Information Summary Form

All new students are required to have on file in the Student Health Service the WFU Student Health Service Health Information Summary Form. It must be received by the Student Health Service before July 1 for new students entering fall semester or before January 1 for new students entering spring semester. The form, which requests information regarding documentation of immunizations required by the University and the State of North Carolina, is available at http://wfu.edu/shs.

Immunization Policy

Wake Forest University and North Carolina State law (G.S. 130A-152) require documentation of certain immunizations for students attending a North Carolina college or university. Students must submit certification of these immunizations PRIOR TO REGISTRATION. Documentation should be on or attached to the completed “WFU Student Health Service Health Information Summary Form” provided by the Student Health Service in order to assure correct identification of the student. If you have not received the Health Information Summary form, contact the Student Health Service or you may download it from the WFUSHS Web page (www.wfu.edu/shs/docs/HIS.pdf). Acceptable documentation is a statement signed by the appropriate official(s) having custody of the records of immunization, such as a physician, county health department director, or a certificate from a student’s high school containing the approved dates of immunizations. The State statute applies to all students except those registered in off-campus courses only, attending night or weekend classes only, or taking a course load of four (4) credit hours or less.

The American College Health Association recommendations and North Carolina State Law require certification in accordance with the following:

Required:

Tetanus/Diphtheria/Pertussis. Students must document three doses of a combined tetanus diphtheria vaccine (DTaP, Td, or Tdap) of which one must be within ten years of enrollment and one of which must have been Tdap (unless the individual has received a booster of other tetanus/diphtheria toxoid within the last 10 years).

Rubeola (Measles). Students must document two doses of live virus measles vaccine given at least 30 days apart, on or after their first birthday unless (a) they have a physician’s certificate which states that they have had measles prior to January 1, 1994, (b) they were born prior to 1/1/57, or (c) they have documentation of a titer indicating they are immune.

Rubella (German Measles). Students must document that they have had one dose of live virus mumps vaccine on or after their first birthday unless (a) they have documentation of a titer indicating they are immune, or (b) they will be fifty years old before they enroll. History of the disease is not acceptable.

Mumps. Students must document that they have had two doses of live virus mumps vaccine, given at least 30 days apart, on or after their first birthday unless (a) they were born before 1/1/57, or (b) they have documentation of a titer indicating they are immune. History of the disease is not acceptable.

Polio. Students must document that they have had a trivalent polio vaccine series and a booster on or after their fourth birthday unless they will be eighteen years old or older when they enroll.

Tuberculin Skin Test. The test is required within twelve months of the University registration date for (a) students who have been exposed to tuberculosis or have signs or symptoms of active tuberculosis disease or (b) students whose home country is other than the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Western Europe, or Japan. If the student is known to be tuberculin-positive or if this test is positive, attach the chest x-ray results and record of treatment.

Recommended:

Hepatitis B. A three-dose series of the vaccine is recommended by the Centers for Disease Control.

Varicella. The two-dose series is recommended. Discuss with your health provider.

Quadrivalent Human Papillomavirus Vaccine (HPV). A three-dose series.

Immunizations required under North Carolina law must be documented within 30 days following registration. After that time, students with incomplete documentation of immunizations will not be permitted to attend classes. Please note that some series require several months for completion.

Expenses

Statements concerning expenses are not to be regarded as forming an irrevocable contract between the student and the University. The costs of instruction and other services outlined herein are those in effect on the date of publication of this bulletin, and the University reserves the right to change without notice the cost of instruction and other services at any time.

Charges are due in full on August 1 for the fall semester and December 1 for the spring semester. Faculty regulations require that student accounts be settled in full before the student is entitled to receive a transcript or diploma, or to register for the following semester or term.

If the University deems it necessary to engage the services of a collection agency or attorney to collect or to settle any dispute in connection with an unpaid balance on a student account, the student will be liable for all collection agency and/or attorney’s fees, reasonable expenses, and costs incurred.

Students should expect an increase yearly in tuition. However, admittance to the undergraduate College is not based on financial resources. The University meets the demonstrated financial needs of all qualified students. Students must obtain approval for part-time status prior to the beginning of the semester from the Office of the Dean of the College to be eligible for part-time tuition.

Students enrolled in the College or in the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy for full-time residence credit are entitled to full privileges regarding libraries, laboratories, athletic contests, concerts, publications, the Student Union, the University Theatre, and the Student Health Service. Part-time students are entitled to the use of the libraries, laboratories, and Student Health Service but not to the other privileges mentioned above.

Most first-year students will pay $3,135 or $3,740 per semester depending upon room assignment location. Other room rentals range from $3,135 to $3,740 per semester.

Dining Choices

Dining plans allow students to enjoy all-you-care-to-eat dining for breakfast, lunch, and dinner in the Reynolda Fresh Food Company and lunch in the Magnolia Room. Dining plans are also available in either the Deacon 17 or the Deacon 14 All-in-One plan. The All-in-One plan allows one meal exchange and cash equivalency at the Benson Center Food Court per meal period.

Dining Plans

All resident students are required to sign up for a dining plan. Off-campus students may purchase a dining plan, but are not required to do so.

All students, regardless of class year, can change (increase or decrease) their meal plan through August 1, adhering to area and class year minimums. Plan decreases are not allowed after August 1; however, plan increases will be accepted through the second Friday after fall classes begin, adhering to area and class year minimums. Charges will not be pro-rated; extra meals will be added to the student account.

Meals Per Week

Students receive a set number of meals per week based on the plan selected. When students eat in either the Reynolda Fresh Food Company or the Magnolia Room, a meal is subtracted from the weekly meal balance. Unused meals carry over from week to week (with the exception of the All-in-One plans) through the end of the semester, but not from one semester to the next. Dining plans:

Commuters (Off-Campus Students)

Commuters may purchase any dining plan, but are not required to do so.
Deacon Dollars

In addition to a dining plan, students may also purchase Deacon Dollars. The Deacon Dollar account is a debit account system on the student ID card that allows purchases throughout campus. An amount of $1,000 per semester is recommended for campus purchases at the Bookstore, Pizza Hut, Benson Food Court, Subway, convenience stores, and all other dining locations.

Other Charges/Fees

An admission application fee of $50 is required with each application for admission to cover the cost of processing and is non-refundable.

An admission deposit of $500 is required for students applying to Wake Forest University. All admissions deposits must be submitted to the director of admissions and are non-refundable. The applicable deposit is credited to the student’s charges for the semester for which he or she has been accepted for admission.

Individual instruction music fees are required in addition to tuition for students enrolling for individual study in applied music in the Department of Music and are payable in the Office of Financial and Accounting Services. The fee is $300 for MUS 161 courses and $600 for all other individual instruction courses, with a maximum fee of $600 per semester.

Library fees are charged for lost or damaged books and are payable in the library.

A student health fee of $315 is charged for all full-time Reynolda Campus students.

A transcript fee of $50 is charged to all students.

A tuition deposit of $500 is required by March 15 of students enrolled in the spring semester who expect to return for the fall semester. It is credited to the student’s University charges and is non-refundable.

Returned check fee of $25 is charged for each returned check by the Office of Financial and Accounting Services.

Room change fee of $50 is charged for any unauthorized change.

Improper check-in/out residence hall fee of $50 is charged for any student who does not follow appropriate administrative procedures.

A residence hall lock core change fee (a minimum of $70 per lock) is charged to any student who loses his/her room/suite/apartment key(s).

For students studying abroad in a non-Wake Forest program a fee of $2,193 is required.

Motor vehicle registration for the school year for freshmen/first-year students is $225. For upperclassmen, the registration fee is $500. Traffic fines range from $20 to $250. All students operating a vehicle on campus, whether they are operating day or night and whether or not they are owned by the operator, (including those students who reside in student apartments, theme, and satellite houses) must register their vehicles online.

Vehicle registrations must be completed within 24 hours from the first time the vehicle is brought to campus. For fall semester only, students registering vehicles online by August 15 will receive their decals at their campus mailboxes by August 31, 2008. For a vehicle to be properly registered, both the rear bumper decal and front windshield gate pass decal must be displayed.

Fines are assessed against students violating parking regulations. Please inform any visitors of parking rules and regulations. Students, faculty, and staff are responsible for their visitors. Students will be held financially responsible for citations issued to vehicles driven by family members or by friends who use a Wake Forest student’s vehicle. Visitor vehicles must be reported to 336.758.5592 and/or registered at the Office of Parking Management, 336.758.6129.
Refunds of Charges and Return of Financial Aid Funds

A student who withdraws during (begins, but does not complete) a term may be entitled to a refund of certain charges as outlined in the Refund of Charges Policy. A withdrawal also affects financial aid eligibility, as outlined in the federal Return of Title IV Program Funds Policy and the Return of Non-Title IV Program Funds Policy. A student using scholarships, grants, or loans to help pay educational expenses, whose account was paid-in-full prior to withdrawal, is likely to owe the University after withdrawal. Withdrawal procedures are coordinated by the deans of the College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy.

Refund of Charges Policy

A withdrawing student receives a tuition refund according to the following schedule. This schedule applies to a student who drops courses, as well as to a student who withdraws.

Tuition, fees, room rent, and related charges are not refunded for findings of responsibility within the undergraduate student judicial review process. Return of Title IV funds are handled in accordance with federal law.

A withdrawal must be official and students must return the University identification card before claiming a refund. There is no refund of room rent, activity fees, transcript fee, student health fee, or the parking registration fee if the decal has been placed on the vehicle. Unused meal plan funds are refunded. Fees for individual instruction in the Department of Music are refunded on the same basis as tuition.

The Office of Financial and Accounting Services calculates the refund of charges, and it has available an example of the application of the University Refund of Charges policy.

If charges originally paid by financial aid funds are no longer covered after the financial aid funds are returned, the student is responsible for the remaining balance.

Return of Title IV Program Funds Policy

The 1998 amendments to the Higher Education Act (HEA) of 1965 (Section 484B), and subsequent regulations issued by the United States Department of Education (34 CFR 668.22), establish a policy for the return of Title IV, HEA Program grant and loan funds for a recipient who withdraws.

Wake Forest University does not have a leave of absence policy that would either exempt any student from the requirements of the Return of Title IV Funds policy or extend federal student loan deferment benefits.

Title IV funds subject to return include the following aid programs: Federal Pell Grant, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, Academic Competitiveness Grant, National Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent Grant, Federal Perkins Loan, Federal Stafford Loan (subsidized and unsubsidized), and Federal PLUS Loan.

The percentage of the term completed is determined by dividing the total number of calendar days comprising the term (excluding breaks of five or more consecutive days) into the number of calendar days completed. The percentage of Title IV grant and loan funds earned is: (1) up through the 60% point in time, the percentage of the term completed, (2) after the 60% point in time, 100%.

The amount of Title IV grant and loan funds unearned is the complement of the percentage of earned Title IV funds applied to the total amount of Title IV funds disbursed (including funds that were not disbursed but could have been disbursed, i.e., post-withdrawal disbursements).

If the amount earned is less than the amount disbursed, the difference is returned to the Title IV programs. If the amount earned is greater than the amount disbursed, the difference is treated as a late disbursement in accordance with the federal rules for late disbursements.

Unearned funds, up to the amount of total institutional charges multiplied by the unearned percentage of funds, are returned by the University; the student returns any portion of unearned funds not returned by the University.

Institutional charges (costs) include tuition and required fees, on-campus room rental, and on-campus meal plan.

The Federal Return of Title IV Funds policy requires that federal aid be considered as first applied toward institutional charges, regardless of other non-federal aid received.

A student (or parent for PLUS loans) repays the calculated amount attributable to a Title IV loan program according to the loan’s terms. If repayment of grant funds by the student is required, only 50% of the unearned amount must be repaid. A student repays a Title IV grant program subject to repayment arrangements satisfactory to the University or the Secretary of Education’s overpayment collection procedures.

Funds returned are credited in the following order: Unsubsidized FFEL (Stafford) Loans, Subsidized FFEL (Stafford) Loans, Federal Perkins Loans, Federal PLUS Loans, Federal Pell Grants, Academic Competitiveness Grants, National Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent Grants, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, and other Title IV funds for which a return of funds is required.

The Office of Student Financial Aid calculates the amount of unearned Title IV grant and loan funds, and it has available examples of the application of this federal policy and a copy of the relevant Code of Federal Regulations section (CFR 668.22).

Return of Non-Title IV Program Funds Policy

A student who drops to less-than-full-time enrollment within the time frame to receive a tuition refund loses eligibility for all institutional aid for the entire term. For financial aid purposes, full-time enrollment is defined as twelve or more hours each semester.

The Office of Student Financial Aid calculates the amount of Non-Title IV program funds to be returned to the various programs when a recipient withdraws. The return of Non-Title IV Program funds may be rounded to the nearest dollar for each aid source.

Return of funds to various state and private aid programs is determined by specific program rules. If rules allow, state and private loan funds are returned before gift funds. State and private funds may be retained in amounts necessary to satisfy the student’s remaining University charges or adjusted need, whichever is larger.

Awards from institutional funds for which all disbursement requirements have not been met by the student prior to withdrawal are cancelled, and no disbursements are made. Upon withdrawal, an adjusted estimated cost of attendance (COA) is established in two parts.

For an on-campus student, the first part equals the adjusted tuition and room rental charges and the standard allowance for books and supplies; the second part equals pro-rated estimates (by weeks) of meal, transportation, and personal living expenses.

For an off-campus student, the first part equals the adjusted tuition charge and the standard allowance for books and supplies; the second part equals pro-rated estimates (by weeks) of room, meal, transportation, and personal living expenses.

If the adjusted COA is greater than the full semester expected family contribution (EFC), the student retains institutional aid (in the same mix of initially-awarded gift and loan), up to the amount required to meet the adjusted need and not exceeding the initial amount(s). The EFC represents a best estimate of a family’s capacity (relative to other families) to absorb, over time, the costs of education. For a withdrawing student, the full EFC is expected to support educational expenses incurred, prior to any support from aid programs. For purposes of this calculation, a student who receives only merit-based institutional gift is considered to have an EFC equal to the full semester COA minus the amount of that gift. The order in which each institutional fund is reduced is determined on a case-by-case basis by the aid office, with the guiding principle being the return of funds to University accounts most likely to be needed by other students.

A student who withdraws after receiving a cash disbursement must repay Wake Forest scholarship funds up to the amount of Title IV funds that the University must return. Fines and other incidental charges not included in the financial aid COA are solely the responsibility of the student. Required returns of funds to all financial aid programs are made prior to the refund to the student.

Housing

All unmarried first- and second-year students with residential admission status are required to live in the residence halls, except (1) when permission is given by the director of residence life and housing for the student to live with parents or a relative in the Winston-Salem area; (2) by special arrangement when space is not available on campus; (3) the student is admitted as a non-resident student; or (4) if the student has lost residence hall space because of a Residence Halls Agreement violation or disciplinary action. Fifth-year students are ineligible for campus housing except when permitted to do so by the Office of Residence Life and Housing. Married students are not permitted to live within the residence halls. Residence halls are supervised by the director of residence life and housing, residence life coordinators, and graduate student hall directors.

The charges for residence hall rooms for 2008-2009 will range from approximately $3,025 to $3,740 per semester depending on the location and amenities available.

Visit www.wfu.edu/housing, the residence life and housing Web site, for more information regarding policies and procedures.

Off-Campus Housing Policy

The University has developed guidelines and policies for those undergraduate students who desire or are required to live off campus. Such policies affect apartment or other multi-family residences as well as single-family residences. All students who desire to live off campus are required to apply for off-campus housing status on an annual basis.

Each year, guideline information is provided for all undergraduate students on the residence life and housing Web page. For complete information visit www.wfu.edu/housing/residence/offcampus.html.

Conditions may be placed on students who choose to live in single family areas, or students may be denied the ability to live within such a location. Students who desire to reside off campus must complete an application and obtain approval from the Office of Residence Life and Housing prior to signing off-campus leases.

Resident undergraduate students are guaranteed campus housing for eight semesters. All first- and second-year students are required to live on campus. To protect students and to give students the most options until they have had an opportunity to review this policy fully, students must not sign any off-campus leases. Please visit the Office of Residence Life and Housing, on campus in the Benson University Center, room 101, or online at www.wfu.edu/housing.
Student Health Service

The Student Health Service promotes a healthy lifestyle through health education and health maintenance. A physician-directed medical staff offers urgent care, illness care, physical examinations, counseling, limited psychiatric care, allergy injections, immunizations, gynecological services, pharmacy, laboratory, sports medicine clinic, referral to specialists, confidential HIV testing, and travel information.

A full staff is available by appointment during clinic hours (fall and spring semesters): 8:30 a.m.-noon; 1:30 p.m.-4 p.m., Monday through Friday. A limited staff is available for urgent care and observation 24 hours a day, seven days a week, when school is in session during the academic year. The services of the staff are covered by tuition. There is a charge for medications, laboratory tests, observation care, and some supplies and services. Payment can be made by paying cash, check, Deacon OneCard or the charge can be placed on the student’s account in the Office of Financial and Accounting Services. A copy of the statement is given to the student to file with their insurance company.

Confidentiality. Medical information and records are strictly confidential. Information or records are not released to University officials, friends, or family members without the student’s permission. In addition information will not be shared with therapists or physicians who are not involved in the student’s immediate care without the student’s permission.

Online Health Information. For more information, visit the “Campus Life” section of the Wake Forest homepage, www.wfu.edu.

Class Excuses. The Student Health Service does not issue statements or excuses for class attendance.

Health Insurance. University policy requires that all students have health insurance.

Information about the student group insurance plan, for those not covered by a family plan, is available at www.wfu.edu/shs. Select “Insurance Information.” Students are strongly encouraged to review their current plan to assure adequate coverage.

Inclement Weather. When the University is closed due to inclement weather, the Student Health Service will have limited staff and will be able to provide care only for injuries and urgent illnesses. Appointments will be rescheduled.

Retention of Medical Records. Student medical records are retained for ten years after the last treatment, after which time they are destroyed. Immunization records are kept longer.

Academic Calendar

The academic calendar of the College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy includes a fall semester beginning in late August and ending in December, a spring semester beginning in January and ending in May, and two five-week summer sessions. Semesters usually last fifteen weeks.

Orientation and Advising

A required orientation program for new students in the College precedes first-time registration. An academic adviser provides guidance during and between registration periods throughout the student’s first and second years. Advisers meet with students both individually and in small groups. A face-to-face meeting with the adviser is required before all registration periods. Students are encouraged to take the initiative in arranging additional meetings at any time to seek advice or other assistance. The adviser suggests and approves courses of instruction until the student declares a major toward the end of the second year. Then, a new adviser is assigned.
Registration

Registration for continuing students in the College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy occurs in April for the fall and summer terms, and in November for the spring term. New students register at the beginning of the term in which they first enroll. Readmitted students, once officially advised, may work with the registrar’s staff to register for classes. Consultation with the academic adviser must be completed before registration. Confirmation of enrollment is required before classes begin each term. Students currently enrolled at the University may register for the summer sessions during an early registration period that begins in mid-March and lasts approximately one month. All tuition and fees must be paid in full to the Office of Financial and Accounting Services before confirmation.

Classification

Classification of students by class standing and as full-time or part-time is calculated in terms of hours. Most courses in the College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy have a value of three hours, but may vary from one-half hour to nine. The normal load for a full-time student is fifteen hours per semester, with a maximum of seventeen permitted without special permission. A student wishing to register for more than seventeen hours per semester must seek the permission of the academic adviser and the appropriate dean once the drop-add period begins. Students wishing to take more than eighteen hours must petition the Committee on Academic Affairs after consulting the academic adviser and the appropriate dean. Non-business or non-accounting majors wishing to take courses in the Calloway School must have met the specific courses’ prerequisites and have permission of the instructor. Enrollment in the course is subject to space availability.

 Twelve hours per semester constitute minimum full-time registration at the University. (Recipients of North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grants must be enrolled by the tenth day of classes in spring and by October 1 in the fall for at least twelve hours. Recipients of Wake Forest scholarships and loans, as well as some types of federal aid, must be enrolled for at least twelve hours. Recipients of veterans’ benefits, grants from state government, and other governmental aid must meet the guidelines of the appropriate agencies.) A student who feels that he or she has valid and compelling reasons to register for more than seventeen hours per semester must seek permission of the adviser and the appropriate dean no earlier than the first day of class. Only if both the adviser and the dean agree that the proposed course load is needed and in the best interest of the student will permission be granted.

The requirements for classification after the first year are as follows:

Sophomore—completion of no fewer than 25 hours toward a degree;
Junior—completion of no fewer than 55 hours toward a degree;
Senior—completion of no fewer than 87 hours toward a degree.

Part-time Students

A student may not register for fewer than twelve hours without specific permission from the appropriate dean to register as a part-time student. A student may not register for part-time status, i.e., fewer than twelve hours in a single semester, without specific permission of the appropriate dean prior to the last day to add a course. Approval for part-time status requires that students pay for such work on a per hour basis. Petitions for part-time status after the last day to add a course will be denied, except in the case of special circumstances, and the student will be required to pay full tuition. Part-time students may be ineligible for campus housing unless an exception is made by the Office of Residence Life and Housing.

Class Attendance

Attendance regulations place the responsibility for class attendance on the student, who is expected to attend classes regularly and punctually. A vital aspect of the residential college experience is attendance in the classroom; its value cannot be measured by testing procedures alone. Students are considered sufficiently mature to appreciate the necessity of regular attendance, to accept this personal responsibility, to demonstrate the self-discipline essential for such performance, and to recognize and accept the consequences of failure to attend. Students who cause their work or that of the class to suffer because of absence or lateness may be referred by the instructor to the dean of the College or to the dean of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy for suitable action. Any student who does not attend classes regularly or who demonstrates other evidence of academic irresponsibility is subject to such disciplinary action as the Committee on Academic Affairs may prescribe, including immediate suspension from the College or from the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy.

Although an auditor receives no credit, a notation of audit is made on the final grade report and entered on the record of students who have met the instructor’s requirements. An audit may not be changed to a credit course or a credit course changed to an audit after the first official day of classes for each semester or term.

Dropping a Course

The last day in each term for dropping a class without a grade of F is listed in the calendar in the front of this bulletin. A student who wishes to drop any course on or before this date must follow the procedure prescribed by the registrar. After this date, a student who wishes to drop a course must consult his or her academic adviser, the course instructor, and the dean of the College or the dean of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy, as appropriate. If the dean approves the request, he or she authorizes the student to discontinue the course. Except in cases of emergency, the grade in the course will be recorded as F.

If, at any time, a student drops any course without prior written approval of the appropriate dean, the student will be subject to such penalties imposed by the Committee on Academic Affairs.
Drop/add of Partial-semester Courses

Students enrolling in classes beginning after the opening of the term and lasting for shorter durations, such as four, five or seven and a half weeks, may add those classes any time prior to the beginning of the class as space permits, and up to five days after the class begins, with permission of the instructor. Students needing to drop such classes may do so for up to five days after the class begins, without a dean’s permission.

Withdrawal

A student who finds it necessary to withdraw from the College or the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy must do so through the office of the appropriate dean. With the approval of the dean of the College or the dean of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy, no grades are recorded for the student for that semester, but the student’s standing in courses at the time of the withdrawal may be taken into consideration when readmission is sought. If withdrawal is for academic reasons, failing grades may be assigned in all courses in which the student is doing unsatisfactory work. A student who leaves the College or the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy without officially withdrawing is assigned failing grades in all current courses, and the unofficial withdrawal is recorded.

Withdrawal from the College or the Calloway School cannot be finalized until laptop computers, printers, connecting cables, WFU ID cards, residence hall keys (if applicable) and mailbox keys, along with any other pertinent University property items, have been returned to the appropriate offices.

Tuition, fees, room rent, and related charges will not be refunded for findings of responsibility within the undergraduate student judicial review process. Return of Title IV funds will be handled in accordance with federal law.

Examinations

Final examinations are given at regularly scheduled times. All examinations are conducted in accordance with the Honor and Ethics System adopted by the student body and approved by the faculty.

Grading

For most courses carrying undergraduate credit, there are twelve final grades: A (exceptionally high achievement), A-, B+, B (superior), B-, C+, C (satisfactory), C-, D+, D, D- (passing but unsatisfactory), F (failure), and I (incomplete).

Grade of I. The grade of I may be assigned only when a student fails to complete the work of a course because of illness or some other emergency. If the work recorded as I is not completed within thirty days after the student enters for his or her next semester, the grade automatically becomes the grade of F. The instructor must report the final grade to the registrar within forty-five days after the beginning of that semester.

NR. “NR” (Not Reported) is an administrative designation that indicates that a faculty member has not reported a grade. Unless a grade is recorded within forty-five days after the student enters his or her next semester, the NR automatically becomes the grade of F.

Grade Points. Grades are assigned grade points per hour for the computation of academic averages, class standing, and eligibility for continuation, as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
for each grade of D 1.00 points
for each grade of D- 0.67 points
for each grade of F no points

Pass/Fail. To encourage students to venture into fields outside their major areas of competence and concentration, the College makes available the option, under certain conditions, of registering in courses on a pass/fail basis. Courses taken under the pass/fail option yield full credit when satisfactorily completed but, whether passed or not, they are not computed in the grade point average. In no case may a student change from grade to pass/fail mode or from pass/fail to grade mode after the last date to add a course. The last date to add a course is noted in the calendar at the front of this bulletin.

A student may count toward the degree no more than eighteen hours taken on a pass/fail basis. First- and second-year students are not eligible to elect the pass/fail mode, but may enroll for courses offered only on a pass/fail basis. Third- and fourth-year students may elect as many as twelve hours on a pass/fail basis, but no more than four hours in a given semester. Courses used to fulfill core, quantitative reasoning, cultural diversity, major, or minor requirements may not be taken on a pass/fail basis unless they are offered only on that basis. Courses in the major(s) not used for satisfying major requirements may be taken on a pass/fail basis if the department of the major does not specify otherwise.

No courses in the Calloway School can be taken pass/fail unless they are offered only on that basis.

Grade Reports and Transcripts
An electronic midterm report and a final report of grades are available to students by the registrar in the fall and spring semesters. A final report of grades is issued for each summer term.

Transcripts of the permanent educational record will be issued to students upon written request unless there are unpaid financial obligations to the University or other unresolved issues. Copies of a student’s cumulative record are issued by the registrar.

Under the law, the University has the right to inform parents of dependent students and certain other qualified individuals of the contents of educational records.

Dean’s List

The Dean’s List is issued after the end of the fall and spring semesters. It includes all full-time, degree-seeking students in the College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy who have a grade point average of 3.4 or better for a full-time course load in the semester and who have earned no grade below C during the semester.

Graduation Distinctions

Graduation distinctions are determined by the grade-point system and are based entirely on grades earned in Wake Forest courses. A degree candidate with a cumulative average of not less than 3.8 for all courses attempted is graduated with the distinction summa cum laude. A candidate with a cumulative average of not less than 3.6 for all courses attempted is graduated with the distinction magna cum laude. A candidate with a cumulative average of not less than 3.4 for all courses attempted is graduated with the distinction cum laude. Details are available in the Office of the Registrar.

Repetition of Courses

A student may repeat at Wake Forest a Wake Forest course for which he or she has received a grade of C- or lower. In this case, all grades received will be shown on the transcript, but the course may be counted only one time for credit. If a student fails a course previously passed, the hours originally earned will not be lost. For purposes of determining the cumulative grade point average, a course will be considered as attempted only once, and the grade points assigned will reflect the highest grade received. These provisions do not apply to any course for which the student has received the grade of F in consequence of an honor violation. Students seeking to repeat ENG 105 must petition the English department.

Probation

Any student who is placed on probation because of honor code or conduct code violations may be placed on such special academic probation as determined by the Committee on Academic Affairs. The Committee on Academic Affairs may at any time suspend or place on probation any student who has given evidence of academic irresponsibility, such as failing to attend class regularly or to complete papers, examinations, or other work on time.

If poor academic performance is attributable to circumstances over which the student clearly had no control (e.g., serious injury or illness), the student may, after consultation with one of the academic deans, petition the Committee on Academic Affairs for further consideration of his or her status.

In deciding whether to permit exceptions to the foregoing eligibility requirements, the Committee on Academic Affairs will take into account such factors as convictions for violations of the College honor code or social conduct code, violations of the law, and any other behavior demonstrating disrespect for the rights of others.

Any student convicted of violating the honor code is ineligible to represent the University in any way until the period of suspension or probation is completed and the student is returned to good standing. Students who are on probation for any reason may not be initiated into any fraternity or sorority until the end of their probationary period.

No student on social or academic probation or suspension from Wake Forest may take coursework at another institution and have that work transferred to Wake Forest for credit.

Requirements for Continuation

A student’s academic eligibility to continue is determined by the number of hours passed and the grade point average. The number of hours passed is the sum of the hours transferred from other institutions and the hours earned in the undergraduate schools of the University. The grade point average is computed only on work attempted in the undergraduate schools of the University and excludes both non-credit and pass/fail courses.

Students are expected to make reasonable and systematic progress toward the accomplishment of their degree programs. To be eligible to continue in the College, students must maintain:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>for hours passed</th>
<th>a minimum cum. GPA of</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>fewer than 30</td>
<td>1.45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>at least 30, fewer than 60</td>
<td>1.60</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<tr>

<td>1.90</td>

Students are responsible for knowing their academic standing at all times. Any student whose GPA falls below the required minimum will have a grace period of one semester to raise the average to the required level. Students also have the option of attending summer school at Wake Forest in an effort to raise the average.

The Committee on Academic Affairs will suspend students who earn six or fewer grade points in any given semester in courses other than CNS 353; military science courses; MUS 111-129 (ensemble courses); DCE 128; and elective 100-level courses in health and exercise science. In cases where failure was due to circumstances beyond the student’s control, he or she may appeal to the Committee for an exception.

Any student who is in academic difficulty is urged to seek advice and counsel from his or her academic adviser, from the Office of the Dean of the College, from the Learning Assistance Center, and from the University Counseling Center.
A student who has or develops a health problem which, in the judgment of the director of the Student Health Service creates a danger to the safety and well-being of the student or others, may be required to withdraw until the problem is resolved.

Requirements for Readmission

The Committee on Academic Affairs oversees the readmission of former students. In making a decision on whether to readmit, the Committee considers both the academic and non-academic records of the student.

To be readmitted, a student must have previously attended Wake Forest University. Students who have been graduated with an undergraduate degree from the College or the Calloway School of Business and Accountancy may apply for readmission as post-graduate, unclassified students.

Students who have been ineligible to continue for academic reasons must present to the Committee an intentional plan to raise their academic standing to acceptable standards.

A student who withdraws from the University for medical or psychological reasons must submit documentation from his or her physician or therapist to either the director of the Student Health Service or the director of the University Counseling Center attesting to his or her readiness to resume a full academic program. The physician or therapist should also provide professional guidance to these directors as to the nature of the student’s ongoing care once readmitted.

Students whose withdrawals from the University were as the result of an honor or judicial conviction must satisfy fully any sanctions placed upon them prior to being considered for readmission. In addition to University-imposed sanctions, other non-academic grounds for denial of readmission may include violations of the law of the land and behaviors that have demonstrated disregard for the rights of others.

Should a student, upon leaving the University, fail to comply with the proper withdrawal procedures, “holds” may be placed upon his or her record that will prevent readmission consideration until such matters are resolved.

Any readmitted student who hopes to receive transfer consideration for work done elsewhere must provide the University with a properly documented statement attesting to his or her good standing at the institution from which the transfer credit would come. Additionally, an official copy of the student’s transcript must be made available to the Office of the Registrar at Wake Forest University.

No student on social or academic probation or suspension from Wake Forest may take coursework at another institution and have that work transferred to Wake Forest for credit.

Summer Study

In addition to regular courses, a number of special summer programs for credit are described in the bulletin of the summer session.

To be eligible to take summer courses at another college or university, the student must have a cumulative grade point average of no less than 2.0 and must obtain advance approval through the registrar’s office, and in some cases, the Office of the Dean of Wake Forest College or the dean of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. All transfer work taken after enrollment at Wake Forest must be taken in an approved four-year institution.

Courses taken outside the U.S. require, in addition, prior approval from the Center for International Studies. Students must obtain a course approval form from the Center for International Studies.

Transfer Credit

All work attempted in other colleges and universities must be reported to the registrar of Wake Forest University. Students wishing to receive transfer credit for work to be undertaken elsewhere must have a cumulative grade point average of no less than 2.0, must not be on probation or suspension from Wake Forest, and must obtain departmental approval in advance. For entering transfer students, credit may be accepted from accredited colleges and universities, including two-year colleges. For enrolled Wake Forest students and students readmitted to Wake Forest, transfer credit is accepted only from approved four-year institutions. For transfer hours to be accepted, the grade in any course must be C or better. Courses completed at other colleges or universities with the grade of C- or lower are not awarded transfer hours in Wake Forest. (Refer to the Requirements for Degrees section of this bulletin for additional information.)

A maximum of thirty-six Wake Forest hours can be earned from the Gymnasium, Lyceum, French Baccalaureate, or equivalent programs.

For students transferring courses on a quarter-hour system, semester hours may be assigned on the basis that one quarter hour times 0.67 equals one semester hour. No course may receive a higher conversion value than the value of the Wake Forest course.

Applications for transfer credit from distance learning courses are evaluated on an individual basis. Only those courses approved by the appropriate department chair are accepted. No more than six hours may be earned from such courses. It is the responsibility of the student to disclose to the registrar whether a class is a distance learning class. This does not apply to courses taken over the N.C. Interactive Video Network.

Dual enrollment courses, college level courses taken at institutions other than Wake Forest, are treated as transfer credit so long as the given course meets the University’s standard criteria for transfer credit.

Eligibility for Study Abroad

In order to be eligible for study abroad on an approved non-Wake Forest University program, students must:

1. Not be on probation or suspension from Wake Forest,
2. Obtain approval of the program from the Center for International Studies before applying,
3. Fulfill all required steps of the study abroad process as outlined by the Center for International Studies, and
4. Attend a mandatory pre-departure orientation.

Students who do not meet the above criteria will not receive credit for any coursework taken outside the U.S.

A student possessing less than a 2.0 cumulative grade point average in either of the undergraduate schools is not eligible to receive credit on a non-Wake Forest study abroad program.

Independent Study, Individual Study, Directed Reading and Internships

Such work is ordinarily reserved for junior and senior students in the undergraduate schools. Any student requesting approval for such a course must possess a cumulative grade point average of no less than 2.0 in Wake Forest courses. All such course requests must be approved by the appropriate department. The academic requirements should be completed during the semester in which a student is enrolled.

The number of hours the student registers for in an independent study, individual study, directed reading, or internship course may not be changed during the add period unless approved by the sponsoring faculty member.
Scholarships and Loans

ANY STUDENT REGULARLY ADMITTED TO WAKE FOREST COLLEGE WHO DEMONSTRATES FINANCIAL NEED WILL RECEIVE ASSISTANCE COMMENSURATE WITH THAT NEED.

By regulation of the Board of Trustees, all financial aid must be approved by the Committee on Scholarships and Student Aid. The financial aid program comprises institutional, state, and federal scholarship, loan, and work funds. Aid applicants must be enrolled as undergraduates or accepted for admission. Full-time students are eligible to apply for institutional funds; other degree-seeking students are eligible to apply for federal funds. For financial aid purposes, full-time enrollment is defined as twelve or more hours each semester. A number of scholarships are based upon merit; need is a factor in the awarding of most financial aid. The annual calculation of need, and therefore the amount of an award, may vary from year to year.

Additional scholarship assistance not listed herein is offered to student athletes through the Department of Athletics and is governed by NCAA rules. The Committee may revoke financial aid for unsatisfactory academic performance, for violation of University regulations including its honor code, or for violations of federal, state, or local laws.

Policy on Satisfactory Academic Progress for Financial Aid Eligibility

Evaluation of students’ satisfactory academic progress for purposes of financial aid eligibility is made annually at the end of the second summer session by the Committee on Scholarships and Student Aid, to determine eligibility for the following academic year. Evaluation is also made upon students’ readmittance.

Institutional Financial Aid

The receipt of institutionally-controlled financial aid requires full-time enrollment (twelve or more hours) during the fall and spring semesters and a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.00 on work attempted in the undergraduate schools of the University. Institutional aid generally is not awarded for summer sessions. Institutional aid is not awarded beyond the eighth (fall or spring) semester; this limit is prorated for transfer students. Certain institutional aid programs have higher academic and/or other requirements, which are communicated to recipients.

Federal Financial Aid

The Higher Education Act mandates that institutions of higher education establish minimum standards of satisfactory academic progress for students receiving federal financial aid. Wake Forest University makes these minimum standards applicable to all programs funded by the federal government. Certain federal aid programs have higher academic and/or other requirements, which are communicated to recipients.

To maintain academic eligibility for federal financial aid, a student must:

Complete the requirements for a bachelor’s degree within the maximum number of hours attempted (including transfer hours, but excluding advanced placement hours) of 168. This limit is the same for all students pursuing a bachelor’s degree, including those students enrolled in joint bachelor’s/master’s degree programs. During a semester in which
When a student drops courses or withdraws, the maximum number of hours attempted includes those hours attempted as of the earlier of (1) the withdrawal date, or (2) the last day to drop a course without penalty (as published in the academic calendar).

Pass at least two-thirds of those hours attempted during each academic year (including pass/fail courses, and hours attempted as a visiting or unclassified student) in the undergraduate schools of the University. The academic year begins with the fall semester and concludes with the second summer session. Incompletes count as hours attempted, unless from a non-credit course. Audited classes do not count as hours attempted. During a semester in which a student drops courses or withdraws, hours attempted include those hours attempted as of the earlier of (1) the withdrawal date, or (2) the last day to drop a course without penalty (as published in the academic calendar).

For purposes of this policy, hours attempted also include all instances in which a course is repeated.

Maintain the following minimum cumulative Wake Forest University grade point average on all graded hours attempted (including incompletes from graded courses, but excluding pass/fail courses) in the undergraduate schools of the University:

For graded hours attempted...a minimum GPA of

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Range</th>
<th>GPA</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>fewer than 30</td>
<td>1.45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>at least 30, fewer than 60</td>
<td>1.60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>at least 60, fewer than 90</td>
<td>1.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90 and above</td>
<td>1.90</td>
</tr>

Thus, for example, a regular full-time student taking the normal fifteen hours of graded coursework each semester must achieve a minimum cumulative Wake Forest grade point average of 1.45 before the second year, 1.60 before the third year, and 1.75 before the fourth year.

In cases where a student repeats a course for which he or she has received a grade of C- or lower, the cumulative grade point average is calculated by considering the course as attempted only once, with the grade points assigned reflecting the highest grade received. However, this provision does not apply to any course for which the student has received the grade of F in consequence of an honor violation. During a semester in which a student drops courses or withdraws, all graded hours attempted in the undergraduate schools of the University include those graded hours attempted as of the earlier of (1) the withdrawal date, or (2) the last day to drop a course without penalty (as published in the academic calendar).

The policy of satisfactory academic progress applies only to the general eligibility for financial aid consideration. There are other federally-mandated requirements a student must meet to receive federal financial aid. For instance, certain federal loan programs also require either the passage of a period of time or the advancing of a grade level between annual maximum borrowing, regardless of general eligibility for aid. Other general student eligibility requirements for a student to receive federal financial aid are listed in Funding Education Beyond High School: The Guide to Federal Student Aid, a publication of the U.S. Department of Education.

Denial of aid under this policy may be appealed in writing to the Committee on Scholarships and Student Aid and mailed to PO Box 7246, Winston-Salem, NC 27109-7246, or delivered to the Office of Student Financial Aid, Reynolda Hall Room 4. The Committee may grant a probationary reinstatement of one semester (in exceptional cases this period may be for one full academic year) to any student, upon demonstration of extenuating circumstances documented in writing to the satisfaction of the Committee.

Examples of extenuating circumstances and appropriate documentation include, but are not necessarily limited to the following: illness of the student or immediate family members—statement from physician that illness interfered with opportunity for satisfactory progress; death in family—statement from student or minister; temporary or permanent disability—statement from physician.

During a probationary period, students are considered to be making satisfactory academic progress under this policy and may continue to receive aid. A determination of satisfactory academic progress for any period of enrollment after the probationary period is made, upon the student’s written request, at the end of the probationary period. Reinstatement after probation can be made only after the student has received credit for the appropriate percentage of work attempted with the required grade point average. Any student determined ineligible for any academic year may request a special review at the end of one semester or summer term and may thereby be reinstated for all or part of the academic year. The student must request any such mid-year review in writing; otherwise only one determination of satisfactory academic progress will be made each academic year. Reinstatement cannot be made retroactive.

Federal Financial Aid Programs

The federal government, through the Department of Education, sponsors a number of aid programs for education. Among these programs are Federal Pell Grants; Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants; Academic Competitiveness Grants; National Science & Mathematics Access to Retain Talent Grants; Teacher Education Assistance for College & Higher Education Grants; Federal Work-Study; Federal Perkins Loans; and Federal Family Education Loans (including Federal Stafford Loans, both subsidized and unsubsidized, and PLUS Loans).

To receive assistance through these programs, a student must complete the necessary applications, meet basic eligibility requirements, and maintain satisfactory academic progress.

Federal aid programs are described more fully in the Wake Forest University brochure.
“Undergraduate Need-Based Aid Information,” and in the federal publication Funding Education Beyond High School: The Guide to Federal Student Aid, available upon request from the student financial aid office.

Exchange Programs and Scholarships

The Italian Exchange Program, established with the University of Ca’Foscari in Venice, Italy, is offered to one student for two semesters or two students for one semester each. Students must apply for the fall or spring semesters of their junior year, or for the fall semester of their senior year. Application is made through the Department of Romance Languages.

The French Exchange Scholarship, originally established with the University of Burgundy, France, assists graduating seniors who receive a two-semester graduate teaching assistantship at a school chosen by the French Ministry of Education. Application is made through the Department of Romance Languages.

Loans

The James W. Denmark Loan, established in 1875, assists qualified students.

The Hutchins Student Loan assists needy students.

The Grover & Addy Raby Loan gives preference to applicants from the First Baptist Church of Tarboro, NC.

The Sidney G. Wallace Loan gives preference to students studying at a Wake Forest-sponsored or approved overseas program.

Other Aid Programs

Children and spouses of pastors of North Carolina Baptist churches receive an annual $800 concession if they are the children or spouses of (1) ministers, (2) missionaries of the International Missions Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, (3) officials of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, or (4) professors in North Carolina Baptist colleges or universities who are ordained ministers. Pastors themselves are also eligible.

Children of other ministers who are not eligible for the prior concession receive an annual $150 concession if their parents make a living chiefly by the ministry and they have demonstrated need.

Church Volunteer Scholarships of $200 per semester assist students wishing to mentor with a church near the Wake Forest campus. Application is made through the associate University chaplain.

Ministerial students receive an annual $800 concession if they (1) have a written recommendation or license to preach from their own church body and (2) agree to repay the total amount, plus four percent interest, in the event they do not serve five years in the pastoral ministry within twelve years of attendance in the College.

The North Carolina Legislative Tuition Grant (NCLTG) is provided by the North Carolina General Assembly for students who are residents of North Carolina for the purpose of tuition payment under the terms of the Residency Manual of the University of North Carolina. Generally, these are students who, along with their parents, have been legal residents of North Carolina for at least twelve months prior to enrollment at Wake Forest. Certain other categories of students may also be eligible, including children of military personnel with North Carolina residency status who live out of state, residents who live near the state border, or residents who have recently moved out of state. Residency determinations are made by the aid office. Grants are reduced by twenty-five percent for those students having already completed 140 hours. Reduced grant awards may be available for part-time students. Amounts on award letters are estimates, based on students’ expected enrollment levels, and are subject to adjustment when the actual authorized grant is determined. Students are responsible for any difference between the estimated and actual amounts.
Grant amounts are based on students’ enrollment levels through October 1 in the fall semester and through the tenth day of classes in the spring semester. To be eligible each semester, a student must maintain satisfactory academic progress for federal aid eligibility, and have not received or qualified for a bachelor’s degree. A student in the last year of the MS in accountancy program is not eligible for the grant. In addition, a student must not be enrolled in a program of study the objective of which is the attainment of a degree in theology, divinity or religious education, or in any other program of study that is designated by Wake Forest primarily for career preparation in a religious vocation. Students (including those studying abroad) must submit an NCLTG application to the aid office by the end of the first week of classes of their first semester of each academic year. There are no exceptions to this deadline; students who are otherwise eligible but who fail to submit a timely application cannot receive NCLTG funding.

The online application is made available by the state each year during the summer. Once available, students should download (from www.wfu.edu/finaid/forms.html), print, complete, sign, and return prior to the application deadline the NCLTG application to the Office of Student Financial Aid, P.O. Box 7246, Winston-Salem, NC 27109-7246.

Student employment is possible for part-time, on-campus and off-campus work, for a recommended maximum of twenty hours per week for full-time students. Summer employment may also be available. Interested students should contact the student financial aid office. Federal funding assists Wake Forest in its job location and development activities for students.

Veterans’ education benefits are administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs in the Federal Building at 251 North Main Street in Winston-Salem. Records of progress are kept by Wake Forest University on veteran and non-veteran students alike. Progress records are furnished to the students, veterans, and non-veterans alike, at the end of each scheduled school term.

Outside Assistance

Wake Forest encourages students to apply for outside assistance for which they may be eligible. Students must advise the financial aid office if they receive any assistance from outside organizations, including any local, state, and national scholarship and loan programs. When need calculated under the federal methodology (FM need) is greater than the offered aid package, outside scholarships are allowed to meet that difference. Once the offered aid package equals FM need, any portion of outside scholarship exceeding FM need generally results in an adjustment of need-based grant and self-help funds in equal portions. Recipients of scholarships meeting full need, such as Brown, Carswell, Hankins, and Heritage, have their awards adjusted by one-half the value of outside scholarships. In no case may aid exceed the estimated cost of attendance.

Outside scholarship donors should include on the check the recipient’s name and the term(s) for which the scholarship is intended. Checks should be payable to Wake Forest University (or co-payable to Wake Forest University and the student) and sent to the Office of Student Financial Aid, P.O. Box 7246, Winston-Salem, NC 27109-7246. Checks delivered by donors to the student should be forwarded to the aid office. By submitting, or allowing donors to submit, checks to Wake Forest, a student gives permission for Wake Forest to write the Wake Forest University student identification number on the face of the check.
STUDENTS IN THE COLLEGE ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY TO SPECIAL PROGRAMS, BOTH ON AND OFF CAMPUS, WHICH COMPLEMENT THEIR ABILITIES AND INTERESTS. THESE INCLUDE THE PROGRAMS DESCRIBED BELOW AND THE SPECIAL DEGREES, MINORS, AND CONCENTRATIONS DESCRIBED IN THE COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

Honors Study
For highly qualified students, a series of interdisciplinary honors courses is described under the Courses of Instruction section of this bulletin. Under the supervision of the coordinator of the Honors Program, students may participate in three or more honors seminars during the first, sophomore, and junior years. Those who complete four seminars with a superior record and who are not candidates for departmental honors may complete a final directed study course. With a superior record in that course and a grade point average of at least 3.0 in all work, a student may be graduated with the distinction “Honors in the Arts and Sciences.”

For students especially talented in individual areas of study, most departments in the College offer special studies leading to graduation with honors in a particular discipline. The minimum requirement is a grade point average of 3.0 in all work and 3.3 (or higher in some areas) in the major. Other course, seminar, and research requirements are determined by each department.

Open Curriculum
For students with high motivation and strong academic preparation, the Open Curriculum provides the opportunity to follow a course of study planned within the framework of a liberal arts education but not necessarily fulfilling all core requirements for the degree. The Committee on Open Curriculum selects a limited number of students based on their previous record of achievement, high aspirations, ability in one or more areas of study, strength of self-expression, and other special talents. The course of study for the core requirements is designed by the student and his or her Open Curriculum adviser.

Study at Salem College
For full-time students in the fall and spring semesters, Wake Forest and Salem College share a program of exchange credits for courses taken at one institution because they are not offered in the curriculum of the other. An application for the Salem/Wake Forest Exchange Credit program must be approved by the academic adviser and the dean of the College or the dean of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. Except in courses of private instruction, there is no additional cost to the student. Grades and grade points earned at Salem College under the Exchange Credit program are evaluated as if they were earned at Wake Forest.

Courses that are in the Wake Forest curriculum generally cannot be taken at Salem through this program. In very unusual circumstances, a student may wish to seek the deans’ assistance in appealing to the Committee on Academic Affairs.
International

Center for International Studies

The Center for International Studies (CIS) provides information on study abroad programs, international student and scholar services, and the international studies and global trade and commerce minors. A complete list of services offered by the CIS can be found at www.wfu.edu/cis.

Study Abroad

Students interested in studying abroad should visit the CIS for assistance and program information. All students planning to study abroad on a Wake Forest or an approved non-Wake Forest program are required first to attend an information session and then to schedule an appointment with a study abroad adviser. All students must submit an online study abroad application at http://studyabroad.wfu.edu. For detailed information on study abroad, see the appropriate sections in this bulletin or visit http://studyabroad.wfu.edu.

International Students and Scholars

International students and scholars can obtain information and assistance in the Center for International Studies.

Foreign Area Studies

The Foreign Area Studies program enables students to choose an interdisciplinary concentration in the language and culture of a foreign area. For a full description of these programs, see the various listings under the Courses of Instruction section in this bulletin.

Study Abroad in Wake Forest Programs

Austria (Vienna)

Students have the opportunity to study and live at the Flow House in the 19th District of Vienna (northwest section of the city). Each semester or summer session, a faculty director leads a group of fourteen students and offers two courses in his or her respective disciplines. Faculty directors are chosen from a wide variety of academic departments. In addition, Viennese professors offer courses in the study of German language or literature, Austrian art and architecture, music, or history of Austria and Central Europe. Group excursions to Central Europe enhance the learning experience as well as numerous integrative experiences within the city itself. Students selected for the Vienna program are required to have completed Elementary German (111-112 or 113). Further information may be obtained from Larry West in the Department of German and Russian.

Benin (Cotonou)

Students who wish to study in Africa are invited to apply for the Wake Forest University program in Benin, West Africa. This three-hour course is designed for the study of the problems faced by African countries in the process of economic growth and development. Discussions focus on the examination of solutions to those problems. This is an approximately five-week summer program (occurring usually during the first summer session), which combines classroom instruction, field trips, and a homestay. The program is directed by Sylvain Boko, professor of economics. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Sylvain Boko at bokosh@wfu.edu.

China (Beijing)

Students who wish to study in China may apply to participate on the Wake Forest/SASASAAS Program in Beijing. Offered in the fall semester, the program includes courses in both Chinese language and culture. It is open to students with no previous knowledge of Chinese or to those who wish to continue their study of the language. Additional information may be obtained from the CIS.

England (London)

A program of study is offered each semester at Worrell House, the University’s residential center near Regent’s Park in London. Courses typically encompass aspects of the art, theatre, literature, and history of London and Great Britain. (See, for example, ART 2320: English Art, Hogarth to the Present, and HST 2260: History of London, in the course listings in those departments.) Each term, a different faculty member serves as the director of the program, which accommodates fifteen students. Further information may be obtained from the Center for International Studies.

France (Dijon)

Students wishing to study in France may apply for a semester’s instruction at the University of Burgundy. Under the direction of a faculty residential adviser from the Department of Romance Languages, courses are taken at the University of Burgundy. A major in French is not required, but FRH 219 or its equivalent or any French course above the intermediate level is required. Additional information may be obtained from the Department of Romance Languages.

Italy (Venice)

Students wishing to spend a semester or summer in Italy may apply to study at Casa Artom, the University’s residential center on the Grand Canal in Venice. Under the direction of various members of the faculty, approximately twenty students per semester focus on the heritage and culture of Venice and Italy. Courses offered usually include ART 2693: Venetian Renaissance Art; ITA 220: Italian Conversation; ITA 213: Introduction to Italian Literature I; ITA 216: Introduction to Italian Literature II; and other courses offered by the faculty member serving as director. Students selected for the Venice program are required to have completed elementary training in Italian. Limited scholarship aid is available to one or two students each semester to assist with expenses. Additional information may be obtained from Peter Kairoff, Department of Music.

Japan (Hirakata)

For students wishing to study in Japan, Wake Forest offers a fall and/or spring semester at Kansai Gaidai University. Located in Hirakata, Kansai Gaidai is located near three of Japan’s most interesting cities—Kyoto, the capital of Japan for 1,200 years; Osaka, the largest commercial city; and Nara, the ancient capital of Japan during the 6th century. Courses in a variety of disciplines including business, economics, political science, religion, history, art, and communication are offered in English. Japanese language is offered at all levels. No prior knowledge of Japanese is required. In the fall semester, a faculty member accompanies the students and teaches one course. Additional information may be obtained from the CIS.

Mexico (Querétaro)

The Wake Forest summer program in Querétaro, Mexico, is located in a beautiful, colonial city northwest of Mexico City. This six-week intensive program in Spanish language and culture is based at the prestigious Instituto Tecnológico de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey. Open to students desiring to take beginning or intermediate level Spanish, the program provides students the chance to learn in an immersion setting. Visits to historical and cultural sites form part of each course. In addition, students are paired with Mexican students to practice their Spanish conversation skills. A Wake Forest faculty member from the Department of Romance Languages accompanies the students and oversees the program. Majors in all disciplines are eligible to apply. Additional information may be obtained from Mary Friedman, Department of Romance Languages.
Spain (Salamanca)

Students wishing to study in Spain may apply for a semester or a year of study at the University of Salamanca. Under the direction of a faculty residential adviser from the Department of Romance Languages, courses are taken at the University of Salamanca. As part of the University of Salamanca’s special integrated program, students may take courses with Spanish students in the following disciplines: education, psychology, business, economics, biology, and anthropology. Students need not major in Spanish, but one course beyond SPN 214 is required. Additional information may be obtained in the Department of Romance Languages.

Spain (Salamanca)—Internships

Students who wish to register for an internship in Salamanca, Spain, are invited to apply for the Wake Forest University Summer Internship program in Salamanca. Internships are available during both summer sessions in a wide range of fields (medical, business, teaching, translation/interpretation) and may carry 1.5 or 3 hour credits. In conjunction with SPN 199: Internship in Spanish Language (1.5-3h), the program offers SPN 316I: Language Study in the Context of an Internship. This combination (199 + 316I) may count as a maximum of 3 hours toward the Spanish major or minor. SPN 389I: Internship in Spanish for Business and the Professions (1.5-3h) is also offered and counts toward the Certificate in Spanish for Business and the Professions.

An orientation trip to places of cultural and historical interest is optional. Students live with families. Electronic applications are available at the Center for International Studies and Romance Languages Web sites. For further information, contact the coordinator, Candelas Gala, galacs@wfu.edu.

Study Abroad in Non-Wake Forest Programs

Students wishing to study abroad on a non-Wake Forest program must visit the CIS for assistance. The CIS maintains an online database of approved non-Wake Forest programs at http://studyabroad.wfu.edu. In addition, the CIS has a collection of printed materials of approved programs. All students planning to study abroad are required to attend an information session. The CIS staff advises students about their program options. Students will not receive credit for participation on any unapproved study abroad program.

Course Approval Process. Once a student is accepted to a study abroad program, he or she must start the course approval process by scheduling an appointment with a study abroad adviser. In no case may a student undertake study elsewhere without completing this process in advance to the satisfaction of the CIS, registrar’s office, and the academic departments which oversee course credit approval. Students may not register for fewer than twelve hours or more than seventeen hours on a semester study abroad program without the permission of a dean. Department chairs approve specific courses and the number of credit hours earned for those courses.

Grades for approved courses on non-Wake Forest study abroad programs will appear on the Wake Forest University transcript, but will NOT be calculated into the Wake Forest grade point average. (See section on transfer credit in this bulletin.) Students must follow the drop/add policies of the host institution. If the program does not have any relevant policies, then the Wake Forest policy is applied. If a student withdraws from a study abroad program, he or she must notify the registrar’s office; the rules for withdrawal, as stated in this Undergraduate Bulletin, also apply. For more information, consult the CIS.

Students may request to have scholarship and financial aid applied toward approved non-Wake Forest programs. Scholarships for study abroad are also available. Additional information is available in the CIS and the Office of Student Financial Aid.
Requirements for Degrees

Degrees Offered

The College offers undergraduate programs leading to the bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees.

The bachelor of arts degree is conferred with a major in anthropology, art history, biology, chemistry, Chinese, classical studies, communication, computer science, economics, English, French, German, German Studies, Greek, history, Japanese, Latin, mathematics, music performance, music in liberal arts, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, religion, Russian, sociology, Spanish, studio art, or theatre.

The bachelor of science degree is conferred with a major in biology, chemistry, computer science, health and exercise science, mathematical economics, mathematics, or physics.

The bachelor of arts degree is available with a major in elementary education or social studies education. The bachelor of science degree may be conferred in combined curricula in engineering, environmental studies, and medical technology. A minor in secondary social studies education is also available.

The Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy offers undergraduate programs leading to the bachelor of science degree with a major in accountancy, business, finance, or mathematical business.

A student may receive only one bachelor’s degree (either the bachelor of arts or the bachelor of science) from Wake Forest.

General Requirements

The basic and divisional course requirements leave students in the College considerable flexibility in planning their courses of study. Students who entered under the bulletins of previous years may make use of new alternative basic and divisional courses announced in this bulletin while still following their original contract for the required totals thereof. Except for HES 100 and 101, only courses of three or more semester hours count towards satisfying basic and divisional requirements.

Basic Course Requirements. There are five basic course requirements students must complete: a first-year seminar, two health and exercise science courses, the writing seminar, and a 200-level foreign language course.

Divisional Course Requirements. Core requirements complete preparation for more specialized work in a major field or fields. Students select courses in each of five divisions of the undergraduate curriculum.

Core requirements (basic and divisional combined) are typically completed in the first two years and the requirements in the major field or fields of study are completed in the junior and senior years.

All students must complete (1) the core requirements (unless accepted for the Open Curriculum), (2) a course of study approved by the department or departments of the major, and (3) elective courses, for a total of 120 hours. In general, no more than twelve hours toward graduation may be earned from among all of the following courses: MUS 111-121 and 128-129 (ensemble courses); DCE 128; and elective 100-level courses in health and exercise science. However, majors in music in liberal arts and music performance may count up to sixteen hours in these courses toward graduation. A cross-listed course may be taken one time for hours toward graduation, unless otherwise specified by the course description.
All students must earn a minimum cumulative 2.0 grade point average in Wake Forest College and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. Of the 120 hours required for graduation, at least sixty must be earned in Wake Forest programs. Once enrolled at Wake Forest, a student may subsequently count, at most, thirty hours of credit from sources other than Wake Forest programs toward the graduation requirement of 120 hours. Except for combined degree curricula, the work of the senior year must comprise courses in Wake Forest programs. Any exceptions must be approved by the Committee on Academic Affairs.

Transfer credits will not be used in calculating a student’s GPA. This includes non-Wake Forest study abroad programs. However, transfer credits and the grade(s) earned will be recorded on the transcript. Graduation distinctions will be based solely on the Wake Forest GPA.

A student graduates under the requirements of the bulletin of the year in which he or she enters. However, when a student declares a major or a minor, the requirements for the major or minor that are in effect at the time of declaration will apply. Such requirements may not be congruent with those stated in a given bulletin. Newly admitted majors to the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy, however, will be assigned a catalog year that will reflect their first full academic year as a major in the School. If coursework is not completed within six years of entrance, the student must fulfill the requirements for the class in which he or she graduates.

All requirements must be completed and certified before a student may participate in the commencement exercises. No further entries or alterations may be made toward the undergraduate degree once a student has been graduated.

Seniors must submit an application for graduation for their records to be activated for certification. Information packets are mailed immediately before the fall term to all students classified as seniors. Students who are not enrolled in the fall term, or who do not receive the packet but intend to graduate within the academic year, may request one from the Office of the Registrar. Application forms are due no later than thirty days before graduation.

Core Requirements

The core requirements are intended to introduce the student to various fields of knowledge and to lay the foundation for concentration in a major subject and related fields during the junior and senior years. For these reasons, as many of the requirements as feasible should be taken in the first two years.

Basic Requirements

All students must complete five required basic courses (unless exempted through procedures established by the departments concerned):

- FYS 100 (first-year seminar)
- English 111 (writing seminar)
- One 200-level foreign language course
- Health and Exercise Science 100 and 101

Foreign Language Placement

All students new to Wake Forest who have studied a foreign language in high school must complete foreign language placement. Students will not receive credit for a class at a lower level than the level of their placement on the placement exam, unless they:

a. register for the class in which they placed;

b. attend a few class meetings;

c. consult with their professor; and

d. successfully appeal their placement to the language placement appeals officers of the department and be reassigned to a lower level course.

Students who continue with another foreign language must take a placement test in that one, too; if not during orientation, then before registering for a course in it.

Students whose primary language (the language of instruction in the student’s prior schooling) is other than English are exempt from the basic requirement in foreign language and must fulfill the Division II requirements with a course whose readings do not concentrate on the literature of the student’s primary language.

Students whose schooling has been in English but who are fluent in a language not taught at Wake Forest must present the equivalent of a 200-level college course in the second language to be exempt from the requirement; the language review committee for international students decides in such cases. If the second language is taught at Wake Forest, the relevant department decides whether the student may complete the requirement in that language or may be regarded as having fulfilled the requirement already. Elective courses in the language or literature of a student’s heritage or country of origin are at the discretion of the department offering the course.

Divisional Requirements

All students must complete courses in each of the five divisions of the undergraduate curriculum (unless exempted through procedures established by the departments concerned or by participation in the Open Curriculum). Together with the basic requirements these courses form the core of Wake Forest’s undergraduate liberal arts education.

Students are not allowed to exempt divisional core requirements through the Advanced Placement Examination, the College Level Examination Program, or the International Baccalaureate. Although students who complete AP courses earn credit towards the 120 hours needed for graduation, AP credit courses do not satisfy the core requirements as the student must complete the required core courses while enrolled at Wake Forest. Departments choose which courses will satisfy divisional requirements. Courses satisfying a divisional requirement are designated (D) after their descriptions in this bulletin. Courses without the (D) designation do not satisfy a divisional requirement.

Special Restrictions
- In divisions requiring more than one course, students may not choose two courses from within the same department.
- One course cannot satisfy the requirements of two divisions. A cross-listed course satisfies a requirement in one division only.
- Language courses at the 200-level do not fulfill the Division II literature requirement.

Additional Requirements
To prepare students for the demands of technology and globalization, Wake Forest guides undergraduate course selections with three further requirements:

Cultural Diversity Requirement. All students must complete at least one course that educates them regarding cultural diversity. This course may be taken at the basic, divisional, or major/minor level or as an elective. Courses qualified to meet this requirement are designated (CD) after their descriptions in this bulletin.

Quantitative Reasoning Requirement. All students must complete at least one course that requires quantitative reasoning, either as a qualifying course in Division V, as an elective, or as a major or minor course requirement. All courses meeting the requirement are designated (QR) after their descriptions in this bulletin.

Requirement in Health and Exercise Science
Students must complete HES 100 and 101 before enrollment in additional health and exercise science elective courses, and in any case, before the end of the second year.

Proficiency in the Use of English
Proficiency in the use of the English language is recognized by the faculty as a requirement in all departments. A composition condition, indicated by cc with the grade for any course, may be assigned in any department to a student whose writing is unsatisfactory, regardless of previous hours in composition.

A student who has been assigned a cc receives a grade of “Not Reported” (NR) for the course. The student has one semester (understood to be the next semester for which he or she is officially enrolled) in which to work in the Writing Center, revising the coursework to the instructor’s satisfaction. Should the student fail to work in the Writing Center, or fail to revise the work to the instructor’s satisfaction during the semester of his or her next enrollment, the grade becomes an F unless some action is taken by the instructor. (If extenuating circumstances make it impossible for the student to make significant progress in a semester, the student may appeal to the dean’s office for an additional semester of work to remove the NR.) Removal of the deficiency is prerequisite to graduation.

Declaring a Major
Most students declare a major in the spring of their sophomore year, and should earn at least fifty-five hours prior to the following fall term. Students declare a major through a procedure established between the academic departments and the registrar’s office. Information about this process is distributed prior to the designated declaration period.

If the student is accepted into the major, the department provides an adviser who assists the student in planning a course of study for the junior and senior years. A department that rejects a student as a major must notify the registrar’s office and file a written statement indicating the reason(s) for the rejection with the dean of the College.

Students who need to delay the declaration due to insufficient earned hours or other circumstances should consult the registrar’s office.

Students who have earned at least fifty-five hours prior to the designated declaration period and wish to declare a major should consult the registrar’s office.

A student wishing to major in accountancy, business, finance, mathematical business, or the master of science in accountancy should apply to the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. (See the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy requirements in this bulletin.)

The undergraduate schools try to provide ample space in the various major fields to accommodate the interests of students. It must be understood, however, that the undergraduate schools cannot guarantee the availability of space in a given major field or a given course, since the preferences of students change and there are limits to both faculty and facilities.

After the initial declaration, a student may not change from one major to another without the written approval of the departments concerned. The student’s course of study for the junior and senior years includes the minimum requirements for the departmental major, with other courses selected by the student and approved by the adviser. At least half of the major must be completed at Wake Forest University.

Please Note. For credit in the major, courses taken in many programs of study abroad are not automatically equivalent to courses completed at Wake Forest. If a student wishes to take more than half of his or her courses for the major in study abroad programs, he or she must gain prior approval from the chair of the department. Students should check the Undergraduate Bulletin for additional departmental requirements for the major. Majors are listed alphabetically under Courses of Instruction in this bulletin.

The following majors are recognized:
accountancy • anthropology • art history • biology • business • chemistry • Chinese • classical studies • communication • computer science • economics • education • finance • English • French • German • German studies • Greek • health and exercise science • history • Japanese • Latin • mathematical business • mathematical economics • mathematics • music in liberal studies • music performance • philosophy • physics • political science • psychology • religion • Russian • sociology • Spanish • studio art • theatre

Maximum Number of Courses in a Department

Within the College, a maximum of fifty hours in a major is allowed within the 120 hours required for graduation. For a student majoring in a department with two or more majors, six additional hours in the department but outside the student’s major are also allowed.

These stipulations exclude required related courses from other departments. For students majoring in English, ENG 111 is excluded. For students majoring in a foreign language, elementary courses in that language are also excluded. These limits may be exceeded in unusual circumstances only by action of the dean of the College.

Options for Meeting Major Requirements

To satisfy graduation requirements, a student must select one, and only one, of the following options, which will receive official recognition on the student’s permanent record:
1. a single major,
2. a single major and a minor,
3. a single major and a double minor, or
4. a double major.

In addition to these options, a student may complete the requirements of one or more foreign area studies programs and/or any of the Romance languages certificates.

Double Majors

A student may major in two departments in the College with the written permission of the chair of each of the departments and on condition that the student meet all requirements for the major in both departments. A student may not use the same course to meet requirements in both of the majors. The student must designate one of the two fields as the primary major, which appears first on the student’s record and determines the degree to be awarded. Only one undergraduate degree will be awarded, even if the student completes two majors.

Minors

A minor is not required. Those students, however, who select a single major—not those working toward a double major—may choose a minor field from among the following or from the listing of interdisciplinary minors:

- anthropology • art history • biology • chemistry
- Chinese • classical studies • communication • computer science • dance • economics • English • French • German • German studies • Greek • history • Italian language and culture • Japanese • journalism • Latin • mathematics • Middle East and South Asia studies • music • philosophy • physics • political science • professional education • psychology • religion • Russian • secondary social studies education • sociology • Spanish • statistics • studio art • theatre

For details of the various minors, see the appropriate departmental headings in the section of this bulletin that lists course offerings.

Interdisciplinary Minors

Interdisciplinary minors are listed alphabetically under courses of instruction in this bulletin. The following programs are offered:

- American ethnic studies • cultural resource preservation • early Christian studies • East Asian studies • entrepreneurship and social enterprise • environmental sciences • environmental studies • film studies • global trade and commerce studies • health policy and administration • humanities • international development and policy • international studies • Latin-American studies • linguistics • medieval studies • neuroscience • Russian and East European studies • urban studies • women's and gender studies

Foreign Area Studies

The foreign area studies programs enable students to choose an interdisciplinary concentration in the language and culture of a foreign area. An area studies concentration may include courses in the major and also in the minor field, if a minor is chosen. Foreign area studies programs do not replace majors or minors; they may supplement either or both. A faculty adviser coordinates each foreign area studies program and advises students; students who wish to participate in one of these programs must consult with the program coordinator, preferably in their sophomore year. Questions also may be directed to the Center for International Studies.

Foreign area studies are listed alphabetically under Courses of Instruction in this bulletin. Italian studies and Spanish studies are offered.

Students who have studied abroad may have taken courses not listed in this bulletin. Questions should be addressed to the Office of the Registrar.

Senior Testing

All seniors may be required to participate in a testing program designed to provide objective evidence of educational development. If the Committee on Academic Affairs decides to conduct such a program, its purpose would be to assist the University in assessing the effectiveness of its programs. The program does not supplant the regular administration of the Graduate Record Examination for students applying for admission to graduate school.

Combined Degrees In Medical Technology

Students may qualify for the bachelor of science degree in medical technology by completion of the academic requirements outlined in the following paragraph and by satisfactory completion of the full program in medical technology offered by Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center. A grade of at least C is required in all courses taken in the program in medical technology. At least one year (twenty-eight hours) of the required academic work must be completed in the College. (Under current scheduling, successful candidates receive the baccalaureate degree in August rather than in May.)

Students seeking admission to the program must file application in the fall of the junior year with Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center. Selection is based upon recommendations of teachers, college academic record, Allied Health Professions Admissions Test score or SAT/ACT scores, impressions made in personal interviews, and work experience (not essential, but important). Students must complete all core course requirements:

- BIO 112, 113, 213, 214 (three courses or equivalents)
- BIO 326
- CHM 111/111L, 122/122L, 223/223L, 230 and 260
- Mathematics (one course)
- Electives for a total of eighty-four hours.

Desirable electives outside the area of chemistry and biology include physics, computer science, and personnel and management courses. (Interested students should consult a biology department faculty member during the first year for further information.)

Degrees in Engineering

The College cooperates with engineering schools in offering a broad course of study in the arts and sciences combined with specialized training in engineering. A program for outstanding students covers five years of study, including three years in the College and approximately two years in one of the schools of engineering accredited by ABET, the Accrediting Board for Engineering Technology. (Depending upon the field chosen, it may be advisable for a student to attend the summer session in the engineering school after transfer.) Admission to Wake Forest does not guarantee admission to the engineering school. Those decisions are based on the student’s transcript, performance, and status at the time of application. Upon successful completion of the five years of study, the student receives the bachelor of science degree in engineering from the University and the bachelor of science degree in one of the specialized engineering fields from the engineering school.

The curriculum for the first three years must include all the core requirements and additional courses in science and mathematics which will prepare the student for the study of engineering, such as MTH 111, 112, 205, 251, and 306; PHY 113, 114, 215, 262, 265, and 266; CHM 111, 111L, 122, and 122L; and ECN 150. These electives are chosen in consultation with the chair of the Department of Physics.

Five-year Cooperative Degree Program in Latin-American Studies

Wake Forest and Georgetown universities have instituted a five-year cooperative degree program in Latin-American Studies. Under this program, undergraduate students who minor in Latin-American Studies may apply to have a limited number of hours from their undergraduate work count toward a master’s degree in Latin-American Studies at Georgetown University in Washington, DC. The BA is awarded by Wake Forest, while the master’s degree is awarded by Georgetown. Those whose applications are accepted may complete both their BA and MA degrees in a five-year period. To apply for the combined BA/MA, students should declare an interest in the five-year cooperative degree program during their junior year. Students must then complete the regular Georgetown graduate application process and seek formal acceptance to the MA program during their senior year.

The five-year program is an opportunity for exceptional students to complete degree requirements at an accelerated pace. Interested students should contact the five-year degree program coordinator, Peter Siavelis, associate professor of political science.

The University reserves the right to change programs of study, academic requirements, assignment of lecturers, or the announced calendar. The courses listed in this bulletin are not necessarily taught every year; their availability is a function of both staffing constraints and student demand. While no guarantees about future scheduling can be made, students are encouraged to alert their advisers and department heads to their needs and desires as soon as they can be foreseen. For an exact list of courses offered in each particular semester and summer, students should consult the course schedules issued by the Office of the Registrar during the preceding term.

Courses 101-199 are primarily for first-year students and sophomores; courses 200-299 are primarily for juniors and seniors; courses 301-399 are for advanced undergraduate students. Graduate courses are described in the bulletin of the Graduate School.
American Ethnic Studies (AES)
(Interdisciplinary Minor)

Director Rubin Professor of American Ethnic Studies and Professor of Sociology Earl Smith
Visiting Professor Edward Opoku Dapaah

The interdisciplinary minor in American ethnic studies requires 18 hours. The student must take AES 151. Race and Ethnic Diversity in America, during the second or third year at Wake Forest, and AES 234. Ethnicity and Immigration. At least one additional three-hour course must be taken from the behavioral and social sciences, and one from the humanities. This structure gives students an understanding of the interdisciplinary nature of American ethnic studies within the context of the traditional liberal arts curriculum.

151. Race and Ethnic Diversity in America. (3h) Different race and ethnic experiences are examined through an institutional approach that examines religion, work, schooling, marriage patterns, and culture from a cross-cultural perspective. Grand theoretical schemes like the “melting pot” are critiqued for their relevance in an age of new cultural expectations among the many American ethnic groups. (CD)

232. The American Jewish Experience. (3h) Interdisciplinary course exploring Jewish immigration to America with a primary focus on the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

234. Ethnicity and Immigration. (3h) Exploration of the socio-historical dynamics of the peopling of America in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. (CD)

240. Asian-American Legacy: A Social History of Community Adaptation. (3h) Introduction to the history, culture, and literature of the Asian-American communities, exploring issues of migration, assimilation, and the process of developing Asian-American identities in the twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. (CD)

310. Race, Class, and Gender in a Color-blind Society. (3h) Examination of issues surrounding race, class, and gender in the U.S. Topics include income and wealth, theories of discrimination, public education, gender bias, and patterns of occupational and industrial segregation. Also listed as EDU 310.

357. Studies in Chicano/a Literature. (3h) Writings by Americans of Mexican descent in relation to politics and history. Readings in literature, literary criticism, and socio-cultural analysis. Also listed as ENG 357. (CD)

358. The Italian Experience in America. (3h) Explores issues of ethnicity and identity in the Italian-American experience. A central goal is to understand the inter-relationship of social, economic and political factors that impinge on this large European ethnic group.

387. African-American Fiction. (3h) Selected topics in the development of fiction by American writers of African descent. Also listed as ENG 387. (CD)

389. African-American Poetry. (3h) Readings of works by American poets of African descent in theoretical, critical, and historical contexts. Also listed as ENG 389. (CD)
396. Independent Study. (1-3h) Independent projects in American ethnic studies which either continue study begun in a regular course or develop new areas of interest. A maximum of 3 hours may apply to the minor. By prearrangement.

Electives for American Ethnic Studies

Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program director maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

Anthropology (ANT)

Chair Margaret Bender
Professors Jay Kaplan, Jeanne M. Simonelli
Associate Professor Margaret Bender
Assistant Professors Ellen Miller, Paul Thacker
Lecturer Steven Folmar
Visiting Assistant Professor Eric E. Bowne
Director, Museum of Anthropology and Adjunct Associate Professor Stephen Whittington
Adjunct Instructors Beverlye H. Hancock, Kenneth Robinson

A major in anthropology requires a minimum of thirty-three credit hours and must include ANT 112, 113, 114, 340, 390, and one course from each of the following three groups:

Area—111, 210, 313, 330, 334, 358, 370, 374, 377

Students must also take the equivalent of two to three more full semester courses in anthropology, one of which may be from a cognate discipline.

Students are encouraged, but not required, to enroll in a course offering intensive field research training. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in anthropology courses is required at the time the major is declared. A minimum grade of C in all anthropology courses counted toward the major is required for graduation.

A minor in anthropology requires eighteen hours and must include ANT 112, 113, and 114. Only one course (excluding ANT 112, 113, 114) can be taken under the pass/fail option and used to meet minor requirements. Only three hours from ANT 398, 399 may be used toward the minor. Only three hours from ANT 353, 354, 381, 382, 383, and 384 may be used to meet minor requirements and departmental permission must be obtained for minor credit in these courses.

Honors. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Anthropology,” highly qualified majors (3.5 grade point average in anthropology) should apply to the department for admission to the honors program. Honors students must complete a senior research project, document their research, and satisfactorily defend their work in an oral examination. For additional information, members of the departmental faculty should be consulted.

111. Peoples and Cultures of the World. (3h) A representative ethnographic survey of world cultures, including hunting-gathering, kin-based, and agricultural societies, as well as ethnic groups in complex societies. (CD, D)

111G. Peoples and Cultures of the World. (3h) Same as ANT 111, but includes coverage of the relationship between geography and culture. Meets the geography requirement for teaching licensure candidates. (CD, D)

112. Introduction to Archaeology. (3h) An overview of world prehistory, from the earliest stone tools to the appearance of civilization, with an emphasis on the relationship between culture change and the natural environment. (CD, D)
113. Introduction to Biological Anthropology. (3h) Introduction to biological anthropology, including human biology, human variation, human genetics, human evolution, and primatology. (D)

114. Introduction to Cultural Anthropology. (3h) Investigates and interprets the historic cultural diversity of the world’s peoples, through an understanding of economic, social, and political systems; law and order, ritual, symbol, and religion; language and culture; kinship and the family; and modernization and culture change. (CD, D)

150. Introduction to Linguistics. (3h) The social phenomenon of language: how it originated and developed, how it is learned and used, its relationship to other kinds of behavior; types of language (oral, written, signed) and language families; analysis of linguistic data; and social issues of language use. Also listed as LIN 150. (CD, D)

210. Introduction to Latin-American Studies. (3h) Introduction to the historical, economic, cultural, and social issues which shape Latin America. Also listed as LAS 210. (CD)

264. Forensic Anthropology. (3h) Introduction to the conduct of forensic anthropology, including basic human identification, the nature of evidence, laboratory analyses, field methods, and modern applications.

301. Free Trade, Fair Trade: Independent Entrepreneurs in the Global Market. (3h) Field-based seminar compares the barriers to market participation experienced by independent entrepreneurs cross-culturally. Free trade policies are contrasted with fair trade practices to determine why so many independent producers have trouble succeeding in a globalizing world. Also listed as ESE 201. (CD)

305. Museum Anthropology. (4h) Examines the historical, social, and ideological forces shaping the development of museums, including the formation of anthropological collections and representation, and the intellectual and social challenges facing museums today through hands-on use of the Museum’s collections. Lab—four hours. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 114, or POI.

307. Collections Management Practicum. (1.5h) The principles of collections management including artifact registration, cataloging, storage, and handling; conservation issues and practices; disaster planning and preparedness; and ethical issues are covered through lectures, readings, workshops, and hands-on use of the Museum’s collections.

313. Tradition, Continuity, and Struggle: Mexico and Central America. (3h) Acquaints students with the lives and struggles of indigenous and non-indigenous people of Mexico and neighboring countries, with special focus on the Maya. Includes the study of contemporary and prehispanic traditions, including Mayan cosmology, language, art and architecture, issues of contact during Spanish colonization, and current political, economic, health, and social issues affecting these areas today. (CD)

315. Artifact Analysis and Laboratory Methods in Archaeology. (3h) Introduction to methods for determining the composition, age, manufacture, and use of different prehistoric and historic artifact types. Techniques for reconstruction of past natural environments from geological or ecofact samples. Exploration of data display tools including computer-based illustration, GIS, and archaeological photography. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 114, or POI.

330. Seeing World Cultures. (3h) Focuses on selected cultures throughout the world to better understand these societies through the use of ethnographic literature and assesses the effectiveness of visual communication in conveying ideas about these cultures through the use of ethnographic videos and films. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114, or POI.
332. Anthropology of Gender. (3h) Focuses on the difference between sex, a biological category, and gender, its cultural counterpart. An anthropological perspective is used to understand both the human life cycle and the status of contemporary women and men worldwide. In section one, topics include evolution and biological development, sexuality and reproduction, parenting, and life cycle changes. The second section takes students to diverse locations, including Africa, South Dakota, China, India, and the Amazon for a cross-cultural comparison examining roles, responsibilities, and expectations, and how these interact with related issues of class and race. (CD)

333. Language and Gender. (3h) Uses an anthropological perspective to examine relationships between language structure, language use, persons, and social categories. Also listed as LIN 333.

334. Peoples and Cultures of South Asia. (3h) Survey of the peoples and cultures of the Indian subcontinent in the countries of Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. Reviews major topics of interest to anthropologists, including prehistory, history and politics, religion, social organization, caste, gender, development, and population. (CD)

336. Myth, Ritual, and Symbolism. (3h) Explores how people envision and manipulate the supernatural in cross-cultural perspective. Emphasizes functional aspects of religious beliefs and practices. Also listed as REL 304. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114, or POI. (CD)

337. Economic Anthropology. (3h) Examines the relationship between culture and the economy and its implications for applied anthropology. The variable nature and meaning of economic behavior is examined in societies ranging from non-industrial to post-industrial. Discusses the impact of economic development programs, foreign aid and investment, technology transfer, and a variety of other economic aid programs. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114, or POI.

339. Culture and Nature. (3h) Exploration of humanity’s “place” in the cosmos, focusing on different worldviews of nature and culture. Case studies from anthropology, archaeology, and environmental science examine conceptions of technology, resources, environment, and ownership in the context of environmental change, “natural” disasters, and resource scarcity. (CD)

340. Anthropological Theory. (3h) Study and evaluation of the major anthropological theories of humans and society. The relevance and significance of these theories to modern anthropology are discussed. P—ANT 112 and 113 and 114, or POI.

342. Development Wars: Applying Anthropology. (3h) Explores the application of anthropological concepts and methods in the understanding of contemporary problems stemming from cultural diversity, including competing social and economic development models and ideologies of terror. Emphasis on conflict and change in developing areas but also considers the urban experience. (CD)

353/354. Field Research. (3h, 3h) Issues-based field program provides students with a critical understanding of the historical, social, political-economic, and environmental conditions that have shaped the lives of the people of the Greater Southwest, with special attention to the Native American and Latino/a experience. The program moves from the Mexican border region through New Mexico and Arizona, focusing on border issues, archaeology and prehispanic history, and contemporary Native American culture. Students camp, hike, and learn to use digital technology in the field. Specific sites may vary from year to year. P—POI.

355. Language and Culture. (3h) Covers theoretical and methodological approaches to the study of language and culture, including: semiotics, structuralism, ethnoscience, the ethnography of communication, and sociolinguistics. Topics include: linguistic relativity; grammar and worldview; lexicon and thought; language use and social inequality; language and gender; and other areas. (CD)

358. Native Peoples of North America. (3h) Ethnology and prehistory of the indigenous peoples and cultures of North America. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114. (CD)

361. Evolution of Human Behavior. (3h) The application of Darwinian principles to the study of human nature and culture. Considers the existence, origin, and manifestation of human behavioral universals and the theoretical and practical implications of individual variability.

362. Medical Anthropology. (3h) Examines the impact of Western medical practices and theory on Western and non-Western cultures and anthropological contributions to the solving of world health problems. Service learning. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114, or POI. (CD)

363. Primate Behavior and Biology. (3h) Examines the evolution and adaptations of the order Primates. Considers the different ways that ecology and evolution shape social behavior. Special emphasis on the lifeways of monkeys and apes.

364. Primate Evolutionary Biology. (3h) Examines the anatomy, evolution, and paleobiology of members of the order Primates. Emphasis is placed on the fossil evidence for primate evolution. Major topics include: primate origins, prosimian and anthropoid adaptations, patterns in primate evolution, and the place of humans within the order Primates.

365. Evolutionary Medicine. (3h) An explicitly evolutionary approach to complex relationships between human evolutionary adaptations and health problems related to modern behavior and culture. P—ANT 111, 113, or 114, or POI.

366. Human Evolution. (3h) The paleontological evidence for early human evolution, with an emphasis on the first five million years of bio-cultural evolution. P—ANT 111 or 113 or 114, or POI.

368. Human Osteology. (4h) Survey and analysis of human skeletal anatomy, emphasizing archaeological and anthropological applications and practice. Lab—four hours.

370. Old World Prehistory. (3h) Survey of Old World prehistory, with particular attention to geological and climatological events affecting culture change. P—ANT 112 or POI. (CD)

374. Prehistory of North America. (3h) The development of culture in North America, as outlined by archaeological research, with an emphasis on paleoecology and sociocultural processes. P—ANT 112 or POI. (CD)

376. Archaeology of the Southeastern United States. (1.5h) Study of human adaptation in the Southeast from Pleistocene to the present, emphasizing the role of ecological factors in determining the formal aspects of culture. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114.

377. Ancestors, Indians, Immigrants: A Southwest Cultural Tapestry. (3h) Exploration of factors that shaped the lives of people in the Southwest with attention to Native American and Hispanic experience. From kivas to casinos, coyotes to cartels, it links archaeological and prehispanic history to contemporary lifeways in the canyons, deserts, and cities of the U.S./North Mexico. Also listed as HMN 268. (CD)

378. Conservation Archaeology. (1.5h) Study of the laws, regulations, policies, programs, and political processes used to conserve prehistoric and historic cultural resources.
380. Anthropological Statistics. (3h) Basic statistics, emphasizing application in anthropological research. A student who receives credit for this course may not also receive credit for BIO 380, BUS 201, HES 262, or SOC 371. (QR)

381, 382. Field Program in Anthropological Archaeology. (3h, 3h) Integrated training in archaeological field methods and analytical techniques for researching human prehistory. Students learn archaeological survey, mapping, excavation, recording techniques, and artifact and ecofact recovery and analysis. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114, or POI. (D)

383, 384. Field Program in Cultural Anthropology. (3h, 3h) The comparative study of culture and training in ethnographic and cultural analysis carried out in the field. P—ANT 111 or 112 or 113 or 114, or POI. (CD, D)

385, 386. Special Problems Seminar. (3h, 3h) Intensive investigation of current scientific research within the discipline. Concentrates on problems of contemporary interest.

387. Ethnographic Research Methods. (3h) Designed to familiarize students with ethnographic research methods and their application. Considers the epistemological, ethical, political, and psychological aspects of research. Field experience and data analysis. P—ANT 111 or 114.

390. Student-Faculty Seminar. (3h) A review of contemporary problems in the fields of archaeology, and biological and cultural anthropology. Senior standing recommended. P—ANT 112, 113 and 114, or POI.

391, 392. Internship in Anthropology. (3h, 3h) Internship course designed to meet the needs and interests of selected students, to be carried out under the supervision of a departmental faculty member. P—POI.

398, 399. Individual Study. (1h, 1.5h, 2h, or 3h) Reading or research course designed to meet the needs and interests of selected students, to be carried out under the supervision of a departmental faculty member. P—POI.

The department offers courses in the history of art, architecture, printmaking, photography, and film from the ancient through modern periods, and the practice of art in six areas: drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, photography, and digital art. Opportunities to supplement the regular academic program of the department include study abroad in Wake Forest residential study centers, changing art exhibitions in the gallery of the Scales Fine Arts Center, a visiting artists program, and internships in local museums and arts organizations.

The department offers two majors, art history and studio art, each requiring a minimum of thirty hours. Any student interested in majoring or minoring in art should contact the art department.

For the art history major, twenty-four hours are to be in art history and six hours in studio art. The required art history courses include one course in Ancient, Classical or Medieval art; one course in Renaissance, Baroque, or eighteenth-century art; one course in modern painting, architecture, photography, or film; ART 394; one art history seminar; two studio art courses; and electives. Art history majors are encouraged to take ART 103 and a course in non-western art. An art history minor requires twelve hours in art history and three hours in studio art.

For the studio art major, twenty-four hours are to be in studio art and six hours in art history. There are six areas of study in studio art: drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, photography, and digital art. The studio major requires a three course sequence and a two course sequence in two different areas of study. In addition, the major requires three to five studio electives and two classes in art history. At least one class for the studio major must be in sculpture. The studio art majors must select their classes from at least four of the six studio areas. Studio art classes at the 200 level may be repeated once. A minor in studio art requires twelve hours in studio art and three hours in art history.

A minor in either studio art or art history requires a minimum of fifteen hours. Students may major in one field and minor in another by earning a minimum of 39 hours in art, of which at least 24 hours must be in the major field and at least 12 hours in the minor field.

Honors. Qualified students in both the studio and art history areas may ask to participate in the department’s honors program. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Art,” students must execute a written project or create a body of work; the results of their efforts must be presented and defended before a committee of department faculty. Interested students should consult any member of the department for additional information concerning the requirements for this program.

Students with a special interest in multimedia development may wish to consider a program of study that combines digital art and computer science. Advisers in either the art or computer science departments can provide further information on coordinating an art major with a computer science minor, or vice versa.

The department accepts only three courses from a non-Wake Forest program for credit toward the major. Of these three courses, only two may be in the same area of concentration. For instance, an art major may take up to two art history courses and one studio course or two studio art courses and one art history course at a non-Wake Forest program. All studio courses taken abroad are assigned ART 210.

Students enrolled at Wake Forest may not take courses in studio art or art history at other institutions to satisfy divisional requirements.
Art History

103. History of Western Art. (3h) Introduction to the history of the visual arts, focusing on Europe and the United States. (D)

Studio Art

All studio art courses 200 and above and 110A-G may be repeated. Prerequisites may be waived with permission of instructor.

110. Topics in Studio Art. (3h) Used to designate studio art courses in the Wake Forest summer school. (D) Studio art courses are determined by individual instructors in the following areas:

- Drawing
- Painting
- Printmaking
- Sculpture
- Photography
- Digital Art
- Special Topics

111. Introduction to Studio Art Fundamentals. (3h) Students are introduced to basic elements of two-dimensional and three-dimensional fine art through hands-on experimentation and critical thinking. Six class hours per week. (D)

112. Introduction to Painting. (3h) Introduction to the fundamentals of the contemporary practice of oil painting. No prior painting experience required, although prior studio art experience is recommended. (D)

114. Digital Art I. (3h) Introduction to the fundamentals of art-making using computer software. Emphasis is on the acquisition of basic skills and concepts focusing on two-dimensional image manipulation and basic Web page design as an art form. A working knowledge of the Windows operating system required. (D)

115. Introduction to Sculpture. (3h) Introduction to basic sculptural styles and multimedia, with emphasis on contemporary concepts. Prior studio experience is recommended. (D)

117. Introduction to Printmaking. (3h) Introduction to one or more of the following areas of printmaking: lithography, intaglio, and silkscreen. (D)

118. Introduction to Drawing. (3h) Drawing fundamentals emphasizing composition, value, line, and form. (D)

119. Introduction to Photography. (3h) Introduction to black and white photography with a brief introduction to digital imaging. Technical information serves the goal of understanding contemporary aesthetic and critical issues. Students must provide a manual 35 mm SLR camera. (D)

120. Re/Imaging Berlin. (3h) Students research the history, location and the creation of specific historical documents, such as the photographs from the airlift of 1948 and the film of President Kennedy’s (now cliché) “Ich bin ein Berliner” speech. Students travel to these sites on bicycle and re-photograph the area. Each student creates a body of images, which will be printed on a desktop inkjet printer for regular critiques. A short “German Language and Culture Survival” course is included. Offered in summer only in Berlin. (CD, D)

210. Topics in Studio Art. (3h) Used to designate studio art courses taken at other institutions. Studio art courses are determined by individual instructors in the following areas:

- a. Drawing
- b. Painting
- c. Printmaking
- d. Sculpture
- e. Photography
- f. Digital Art
- g. Special Topics

211. Intermediate Drawing. (3h) Emphasis on idea development in realistic and abstract styles in drawing and water color media. May be repeated. P—ART 111 or 118 or 218 or POI.

212. Painting II. (3h) Continuation of ART 112 with concentrated emphasis on conceptual development and technical exploration. Offered in the fall semester only. P—ART 112.

213. Painting III. (3h) Individualized course of study with emphasis on refining the skills and concepts developed in Painting II. May be repeated. Offered in fall semester only. P—ART 212.

214. Digital Art II. (3h) Continuation of critical and technical development of computer-generated art-making with a focus on strengthening aesthetic and technical skills using two-dimensional as well as time-based media such as video and sound. P—ART 114.

215. Public Art. (3h) Covers art that is sited in the public realm. Exercises with various sites, materials, and audiences culminate in a public project. Offered in fall semester, even years. P—ART 115 or POI.

216. Sculpture Fabrication. (3h) Fabrication of small scale sculpture using wood, fabric, and metal. Projects stress craftsmanship and imagination. Offered in spring semester, odd years. P—ART 115 or POI.

217. Intermediate Printmaking. (3h) Continuation of ART 117, with emphasis on idea development. May be repeated. P—ART 117.

218. Figure Drawing. (3h) Introduction to drawing the nude model using a variety of media and approaches. May be repeated once. P—Any 100 level course or POI.

219. Darkroom Photography. (3h) Further exploration of traditional black and white photography, camera techniques, aesthetic, and critical issues to increase the understanding of the contemporary photographic image. Not offered every semester. P—ART 119.

221. Advanced Drawing. (3h) Individual study with faculty guidance. May be repeated. P—ART 211.

222. Advanced Painting. (3h) Individual study with faculty guidance focusing on developing a body of work for exhibition. Covers various aspects of professional practice including artist statements and proposals, and portfolio development. May be repeated. Offered in spring semester only. P—ART 212.

224. Digital Art III. (3h) Continuation of digital art-making using selected digital media to create independent projects. Forms may include: interactive multimedia using both CD-ROM and the Internet, advanced digital image creation, animation, sound, and video. Emphasis is on development of personal aesthetics, technical excellence, and understanding of the contemporary issues of digital art-making. P—ART 214.
225. Bodies and Objects. (3h) Explores the social and psychological ramifications of making objects based on the body through casting and other techniques. Offered in fall semester, odd years. P—ART 115 or POI.

226. Sculpture Installation. (3h) Exercises to develop an understanding of material, process, and audience as they relate to contemporary sculpture. Major projects for the course are an installation and a design project. Offered in spring semester, even years. P—ART 115 or POI.

229. Digital Photography. (3h) Further exploration of digital photography camera techniques, digital printing, aesthetic, and critical issues to increase the understanding of the contemporary photographic image. Not offered every semester. P—ART 119 or POI.

239. Videography. (3h) Exploration of videography, DV camera techniques, digital editing, non-camera animation, aesthetic, and critical issues to increase the understanding of contemporary video art. Not offered every semester. P—ART 119 or POI.

2905. Printmaking Workshop. (3h) Workshop exploring relief, intaglio, lithography, and monotype techniques. Open to students at any skill level. Offered in the summer.

295. Studio Seminar. (1.5h, 3h) Offered by members of the faculty or visiting faculty on topics of their choice and related studio activities. P—POI.

Other Art Courses

291. Individual Study. (1.5h, 3h) Independent study with faculty guidance. P—POI.

293. Practicum. (3h) Internships in local cultural organizations, to be arranged and approved in advance by the art department. Pass/Fail. P—POI.

299. International Studies in Art. (3h) Offered by art department faculty in locations outside of the United States, on specific topics in art history or studio art. Offered in the summer. (D)

2320. English Art, Hogarth to the Present. (3h) Survey of English painting, sculpture, and architecture in the Georgian, Victorian, and modern periods. Slide lectures, student reports, museum visits, and lectures. Taught by a special lecturer. Offered in London. (D)

2693. Venetian Renaissance Art. (3h) Survey of the art of the Venetian Renaissance, with slide lectures and museum visits. Offered in Venice. (D)

2712. Studies in French Art. (3h) Lectures and field trips in French painting, sculpture, and architecture, concentrating on the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Offered in Dijon. (D)

2767. Austrian Art and Architecture. (3h) Study of the development of Austrian art and architecture and its relationship to European periods and styles. Includes visits to sites and museums. Offered in Vienna. (D)
The department offers programs leading to a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of science degree in biology. Sophomore students electing to major in biology should consult with a major adviser to determine which degree program would be most appropriate for their career objectives. The requirements for completion of each degree program are those in effect at the time of the declaration of the major, since the curriculum and the departmental requirements may change slightly during the student’s period of residence.

The requirements for both the BA and BS degree programs are a minimum of thirty-four hours in biology. A maximum of four hours of research in biology may be applied toward the major, but an additional four hours (BIO 393 and/or 394) may be taken and applied toward graduation as elective hours. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 on biology courses taken at Wake Forest is required for graduation with a major in biology. Prospective majors are strongly urged to select either BIO 112 or 113 as their first course in biology. BIO 213 and 214 are more advanced courses and should be taken after BIO 112 and 113. Most prospective majors also should take CHM 111 and 122 in their first year.

Students pursuing the bachelor of arts (BA) degree are required to take BIO 112, 113, 213, and 214 and at least two 300 level four-hour biology courses. Co-requirements for the BA degree include the following laboratory courses: CHM 111 and 122 and one additional course in mathematics or physical science.

Students pursuing the bachelor of science (BS) degree are required to take BIO 112, 113, 213, 214, a research experience (such as BIO 391 or an equivalent program approved by the major adviser) and at least two 300 level four-hour biology courses. Co-requirements for the BS degree include the following laboratory courses: CHM 111, 120 (or 223) and 122, PHY 113, 114 and one additional course in mathematics or physical sciences at the 200 level or above.
A minor in biology requires sixteen hours. Courses taken pass/fail cannot count toward a minor. A minimum overall grade point average of 2.0 must be earned on all Wake Forest biology courses taken to complete a minor. The requirements for the minor are those that are in effect at the time of the declaration of the minor, since the curriculum and the departmental requirements may change slightly during the student’s period of residence.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to apply for admission to the honors program in biology. To be graduated with the distinction “Honors in Biology,” a graduating student must have a minimum grade point average of 3.0 in all courses and a 3.3 in biology courses. In addition, the student must submit an honors paper describing his or her independent research project, written in the form of a scientific paper, which must be submitted to and approved by an advisory committee. Specific details regarding the honors program, including selecting an adviser and an advisory committee, deadlines, and writing of the honors thesis, may be obtained from the chair of the departmental Undergraduate Studies Committee.

Special Note. Students enrolled at Wake Forest may not take courses in biology at other institutions to satisfy divisional requirements.

101. Biology and the Human Condition. (4h) Introductory course that focuses on the relevance to society of recent breakthroughs in biology. Basic principles are covered. Emphasizes recent advances in biology placed in the context of their ethical, social, political, and economic implications. Intended for students with little or no previous experience in biology. Does not count toward the major or minor in biology. Lab—three hours. (D)

111. Biological Principles. (4h) Study of the general principles of living systems with focus on the cellular, organismal, and populational levels of biological organization, emphasizing the role of heredity and evolution in these systems. Intended for students with little or no previous experience in biology. Does not count toward the major or minor in biology. Lab—three hours. (D)

112. Comparative Physiology. (4h) Introduction to the form and function of organisms, with emphasis on physical principles, structural organization, and critical function of plants and animals. Intended as a beginning course in biology for prospective majors and for any students with adequate high school preparation in biology. Lab—three hours. (D)

113. Evolutionary and Ecological Biology. (4h) Introduction to the principles of genetics, ecology, and evolution as they apply to organisms, populations, and communities, with emphasis on evolutionary processes within an ecological context. Intended as a beginning course in biology for prospective majors and for any students with adequate high school preparation in biology. Lab—three hours. (D, QR)

137. Plants and People. (4h) Explores various associations between plants and people, their interrelationships, medical as well as ethical, and the impact of these interrelationships on various contemporary societies. Lab—three hours. (D)

213. Genetics and Molecular Biology. (4h) Introduction to the principles and processes of heredity, information flow, and gene function. Topics covered include Mendelian genetics, molecular genetics, and the origin of genetic variation. Lab—three hours.

214. Cellular Biology. (4h) Introduction to the principles and processes of cellular biology and their impact on organismal function. Topics include molecular organization of cellular structures, regulations of cellular functions, bioenergetics, and metabolism. Introduces cancer, immunology, and developmental biology. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and CHM 111, or POI.
216. Biodiversity. (4h) Introductory course that traces the history of life on earth and looks at its diversification in an evolutionary and ecological context. Lectures cover the mechanisms of biological diversification and surveys life on earth. Labs introduce students to the broad diversity of life through exercises with living organisms. Lab—three hours. (D)

301-306. Topics in Biology. (1-4h) Seminar and/or lecture courses in selected topics, some involving laboratory instruction. May be repeated if the course title differs.

307. Biophysics. (3h) Introduction to the structure, dynamic behavior, and function of DNA and proteins, and a survey of membrane biophysics. The physical principles of structure determination by X-ray, NMR, and optical methods are emphasized. Also listed as PHY 307. P—BIO 112 or 214, PHY 113, 114, or POI.

314. Evolution. (3h) Analysis of the theories, evidences, and mechanisms of evolution. P—BIO 112 and 113.

315. Population Genetics. (4h) Study of the amount and distribution of genetic variation in populations of organisms, and of how processes such as mutation, recombination, and selection affect genetic variation. Lectures present both an introduction to theoretical studies, and discussion of molecular and phenotypic variation in natural populations. Labs make use of computer modeling and simulation, and experiments using populations of fruitflies and other model organisms as appropriate. P—BIO 113 and 213. (QR)

317. Plant Physiology and Development. (3h) Lecture course examines the growth, development, and physiological processes of plants. Control of these processes is examined on genetic, biochemical, and whole plant levels. P—BIO 112, 213, and 214.

318. Plant Physiology and Development. (4h) Lecture and laboratory course examines the growth, development, and physiological processes of plants. Control of these processes is examined on genetic, biochemical, and whole plant levels. Labs consist of structured experiments and an independently designed research project. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112, 213, and 214.

320. Comparative Anatomy. (4h) Study of the vertebrate body from an evolutionary, functional, and developmental perspective. Labs emphasize structure and function, primarily through the dissection of representative vertebrates. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

321. Parasitology. (4h) Survey of protozoan, helminth, and arthropod parasites from the standpoint of morphology, taxonomy, life histories, and host/parasite relationships. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

322. Biomechanics. (4h) Analysis of the relationship between organismal form and function using principles from physics and engineering. Solid and fluid mechanics are employed to study design in living systems. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112.

323. Animal Behavior. (4h) Survey of laboratory and field research on animal behavior. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

324. Hormones and Behavior. (3h) Introduction to the hormonal regulation of behavior in a broad range of animals, including humans and invertebrates. Topics include reproductive behavior, parental behavior, social behavior, sex differences, aggressive behavior, stress, mood, and the regulation of molting in insects. P—BIO 112.
325. Chronobiology. (3h) Introduction to the field of biological rhythms, covering different types of rhythms, their evolution, and the mechanisms by which such rhythms are generated and regulated at the molecular, cellular, and system levels. P—BIO 213, 214, or POI.

326. Microbiology. (4h) Structure, function, and taxonomy of microorganisms with emphasis on bacteria. Topics include microbial ecology, industrial microbiology, and medical microbiology. Lab emphasizes microbial diversity through characterizations of isolates from nature. P—BIO 213 and 214; CHM 122.

331. Invertebrates. (4h) Systematic study of invertebrates, with emphasis on functional morphology, behavior, ecology, and phylogeny. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

333. Vertebrates. (4h) Systematic study of vertebrates, with emphasis on evolution, physiology, behavior, and ecology. Lab devoted to systematic, field, and experimental studies. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

335. Insect Biology. (4h) Study of the diversity, structure, development, physiology, behavior, and ecology of insects. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

335S. Insect Biology. (4h) A study of the diversity, structure, development, physiology, behavior, and ecology of one of the most diverse taxa on earth. Course location and field trip destinations to be announced each summer. Five-week course taught during the summer. P—POI.

338. Plant Systematics. (4h) Study of the diversity and evolution of flowering plants. Lectures emphasize the comparative study of selected plant families, their relationships and the use of new information and techniques to enhance our understanding of plant evolution. Labs emphasize more practical aspects of plant systematics such as the use of identification keys, recognition of common local plants, molecular techniques, and basic phylogenetic analysis.

339. Principles of Biosystematics. (4h) Exploration of the current theoretical and practical approaches to the study of macroevolution in plants and animals. Topics include theory and methods of constructing evolutionary trees, sources of data, and cladistic biogeography. Lab—three hours.

340. Ecology. (4h) Interrelationships among living systems and their environments; structure and dynamics of major ecosystem types; contemporary problems in ecology. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113. (QR)

341. Marine Biology. (4h) Introduction to the physical, chemical, and biological parameters affecting the distribution of marine organisms. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

342. Aquatic Ecology. (4h) Designed to cover the general principles and concepts of limnology and aquatic biology as they apply to lentic and lotic habitats. A major portion of the field study is centered at the Charles M. Allen Biological Station. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 113.

343. Tropical Ecology. (3h) Exploration of the ecology, biodiversity, history, and future of tropical ecosystems. Lectures emphasize ecological principles and rely heavily on the primary literature. An upper-level ecology course is recommended. P—BIO 112 and 113.

344S. Tropical Marine Ecology. (4h) Intensive field-oriented course focusing on tropical marine ecosystems and their biological communities. Emphasis is on biodiversity, the ecology of dominant taxa, the interactions between physical and biological processes, and the structure and function of representative communities. Includes 2.5 weeks at the Hofstra University Marine Laboratory, Jamaica. Offered in the summer only. P—Minimum of one year of college biology including BIO 113 and POI.

345. Neurobiology. (3h) Introduction to the structure and function of the nervous system including the neural basis of behavior. Anatomical, physiological, and neurochemical approaches are integrated in the study of the peripheral and central nervous systems. P—BIO 112 and 214.

346. Neurobiology. (4h) Introduction to the structure and function of the nervous system including the neural basis of behavior. Anatomical, physiological, and neurochemical approaches are integrated in the study of the peripheral and central nervous systems. Labs emphasize electrophysiological techniques with experiments from the cellular to the behavioral level. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 214.

347. Physiological Plant Ecology. (3h) Designed to provide a fundamental understanding of how plants have adapted to the stresses of their habitats, particularly in harsh or extreme environments such as deserts, the alpine, the arctic tundra, and tropical rain forests. P—BIO 112 and 113.

348. Physiological Plant Ecology. (4h) Designed to provide a fundamental understanding of how plants have adapted to the stresses of their habitats, particularly in harsh or extreme environments such as deserts, the alpine, the arctic tundra, and tropical rainforests. Labs introduce students to a broad array of field instrumentation. P—BIO 112 and 113. (QR)

349S. Tropical Biodiversity. (4h) Intensive field course in tropical biodiversity. Students travel to major tropical biomes, including deserts, glaciated peaks, and rain forests. Lectures emphasize the basic ecological principles important in each ecosystem; laboratories consist of student-designed field projects. Course location varies yearly. Offered in the summer only. P—BIO 112 and 113 and POI.

350. Conservation Biology. (3h) Lectures, readings, and discussions examining biological resources, their limitations and methods for sustainability. Genetic, aquatic, terrestrial, and ecosystem resources are examined. P—BIO 113.

351. Vertebrate Physiology. (4h) Lecture and laboratory course examining regulatory principles, integration in the nervous system and the physiology of the cardiovascular, respiratory, and renal systems of vertebrates. P—BIO 112 and 214.

352. Developmental Neuroscience. (4h) Focuses on the development of neural structures and the plasticity of the mature nervous system. Attention is given to experimental model systems, particularly Drosophila melanogaster. The laboratory features molecular, immunocytochemical, and cell culture techniques for the study of neurons. P—BIO 213 and 214.

354. Vertebrate Endocrinology. (3h) Lecture course that considers the evolution of the endocrine glands and hormones and the physiology of the main hormonal pathways of vertebrates. P—BIO 112 and 214.

355. Avian Biology. (4h) Lecture and laboratory course emphasizing ecological and evolutionary influences on the physiology, behavior, and population biology of birds. Includes taxonomy of the world’s major bird groups. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 113.

359. Genomics. (3h) Introduction to the acquisition, analysis, and utility of DNA sequence information. Topics include structural, comparative, and functional genomics, genetic mapping, bioinformatics, and proteomics. P—BIO 213.
360. Development. (4h) Description of the major events and processes of animal development, with an analysis of the causal factors underlying them. Attention is given to the embryonic development of vertebrates, but consideration is also given to other types of development and other organisms. Topics include fertilization, early development, growth and cell division, cell differentiation, the role of genes in development, cell interaction, morphogenesis, regeneration, birth defects, and cancer. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112 and 214.

361. Microbial Pathogenesis. (3h) Explores the molecular mechanisms by which microorganisms attack hosts, how hosts defend against pathogens, and how these interactions cause disease. P—BIO 112, 214, and POI.

362. Immunology. (3h) Study of the components and protective mechanisms of the immune system. P—BIO 112 and 214.

363. Sensory Biology. (3h) Lecture course with emphasis on sensory physiology and other aspects of sensory systems, e.g. molecular biology and anatomy. Credit not allowed for BIO 363, 363S, and 364. P—BIO 112 and 214.

363S. Sensory Biology. (3h) Lecture course with emphasis on sensory physiology and other aspects of sensory systems, e.g. molecular biology and anatomy. Credit not allowed for BIO 363, 363S, and 364. Offered in the summer only. Taught in Ljubljana, Slovenia. P—BIO 112 and 214 and POI.

364. Sensory Biology. (4h) Lecture and laboratory course with emphasis on sensory physiology and other aspects of sensory systems, e.g. molecular biology and anatomy. Credit not allowed for BIO 363, 363S, and 364. P—BIO 112 and 214.

365. Biology of the Cell. (4h) Lecture and laboratory course on classic experiments and recent advances in cell biology. Lectures emphasize analysis and interpretation of experimental data in the primary literature, focusing on topics such as the targeting of macromolecules, cell-cell communication, and the control of cell division. The text for this course consists of papers that have led to the Nobel Prize in Physiology and Medicine and more current work using biological tools. The lab introduces basic techniques in cell biology and leads to an independent project. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112, 213, and 214.

365S. Biology of the Cell. (3h) Lecture course with emphasis on cellular biology and reading of the primary literature. Offered in the summer only. Taught in Ljubljana, Slovenia. P—BIO 213, 214 and POI.

367. Virology. (3h) Designed to introduce students to viruses, viral/host interactions, pathogenicity, methods of control and their use in molecular biology, including gene therapy. P—BIO 112, 213, and 214.

368. The Cell Biological Basis of Disease. (3h) Examines some of the defects in basic cellular mechanisms that are responsible for many diseases. P—BIO 112 and 214.

369. The Cell Biological Basis of Disease. (4h) Examines some of the defects in basic cellular mechanisms that are responsible for many diseases. The labs use advanced microscopic and histological techniques to investigate basic properties of cells. P—BIO 112 and 214.
370. Biochemistry: Macromolecules and Metabolism. (3h) Lecture course introducing the principles of biochemistry with an emphasis on the experimental approaches that elucidated these principles. Topics include structure, function, and biosynthesis of biological molecules, analysis of enzyme function and activity, bioenergetics, and regulation of metabolic pathways. Also listed as CHM 370. P—two of CHM 223, CHM 280 and BIO 214; or POI.

370L. Biochemistry: Macromolecules and Metabolism. (1h) Laboratory course introducing the principles of biochemistry with an emphasis on the experimental approaches that elucidated these principles. Topics include structure, function, and biosynthesis of biological molecules, analysis of enzyme function and activity, bioenergetics, and regulation of metabolic pathways. Labs emphasize approaches for isolation and analysis of proteins and enzymes. Also listed as CHM 370L. P—two of CHM 223, CHM 280 and BIO 214; or POI. C or P—BIO 370.

372. Molecular Biology. (4h) Analysis of the molecular mechanisms by which stored genetic information directs cellular development. Emphasis is on storage and transmission of genetic information, regulation of gene expression, and the role of these processes in development. Labs focus on modern techniques of recombinant DNA analysis. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112, 213, and 214.

377. Community Ecology. (4h) Advanced ecology course covering mechanisms that determine the dynamics and distribution of plant and animal assemblages: life-history, competition, predation, geology, climate, soils, and history. Lectures focus on ecological principles and theory. Labs include local field trips and discussion of the primary literature. Several weekend field trips. Lab—three hours. P—BIO 112, 113, and 214. (QR)

378. Biogeography. (3h) Study of geographical, historical and ecological influences on the distribution, movements and diversity of organisms. Seminar relies on extensive reading, film, and map work as a basis of class discussions. P—BIO 112, 113.

380. Biostatistics. (3h) Introduction to statistical methods used by biologists, including descriptive statistics, hypothesis-testing, analysis of variance, and regression and correlation. A student who receives credit for this course may not also receive credit for ANT 380, BUS 201, HES 262, or SOC 371. (QR)

381. Biostatistics Laboratory. (1h) Application of computer-based statistical software. May not be used to satisfy one of the three 300-level four-hour courses required for the major if paired with BIO 380. (QR if paired with 380)

385. Oceanography. (3h) Introduction to geological, chemical, physical, and biological oceanography taught at the Sea Education Association program at Woods Hole, MA. P—Admission to the Sea Education Association program and approval of departmental chair and/or his or her designate.

386. Practical Oceanography. (4h) A two-part lecture/laboratory course offered at sea in which students observe and apply in the field the concepts and sampling techniques introduced in the shore component. Part of the Sea Education Association program taught at Woods Hole, MA. P—Admission to the Sea Education Association program and approval of departmental chair and/or his or her designate.
391, 392. Research in Biology. (2h, 2h) Independent library and laboratory investigation carried out under the supervision of a member of the staff. P—POI. Pass/Fail or for grade at discretion of the instructor.*

393, 394. Research in Biology. (2h, 2h) Designed for students who wish to continue research projects beyond BIO 391 and 392. Not to be counted toward major.* P—POI. Pass/Fail option.

396. Biomedical Ethics. (3h) Lectures and seminars examining contemporary issues in biomedical ethics including the proper role of biomedical research and current controversies in health care and medical practice. P—BIO 112 and 214.

Visiting Assistant Professors Charles E. Ebert, John Tomlinson

The department offers programs leading to the BA and BS degrees in chemistry. The BS degrees are certified by the American Chemical Society. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in the first two years of chemistry is required of students who elect to major in the department. Admission to any class is contingent upon satisfactory grades in prerequisite courses, and registration for advanced courses must be approved by the department. Candidates for either the BA or BS degree with a major in chemistry must have a minimum grade point average of 2.0 in their chemistry courses numbered 200 or above. Unless otherwise stated, all chemistry courses are open to chemistry majors on a letter-grade basis only (even those courses not required for the major). Majors are required to complete on a letter-grade basis the required physics, biology, and mathematics courses.

The department will accept transfer courses completed by incoming transfer students provided that those courses were taken only at four-year colleges and universities that offer a major in chemistry. These courses must be equivalent in content and level to courses offered at Wake Forest (as judged by a departmental curriculum committee). Courses taken in summer school elsewhere, or in Wake Forest University study abroad programs, must meet these same criteria and receive pre-approval. Advanced courses, 300-level and above, are typically not transferable. Students enrolled at Wake Forest may not take courses in chemistry at other institutions to satisfy divisional requirements.

* The same numbered course cannot be repeated. Subsequent courses should be taken in consecutive order.
The bachelor of science degree in chemistry requires 40.5 hours in chemistry and must include the following courses (and corequisite labs): 111, 122 or 123, 223, 280, 334, 341, 344, 361; also 370, 381, 382, 391 (or 392); one of the following courses: 356/357, 364, or 372; MTH 111, 112 and 205; and PHY 111 or 113, and 114. The BS program is designed for those students who plan a career in chemistry at the bachelor or advanced degree level.

The bachelor of science degree in chemistry with concentration in biochemistry requires a minimum of 37.5 hours in chemistry and must include the following courses (and corequisite labs): 111, 122 or 123, 223, 280, 334, 341, 361, 370; also 372, 381, 382, 391 (or 392); BIO 112, 213, 214; MTH 111, 112; PHY 111 or 113, and 114; and one additional 300-level elective in either biology or chemistry.

The bachelor of science degree in chemistry with concentration in materials chemistry requires a minimum of 41.5 hours in chemistry and must include the following courses (and corequisite labs): 111, 122 or 123, 223, 280, 334, 341, 344, 361, 364; also 370, 381, 382, 391 (or 392); one of the following courses: CHM 356/357, PHY 354, or PHY 391; MTH 111, 112, and 205; and PHY 111 or 113, and 114.

The bachelor of arts degree in chemistry requires a minimum of 28.5 hours in chemistry and includes the following courses (and corequisite labs): 111, 122 or 123, 280, 341; three of the following courses (and corequisite labs): 223, 334, 342 (or 344), 361, 370; one of the following courses: 381, 382, 391 or 392; MTH 111, 112; and PHY 111 or 113. The BA degree program is designed for those students who do not plan to do graduate work in the physical sciences but desire a stronger background in chemistry than is provided in the chemistry minor program.

The bachelor of arts degree in chemistry with concentration in biochemistry and biophysics requires a minimum of 31.5 hours in chemistry and must include the following courses (and corequisite labs): 111, 122 or 123, 223, 280, 341, 370; also 391 or 392 (may substitute PHY 381 or 382 or BIO 391, 392, 393, or 394); two electives from 334, 342, 361, 364, 372; two electives from BIO 112, 213, 214; MTH 111, 112; PHY 111 or 113, 114; 215; and one elective from PHY 307/325, 320/323.

A minor in chemistry requires nineteen hours in chemistry and must include at least one of the following: 334, 341, 356/357, 361, 364, or 370. The department will not accept courses taken pass/fail to count toward the minor.

Honors. Qualified majors are considered for honors in chemistry. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Chemistry,” a student must have a minimum grade point average in chemistry courses of 3.3 and a minimum overall grade point average of 3.0. In addition, the honors candidate must satisfactorily complete an approved research project, prepare a paper describing the project, and present results at a seminar for departmental approval. For additional information, members of the departmental faculty should be consulted.

The Health Professions Program at Wake Forest recommends that students take the following chemistry courses and their corequisite labs before the end of the third year: 111, 122 or 123, 223, 280. Students interested in this track should see the Health Professions Program adviser for more information.

Variations in the schedules above are possible to accommodate study abroad and other special circumstances, in which case, the student should consult a member of the faculty in chemistry.
108. Everyday Chemistry. (4h) Introduction to chemistry for non-science majors. Laboratory covers experimental aspects of topics discussed in lecture. Does not count towards the major or minor in chemistry. Lab—two hours. (D, QR)

*111. College Chemistry I. (3h) Fundamental chemical principles. C—CHM 111L. (D, QR)

*111L. College Chemistry I Lab. (1h) Laboratory covers experimental aspects of basic concepts. Lab—three hours. C—CHM 111.

120. Physics and Chemistry of the Environment. (4h) Covers the basic physical and chemical processes in the earth’s atmosphere, biosphere and the oceans. It consists of two parts: 1) chemical processes in the environment such as element cycles and the chemistry of the pollutants in air and water and, 2) physical aspects of the environment such as solar energy and the atmosphere, and the physics of weather and climate. Lab—three hours. Also listed as PHY 120. (D, QR)

*122. Organic Chemistry I. (3h) Principles and reactions of organic chemistry. Students may not receive credit for both CHM 122 and CHM 123. P—CHM 111. C—CHM 122L. (D)

*122L. Organic Chemistry I Lab. (1h) Lab—four hours. P—CHM 111. C—CHM 122.

*123L. Organic Chemistry I Honors Lab. (1h) Lab—four hours. P—CHM 111. C—CHM 123.

*128L. Organic Chemistry II Lab. (1h) Lab—four hours. P—CHM 122. C—CHM 223.

280. College Chemistry II. (3h) Advanced study of fundamental chemical principles. P—CHM 111.

280L. Theory and Methods of Quantitative Analysis Lab. (1h) Laboratory emphasizes technique development for accuracy and precision. Lab—four hours. C or P—CHM 280.

301, 302. Elective Research. (0h, 0h) P—POI.

334. Chemical Analysis. (4h) Theoretical and practical applications of modern methods of chemical analysis. Lab—four hours (CHM 334L). P—CHM 341, 341L, or POI.

*341. Physical Chemistry I. (3h) Fundamentals of thermodynamics and phenomenological kinetics, and introductory computational methods. Also listed as PHY 341. P—CHM 260, PHY 111 or 113, and 114. P or C—MTH 112. C—CHM 341L (PHY 113, with POI).

*341L. Physical Chemistry I Lab. (1h) Lab—four hours. P—CHM 260, MTH 111, PHY 113-114. C—CHM 341, MTH 112.

*342L. Physical Chemistry IIA Lab. (1h) Lab—four hours. P—CHM 341, MTH 111-112, PHY 113-114. C—CHM 342 or 344.

* The lecture and corresponding lab are strict corequisites of each other. A student must register for both during the same semester. (However, either can be repeated independently if the student wishes.)
*344. Physical Chemistry IIB. (3h) Fundamentals of quantum mechanics, statistical thermodynamics, and introductory computational methods. Lab—four hours. P—CHM 341, MTH 111-112 and 205; and PHY 113-114. C—CHM 342L, (PHY 114, MTH 205 with POI).

356, 357. Chemical Spectroscopy. (1.5h, 1.5h) Fundamental aspects of the theory and application of chemical spectroscopy, as found in the areas of analytical, inorganic, organic, physical, and biological chemistry. Emphasis varies. Seven-week courses. May be repeated for credit. P—CHM 342 or 344, or POI.

*361. Inorganic Chemistry. (3h) Principles and reactions of inorganic chemistry. P—CHM 341. C—CHM 361L or POI.

*361L. Inorganic Chemistry Lab. (1h) Lab—four hours. P—CHM 341. C—CHM 361.

364. Materials Chemistry. (3h) A survey of inorganic-, organic-, bio-, and nano-materials, including hybrid materials and applications. P—CHM 341 or POI.

364L. Materials Chemistry Lab. (1h) Synthesis of inorganic and organic based materials and their characterization. Lab—four hours. P or C—CHM 364.

370. Biochemistry: Macromolecules and Metabolism. (3h) Lecture course introducing the principles of biochemistry including structure, function, and biosynthesis of biological molecules, analysis of enzyme function and activity, bioenergetics, and regulation of metabolic pathways. Also listed as BIO 370. P—two of CHM 223, CHM 280, and BIO 214; or POI.

370L. Biochemistry: Macromolecules and Metabolism Lab. (1h) Laboratory emphasizes approaches for isolation and analysis of proteins and enzymes. Also listed as BIO 370L. P—two of CHM 223, CHM 280, and BIO 214; or POI. C or P—CHM 370.

372. Biochemistry: Protein and Nucleic Acid Structure and Function. (3h) Special topics in biochemistry, including catalytic mechanisms of enzymes and ribozymes, use of sequence and structure databases, and molecular basis of disease and drug action. P—CHM 223 and 370 (or BIO 370).

381, 382. Chemistry Seminar and Literature. (.5h, .5h) Discussions of contemporary research and introduction to the chemical literature and acquisition of chemical information. P—CHM 122 or 123.

391, 392. Undergraduate Research. (1.5h, 1.5h) Undergraduate research. Lab—eight hours. May be repeated for credit.

* The lecture and corresponding lab are strict corequisites of each other. A student must register for both during the same semester. (However, either can be repeated independently if the student wishes.)
The Department of Classical Languages offers majors and minors in three areas: Greek, Latin, and classical studies. The department also offers courses in Modern Standard Arabic language and conversation, and Arabic literature.

A major in Greek requires twenty-seven hours in the department beyond Greek 112. Twenty-one of these hours must be in Greek courses; Greek 225 and CLA 275 are required.

A minor in Greek requires fifteen hours: Greek 153; two 200-level courses in Greek; CLA 275; and one additional course in Greek (200-level), Latin, or classics.

A major in Latin requires twenty-seven hours in the department beyond Latin 153. Eighteen of these hours must be in Latin courses; Latin 250 and CLA 276 are required.

A minor in Latin requires fifteen hours: three 200-level courses in Latin; CLA 276; and one additional course in Greek, Latin (200-level), or classics.

A major in classical studies requires thirty hours. A minimum of twenty-four hours must be taken in the department. The following are required:

a. One 200-level course in Greek or Latin (prerequisites to this course do not count toward the thirty required hours);

b. CLA 275 and CLA 276;

c. CLA 281;

d. At least one course from the following: ART 241. (Ancient Art); ART 244. (Greek Art); ART 245. (Roman Art); HST 308. (Alexander the Great); PHI 232. (Ancient Greek Philosophy); PHI 331. (Plato); PHI 332. (Aristotle); POL 271. (Classical Political Thought); REL 314. (Ancient Israel and Her Neighbors). Other courses may be substituted by permission of the department.

A minor in classical studies requires a minimum of eighteen hours in the department, of which no more than seven may be in Greek or Latin courses. CLA 275 or 276 and CLA 281 are required.

The requirements for certification to teach Latin in high school are the same as the requirements for a major in Latin. A major in classical studies may serve as an appropriate part of the program of studies required for certification to teach Latin in high school. A student wishing to secure this certification should confer with the chair of the department.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to participate in the honors program in Latin, Greek, or classical studies. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Latin,” “Honors in Greek,” or “Honors in Classical Studies,” a student must complete an honors research project and pass a comprehensive oral examination. For additional information, members of the departmental faculty should be consulted. (Refer to the section “Honors Study” in this bulletin for minimum college requirements.)

Greek

111, 112. Elementary Greek. (4h, 4h) Introduction to the language; provides a foundation for reading the ancient authors.

153. Intermediate Greek. (3h) Review of grammar; readings in classical authors. P—Greek 112 or equivalent.

211. Plato. (3h) Selections from the dialogues of Plato. P—Greek 153 or equivalent.

212. Homer. (3h) Selections from the Iliad and the Odyssey. P—Greek 153 or equivalent.

221. Greek Readings. (1.5h or 3h) Designed to meet individual needs and interests. Course may be repeated for a total of six credit hours. P—POI.

225. Advanced Grammar and Composition. (3h) Intensive work in morphology and syntax, with practice in composition and stylistic analysis of selected readings. P—Greek 200-level or equivalent.

241. Greek Tragedy. (3h) Close study of a selected tragedy or tragedies. Includes consideration of the origin and history of Greek tragedy, with collateral reading of other tragedies in English translation. Seminar. P—Greek 200-level or equivalent.

242. Greek Comedy. (3h) Close study of a selected comedy or comedies of Aristophanes. Includes consideration of the origin and history of Greek comedy, with collateral reading of other comedies in English translation. Seminar. P—Greek 200-level or equivalent.

291, 292. Honors in Greek. (1.5h, 1.5h) Directed research for honors paper. P—POD.

Latin

111, 112. Elementary Latin. (3h, 3h) Introduction to the language; provides a foundation for reading in the ancient authors.

113. Intensive Elementary Latin. (4h) Introduction to the language; covers the material of Latin 111 and 112 in one semester. Not open to students who have had Latin 111 or 112.

120. Reading Medieval Latin. (1.5h, 3h) Introduction to post-classical Latin with readings in selected works from late antiquity and the Middle Ages. P—Latin 112 or equivalent.

211. Introduction to Latin Poetry. (3h) Readings from selected poets mainly of the late Republic and early Empire, with an introduction to literary criticism. P—Latin 153 or equivalent.

212. Introduction to Latin Prose. (3h) Readings primarily from the works of Cicero, with attention to their artistry and historical context. P—Latin 153 or equivalent.
216. Roman Lyric Poetry. (3h) Interpretation and evaluation of lyric poetry through readings from the poems of Catullus and Horace. P—Latin 153 or equivalent.

218. Roman Epic Poetry. (3h) Readings in the epics of Virgil and Ovid, with attention to their position in the epic tradition. P—Latin 153 or equivalent.

221. Roman Historians. (3h) Readings in the works of Sallust, Livy, or Tacitus, with attention to the historical background and the norms of ancient historiography. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

225. Roman Epistolography. (3h) Selected readings from the correspondence of Cicero and Pliny the Younger and the verse epistles of Horace and Ovid. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

226. Roman Comedy. (3h) Readings of selected comedies of Plautus and Terence, with a study of the traditions of comedy and dramatic techniques. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

231. Roman Elegy. (3h) Readings from the poems of Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid, with study of the elegiac tradition. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

241. Roman Satire. (3h) Selected readings from Horace and Juvenal, with attention to the origin and development of hexameter satire. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

243. Latin Readings. (1.5h or 3h) Designed to meet individual needs and interests. Course may be repeated for a total of six credit hours. P—POI.

250. Advanced Grammar and Composition. (3h) Intensive work in morphology and syntax, with practice in composition and stylistic analysis of selected readings. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

260. Seminar in Latin Poetry. (3h) Advanced study in selected authors and topics. A research paper is required. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

280. Seminar in Latin Prose. (3h) Advanced study in selected authors and topics. A research paper is required. P—Latin 200-level or equivalent.

Arabic

111, 112. Elementary Arabic. (3h, 3h) A two-semester course designed for students with no knowledge of the language. Focuses on developing proficiency in reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills in Modern Standard Arabic. Introduction to Arabic script and basic grammar, with oral and written drills and reading of simple texts.

153. Intermediate Arabic. (4h) Review of grammar and focus on the acquisition of more complex grammatical structures, vocabulary building, and expansion of reading, writing, and listening skills in Modern Standard Arabic. P—Arabic 112

213. Introduction to Arabic Literature. (3h) Reading of selected texts in Arabic, ranging from the Quran to medieval fiction, nonfiction works, and modern short stories, for the purpose of building vocabulary and reading skills, expanding knowledge of grammatical structures, and deepening cultural understanding. P—Arabic 153 or equivalent.
218. Basic Arabic Conversation. (1.5h or 3h) A language course based on cultural material intended to develop students’ aural skills and oral proficiency in Modern Standard Arabic by increasing vocabulary and reinforcing command of grammar. P—Arabic 153 or equivalent.

288. Arabic Individual Study. (1.5h or 3h) Course may be repeated for a total of six credit hours. P—POI.

Classics

151. Ethics in Greece and Rome. (1.5h) Reading and discussion of Aristotle’s Ethics and Cicero’s On Moral Duties, with attention to our own ethical dilemmas. A knowledge of the Greek and Latin languages is not required.

252. Women in Antiquity. (3h) Explores the place of women in Greek and Roman society through the study of a wide range of primary sources, literary and non-literary. A knowledge of the Greek and Latin languages is not required. (CD)

255. Classical Epic: Iliad, Odyssey, Aeneid. (3h) Study of the three principal epic poems from ancient Greece and Rome. A knowledge of the Greek and Latin languages is not required. (D)

259. Virgil and His English Legacy. (3h) Study of Virgil’s Eclogues, Georgics, and selected passages of the Aeneid, and their influence on English literature, using translations and original works by writers of the sixteenth through the eighteenth centuries, including Spenser, Marlowe, Milton, Dryden, and Pope. Knowledge of Latin is not required. Also listed as ENG 319.

261. Greek Myth. (3h) Consideration, principally through close study of selected literary works, of Greek myth in its various forms, primary (archaic and classical periods) and secondary (Hellenistic and Roman); the course also considers Greek myth’s afterlife in the modern period. A knowledge of the Greek language is not required. (D)

263. Greek Tragedy. (3h) Study of the plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. A knowledge of the Greek language is not required. (D)

264. Greek and Roman Comedy. (3h) Representative works of Aristophanes, Menander, Plautus, and Terence, with attention to the origins and development of comedy. A knowledge of the Greek and Latin languages is not required. (D)

274. Special Topics. (1.5-3h) Special topics in classical literature and culture. May be repeated for credit.

275. The Age of Pericles. (3h) Study of Greek culture in all its aspects during the fifth century. A knowledge of the Greek language is not required. (CD)

276. The Age of Augustus. (3h) Study of Roman culture in all its aspects during the early Empire. A knowledge of the Latin language is not required. (CD)

281. Seminar in Classical Studies. (3h) Offered by members of the faculty on topics of their choice. A knowledge of Greek and Latin languages is not required. May be repeated for credit. P—Any CLA 200-level course.

285. Interdisciplinary Seminar in the Greco-Roman World. (3h) Seminar designed specially to meet the needs of students earning the interdisciplinary minor in early Christian studies, but is not limited to them. Explores, from various points of view, the culture of the Mediterranean world from which Christianity was born and grew: literature and art, history and economics, religions and philosophies. Also listed on as REL 285. Course may be repeated for credit.

288. Individual Study. (1.5h or 3h) Course may be repeated for a total of six hours. P—POI.

291, 292. Honors in Classical Studies. (1.5h, 1.5h) Directed research for the honors paper. P—POD.

Chair Randall Rogan
Reynolds Professor of Film Studies Peter Brunette University Distinguished Chair in Communication Ethics and Professor of Communication Michael J. Hyde

Professors Peter Brunette, Michael David Hazen, Ananda Mitra, Randall G. Rogan

Associate Professors Mary M. Dalton, Marina Krcmar, John T. Llewellyn, Allan D. Louden, Margaret D. Zulick

Assistant Professors Alessandra Beasley, Steven M. Giles, Donald Helme

Visiting Instructor Melody van Lidth de Jeude

Adjunct Assistant Professor Dee Oseroff-Varnell, Linda Petrout

Lecturer Max Negin

Instructor Ernest S. Jarrett

Adjunct Instructors Connie Chesner, Susan L. Faust, Nicole Anne Rodriguez-Pastor, Ross Smith

Debate Coach Ross K. Smith

A major in communication requires thirty hours, at least twelve of which must be at the 300-level. All majors are required to take courses 100, 110 or 102, 220 and 225 and should begin their study of communication with these courses. An overall minimum grade point average of 2.0 in all communication courses attempted is required for graduation.

The Department of Communication offers its majors the opportunity to concentrate in special areas of study. Communication majors may choose to concentrate in communication science, media studies, or rhetorical studies. Students may also opt to choose courses across the concentrations as a general communication major.

In addition to the major course requirements, COM 100, 110 or 102, 220, and 225, students who want to declare a concentration must successfully complete five courses within a particular concentration. Students may declare two concentrations within the department. The major course requirements remain in effect for those students, and they must take a minimum of eighteen hours at the 300-level. Students may not count courses used to meet the required five courses within a particular concentration to fulfill requirements for a second concentration.

A list of courses approved to fulfill the concentrations in communication science, media studies, and rhetorical studies is maintained by the communication department. Students declaring a concentration must do so prior to the beginning of their final semester.

A minor in communication requires eighteen hours, at least three of which must be at the 300-level, and shall include courses 100, 110 or 102, and 220 or 225. An overall minimum grade point average of 2.0 in all communication courses attempted is required for graduation.

Students may enroll in up to three hours of practicum in any semester. For three hours of internship credit, students need a minimum of 120 on-site contact hours; applications for three hours of practicum in one semester need to be approved by a faculty supervisor, the internship director, and/or the director of undergraduate studies. Students can earn a maximum of six hours practicum, only three hours of which may be counted toward a major in communication. Communication 280 and 281 are open to majors and minors only who satisfy departmental requirements.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to apply for admission to the honors program in communication. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Communication,” students must pass the departmental honors courses (398 and 399), complete a senior research project, and satisfactorily defend their work in an oral examination. For more details, consult faculty members in the department.

Finally, no student may take more than a total of six hours in COM 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, and 285 combined, and only three hours may count toward a major in communication.

100. Introduction to Communication and Rhetoric. (3h) Introduction to the theories, research, and analysis of verbal and nonverbal processes by which human beings share meanings and influence one another. (D)

102. Debate and Advocacy. (3h) The use of argumentative techniques in oral advocacy: research, speeches, and debate. (D)

110. Public Speaking. (3h) Study of the theory and practice of public address. Lab experiences in the preparation, delivery, and critique of informative and persuasive speeches. (D)

113. Interpersonal Communication. (3h) Introduction to interpersonal communication theory, research and principles. (D)

114. Group Communication. (3h) Introduction to the theory and practice of group interaction and decision-making. Features lectures and discussions of theory and includes opportunities to participate in formal and informal group processes. (D)

116. On-Camera Performance. (3h) Introduces students to the theory and practice of performing for the camera. Covers basic method acting, newscasting, and other performance formats. Also listed as THE 141.

117. Writing for Public Relations and Advertising. (1.5h, 3h) Principles and techniques of public relations and applied advertising. Students use case studies to develop public relations and advertising strategies. Also listed as JOU 286. P—POI.

140. Information and Disinformation on the Internet. (1.5h) Examination of information gathering practices on the Internet and World Wide Web. Students develop and apply standards for evaluating information through analysis of Web sites dealing with important and controversial topics.

212. Introduction to Production and Theory. (3h) Introduction to the theory and practice of media production, including critical and aesthetic theories, scriptwriting, producing, directing, photography, sound recording, editing, and standards of operation for the production facilities and equipment. This course is a prerequisite for 213, 214, 215, and 310.

213. Media Production: Documentary. (3h) Introduction to the theory and practice of producing nonfiction works in film or video, including conventional documentary forms and autobiographical or experimental works. P—COM 212.
214. Media Production: Narrative. (3h) Introduction to the theory and practice of producing narrative works in film and video. P—COM 212.

215. Broadcast Journalism. (3h) Introduction to the theory and practice of broadcast journalism. Topics include ethics, technology, and the media as industry, and projects address writing, producing, and performing for radio and television. P—COM 212.

216. Media Production: Studio. (3h) Introduction to the theory and practice of producing studio programs in video. P—COM 212.

220. Empirical Research in Communication. (3h) Introduction to methodological design and univariate statistics as used in communication research. (QR)

225. Historical/Critical Research in Communication. (3h) Introduces students to the historical and critical analysis of rhetoric. Examines current methods of rhetorical criticism with a view to researching and composing a critical paper in the field.

245. Introduction to Mass Communication. (3h) A historical survey of mass media and an examination of major contemporary media issues. Also listed as JOU 275. (D)

246. Introduction to Film. (3h) Introduction to the aesthetics of motion pictures through a study of the basic elements of film such as cinematography, editing, sound, lighting, and color. (D)

270. Special Seminar. (1-3h) Examination of selected topics in communication.

280. Communication Internship I. (1.5h) Individual communication internships to be approved, supervised, and evaluated by an appropriate faculty adviser. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

281. Communication Internship II. (1.5h) Individual communication internships to be approved, supervised, and evaluated by an appropriate faculty adviser. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

282. Debate Practicum I. (1.5h) Individual projects in debate to be approved, supervised, and evaluated by an appropriate faculty adviser. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

283. Debate Practicum II. (1.5h) Individual projects in debate to be approved, supervised, and evaluated by an appropriate faculty adviser. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

284. Production Practicum I. (1.5h) Individual projects or collaborations with appropriate professionals in media production to be approved, supervised, and evaluated by a faculty adviser. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

285. Production Practicum II. (1.5h) Individual projects or collaborations with appropriate professionals in media production to be approved, supervised, and evaluated by a faculty adviser. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

286. Individual Study. (1-3h) Directed study in an area of interest to be approved and supervised by a faculty adviser. P—POI.
287. Research Practicum I. (1.5h) Credit opportunities for students to collaborate with faculty on research projects. Awards credit to students assisting faculty with research initiatives led by the faculty. Projects may be short term, culminating in presentation or publication, or longitudinal, where the student participates in an on-going effort. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

288. Research Practicum II. (1.5) Awards credits to students assisting faculty with research initiatives led by the faculty. Projects may be short term, culminating in presentation or publication, or longitudinal, where the student participates in an on-going effort. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

300. Classical Rhetoric. (3h) Study of major writings in Greek and Roman rhetorical theory from the Sophists to Augustine. Offered in alternate years.

301. Semantics and Language in Communication. (3h) Study of how meaning is created by sign processes. Among the topics studied are language theory, semiotics, speech act theory, and pragmatics. Also listed as LIN 301.

302. Argumentation Theory. (3h) Examination of argumentation theory and criticism; examines both theoretical issues and social practices. Offered in alternate years.

303S. Directing the Forensic Program. (1.5h, 3h) Pragmatic study of the methods of directing high school and college forensics with work in the High School Debate Workshop. Offered in the summer.

304. Freedom of Speech. (3h) Examination of the philosophical and historical traditions, significant cases, and contemporary controversies concerning freedom of expression. Offered in alternate years.

305. Communication and Ethics. (3h) Study of the role of communication in ethical controversies.

306. Seminar in Rhetorical Theory: Burke & Bakhtin. (3h) Examines the language theories of Kenneth Burke and Mikhail Bakhtin in relation to contemporary rhetorical theory.

310. Advanced Media Production. (3h) Students produce advanced projects in either film or video over which they assume significant creative control. P—COM 212 and at least one of 213, 214, or 215.

311. Film Theory and Criticism. (3h) Critical study of film through an analysis of selected theories, filmmakers, and film texts. P—COM 246 or POI.

312. Film History to 1945. (3h) Survey of the developments of motion pictures to 1945. Includes lectures, readings, reports, and screenings.

313. Film History since 1945. (3h) Survey of the development of motion pictures from 1946 to the present day. Includes lectures, readings, reports, and screenings.

314. Mass Communication Theory. (3h) Theoretical approaches to the role of communication in reaching mass audiences and its relationship to other levels of communication. P—COM 245.

315. Communication and Technology. (3h) Exploration of how communication technologies influence the social, political, and organizational practices of everyday life.

316. Screenwriting. (3h) Introduction to narrative theory as well as examination of the role of the screenwriter in the motion picture industry, the influence of genre on screenwriting, and exploration of nontraditional narrative structures. Students complete an original, feature-length screenplay.
317. Communication and Popular Culture. (3h) Explores the relationship between contemporary media and popular culture from a cultural studies perspective using examples from media texts.

330. Communication and Conflict. (3h) Review of the various theoretical perspectives on conflict and negotiation as well as methods for managing relational conflict.

331. Communication, Terrorism, and Hostage Negotiation. (3h) Examines domestic and international terrorism as grounded in extant communication theory, with emphasis on explicating the role that communication plays in current conceptualizations and responses to terrorism.

335. Survey of Organizational Communication. (3h) Overview of the role of communication in constituting and maintaining the pattern of activities that sustain the modern organization.

336. Organizational Rhetoric. (3h) Explores the persuasive nature of organizational messages—those exchanged between organizational members and those presented on behalf of the organization as a whole. Offered in alternate years.

337. Rhetoric of Institutions. (3h) Study of the communication practices of institutions as they seek to gain and maintain social legitimacy. Offered in alternate years.

338. African-American Rhetoric. (3h) Explores how African Americans have invented a public voice in the twentieth century. Focuses on how artistic cultural expression, in particular, has shaped black public speech. (CD)

340. American Rhetorical Movements to 1900. (3h) Examines the interrelation of American rhetorical movements through the nineteenth century by reading and analyzing original speeches and documents with emphasis on antislavery and women’s rights.

341. American Rhetorical Movements since 1900. (3h) Examines the interrelation of American rhetorical movements in the twentieth century by reading and analyzing original speeches and documents. Among the movements addressed are labor, civil rights, student radicals, and women’s liberation.

342. Political Communication. (3h) Study of electoral communication, including candidate and media influences on campaign speeches, debates, and advertising.

343. Presidential Rhetoric. (3h) Examines theory and practice of speechmaking and mediated presidential communication.

350. Intercultural Communication. (3h) Introduction to the study of communication phenomena between individuals and groups with different cultural backgrounds. Offered in alternate years. (CD)

351. Comparative Communication. (1.5h, 3h) Comparison of communicative and linguistic processes in one or more national cultures with those of the United States. Also listed as LIN 351 and INS 349. Credit not given for both COM 351A and INS 349. (CD)

\[ 351A. Japan \quad 351D. Multiple Countries \]
\[ 351B. Russia \quad 351E. China \]
\[ 351C. Great Britain \]

352. Interpersonal Seminar. (3h) Advanced study of theories and research in one or more of the specialized concentrations of interpersonal communication.
353. Persuasion. (3h) Examination of theories and research concerning the process of social influence in contemporary society.

354. International Communication. (3h) In-depth look at the role of mass media in shaping communication between and about cultures using examples from traditional and emerging media systems. (CD)

355. Health Communication. (3h) Examination of theories, research, and processes of health communication in contemporary society.

370. Special Topics. (1-3h) Examination of topics not covered in the regular curriculum.

380. Great Teachers. (1h, 1.5h, 3h) Intensive study of the ideas of three noted scholars and teachers in the field of communication. Students interact with each teacher during a two- to three-day visit to Wake Forest.

398. Honors in Communication I. (1.5h) Intensive research in an area of special interest for selected seniors who wish to graduate with departmental honors. Fall semester only. P—POD.

399. Honors in Communication II. (1.5h) Intensive research in an area of special interest for selected seniors who wish to graduate with departmental honors. Spring semester only. P—POD.

Chair Stan J. Thomas
Reynolds Professor Robert J. Plemmons
Reynolds Professor of Computational Biophysics Jacquelyn S. Fetrow
Associate Professors Jennifer J. Burg, Daniel A. Cañas, Errín W. Fulp, David J. John, Stan J. Thomas, Todd C. Torgersen
Assistant Professors V. Paúl Pauca, William H. Turkett Jr.
Lecturer in Digital Media Yue-Ling Wong
Lecturer Brian A. Kell
Adjunct Assistant Professor Timothy E. Miller

A bachelor of science in computer science requires a minimum of thirty-eight hours in computer science and three courses in mathematics. The courses in computer science must include 111, 112, 211, 221, 222, 231, and 241. The required courses in mathematics are 112, 117, and 121 or 205. Either MTH 256 or 357 is also recommended for students considering graduate work in computer science.

A bachelor of arts in computer science requires a minimum of twenty-seven hours in computer science and three courses in mathematics or statistics. The courses in computer science must include 111, 112, 221, and 241. An additional twelve hours in computer science are required, including three hours at the 191 level or higher, three hours at the 200 level or higher, and six hours at the 300 level or higher. The required courses in mathematics and statistics are MTH 117; either MTH 121 or MTH 205; and one course selected from MTH 109, MTH 256, or any statistics course approved by the computer science department.

A minor in computer science requires CSC 111, 112, and 221; at least three additional hours in computer science at the 191 level or higher; and MTH 117.
Students considering a major in computer science are encouraged to take CSC 111 and the appropriate mathematics courses, including MTH 117, during their first year of college. Students with sufficient programming experience may substitute a higher-level course for CSC 111.

A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in courses that comprise a major or minor in the department is required for graduation.

Students with a special interest in multidisciplinary work may wish to consider a program of study that combines computer science with another discipline such as art, business, or biology. For example, the computer science and art departments offer a combined program of study with emphasis in digital media. Advisers in either the computer science or the art department can provide further information on coordinating a computer science major with an art minor, or vice versa.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to apply for admission to the honors program. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Computer Science,” students must satisfactorily complete a senior research paper and have a minimum grade point average of 3.5 in the major and 3.0 in all college course work. For additional information, members of the departmental faculty should be consulted.

Students who are enrolled at Wake Forest University may not take courses in computer science at other institutions to satisfy divisional requirements.

101. Overview of Computer Science. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Introduction to the organization and use of computers. Topics include computer architecture, systems, theory, logic, programming, the Internet, multimedia, and ethical, legal, and social issues. Does not count toward the computer science major or minor. Lab—two hours. (D)

108. Introduction to Programming. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Introduction to the basic concepts of computer programming and problem solving for students with varied backgrounds and no prior programming experience. The programming language used and the focus vary by instructor. Topics may include multimedia programming, game programming, graphic animation, and scientific computing. Does not count toward the computer science major or minor. Lab—two hours. (D)

111. Introduction to Computer Science. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Rigorous introduction to the process of algorithmic problem solving and programming in a modern programming language. Recommended as the first course for students considering a major or minor in computer science. Lab—two hours. P—Non-declared majors/minors only or POI. (D)

112. Fundamentals of Computer Science. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Problem solving and program construction using top-down design, data abstraction, and object-oriented programming. Linear data structures, recursion, and software development tools are introduced. Lab—two hours. P—CSC 111 or POI. (D)

165. Problem Solving Seminar. (1h) Weekly seminar designed for students to develop their problem solving skills designing and implementing software. Does not count toward the computer science major or minor. May be taken twice. Pass/Fail. P—CSC 112.

191. Special Topics. (1-3h) Topics in computer science that are not covered in regular courses or that give special practice in skills used in other courses. Not to be counted toward the bachelor of science in computer science. May be taken more than once if the topic changes.
193. Independent Study. (1-3h) Independent study directed by a faculty adviser, not to be counted toward the bachelor of science in computer science. By prearrangement.

211. Computer Organization. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Computer organization from the perspective of instructions, including the central processor, busses, input and output units, and memory units. Weekly two-hour laboratory covers combinational logic, loaders and linkers, assembly language, address computation, and other architecture-related functions. Lab—two hours. P—CSC 112 and MTH 117. (D)

221. Data Structures and Algorithms I. (3h) Study, analysis, and implementation of abstract data structures such as stacks, queues, trees, and graphs. Complexity analysis of algorithms that operate upon these structures. P—CSC 112. P or C—MTH 117. (D)

222. Data Structures and Algorithms II. (3h) A continuation of the study, analysis, and implementation of abstract data structures. The complexity of algorithms is studied more rigorously than in CSC 221, and complexity classes are introduced. P—CSC 221 and MTH 111. (QR)

231. Programming Languages. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Comparative study of programming language paradigms, including imperative languages, functional programming, logic programming, and object-oriented programming. Syntax, semantics, parsing, grammars, and issues in language design are covered. Lab—two hours. P—CSC 112 and MTH 117.

241. Computer Systems. (4h) Lecture and laboratory. Introduction to concepts of operating systems and networks including processor and memory management, concurrency, and protocol-independent data communications. Lab—two hours. P—CSC 112 and MTH 117.

311. Computer Architecture. (3h) In-depth study of computer system and architecture design. Topics include processor design, memory hierarchy, external storage devices, interface design, and parallel architectures. P—CSC 211.

321. Database Management Systems. (3h) Introduction to large-scale database management systems. Topics include data independence, database models, query languages, security, integrity, and concurrency. P—CSC 221.

331. Object-Oriented Software Engineering. (3h) Study of software design and implementation from an object-oriented perspective, covering abstraction, encapsulation, data protection, inheritance, composition, polymorphism, and dynamic vs. static binding. Students practice software engineering principles through team projects. P—CSC 221 and 231.

333. Principles of Compiler Design. (3h) Study of techniques for compiling computer languages including scanning, parsing, translating, and generating and optimizing code. P—CSC 211 and 221.

341. Operating Systems. (3h) Study of the different modules that compose a modern operating system. In-depth study of concurrency, processor management, memory management, file management, and security. P—CSC 241.

343. Internet Protocols. (3h) Study of wide area connectivity through interconnection networks. Emphasis is on Internet architecture and protocols. Topics include addressing, routing, multicasting, quality of service, and network security. P—CSC 241.

346. Parallel Computation. (3h) Study of hardware and software issues in parallel computing. Topics include a comparison of parallel architectures and network topologies, and an introduction to parallel algorithms, languages, programming, and applications. P—CSC 222 and 241; or POI.
352. Numerical Linear Algebra. (3h) Numerical methods for solving matrix and related problems in science and engineering. Topics include systems of linear equations, least squares methods, and eigenvalue computations. Beginning knowledge of a high-level programming language is required. Credit is not allowed for both CSC 352 and MTH 326. P—MTH 112, and MTH 121 or MTH 205.

355. Introduction to Numerical Methods. (3h) Numerical computations on modern computer architectures; floating-point arithmetic and round-off error. Programming in a scientific/engineering language such as MATLAB, C, or FORTRAN. Algorithms and computer techniques for the solution of problems such as roots of functions, approximation, integration, systems of linear equations, and least squares methods. Credit not allowed for both CSC 355 and MTH 355. P—MTH 112, and MTH 121 or MTH 205.

361. Digital Media. (3h) Introduction to digital media covering sampling and quantization, resolution, color representation, multimedia file formats, data encoding and compression, multimedia network issues, streaming data, and multimedia programming. P—CSC 221 and MTH 111.

363. Computer Graphics. (3h) Study of software and hardware techniques in computer graphics. Topics include line and polygon drawing, hidden line and surface techniques, transformations, and ray tracing. P—CSC 221 and MTH 121 or MTH 205.

365. Image Processing Fundamentals. (3h) Study of the basic theory and algorithms for image enhancement, restoration, segmentation, and analysis. P—CSC 221 and MTH 121 or MTH 205.

371. Artificial Intelligence. (3h) Introduction to problems in artificial intelligence. Knowledge representation and heuristic search in areas such as planning, machine learning, pattern recognition, and theorem proving. P—CSC 222 or POI.

385. Bioinformatics. (3h) Introduction to bioinformatics and computing techniques essential to current biomedical research. Topics include genome and protein sequence and protein structure databases, algorithms for sequence and structure analysis, and computer architecture and environment considerations. Emphasizes interdisciplinary interaction and communication and includes a project that may use software engineering and project management protocols and requires working a part of an interdisciplinary team. Also listed as PHY 385. P—CSC 121 or POI.

387. Computational Systems Biology. (3h) Introduction of concepts and development of skills necessary for comprehension of modern systems biology research problems, including both biological and computational aspects. Topics may include microarrays, protein interaction networks, large-scale proteomics experiments, and algorithms and computational approaches for modeling, storing, and analyzing the resulting data sets. Emphasizes interdisciplinary interaction and communication, includes a project that may use software engineering and project management protocols, and requires working as part of an interdisciplinary team. P—CSC 221 or POI.

391. Selected Topics. (1-3h) Topics in computer science that are not studied in regular courses or which further examine topics covered in regular courses. P—POI.

393. Individual Study. (1-3h) Independent study directed by a faculty adviser. By prearrangement. No more than three hours may be counted toward a computer science major or minor.
Counseling (CNS)

Chair Samuel T. Gladding

Professors John P. Anderson, Samuel T. Gladding, Donna A. Henderson

Assistant Professors Debbie W. Newsome, Laura J. Veach

Instructor Pamela Karr

Adjunct Assistant Professors Robin L. Daniel, John J. Schmidt, Marianne Schubert, Kenneth W. Simington

Adjunct Instructors Johnne Armentrout, Paige Bentley, Tania Hoeller-Castillero

The Department of Counseling offers most courses at the graduate level. The following courses are the only courses currently offered at the undergraduate level.

102. Career Planning. (2h) Covers the three components of the career planning process: (1) personal assessment of work-related values, interests and skills; (2) exploration of career options; and (3) resume writing, interviewing, and job search skills. Half semester.

353. College Student Development. (2h) A course of study for resident advisers that provides the skills and knowledge necessary to work successfully with college students in a residence environment. Includes student development theory, coping with behavioral problems, crisis management, making connections, mediating conflict, and other issues.

364. Creative Arts in Counseling. (3h) Examines the history, theories, processes, and techniques of using the creative arts in counseling with clients throughout the lifespan. Attention is given to the visual and performing arts such as drawing, imagery, photography, cartooning, cinema, movement, dance, literature, drama, and music. Juniors and seniors only.

Cultural Resource Preservation (CRP)

Coordinator Assistant Professor of Anthropology Paul Thacker

The Departments of Anthropology, Art, History, and Sociology offer an interdisciplinary minor in cultural resource preservation which gives students preliminary training in the field of historic preservation and cultural resource management aimed at the protection and enhancement of archaeological, historical, and architectural resources.

The minor requires fifteen hours distributed among at least three departments. The following courses may be included in the minor. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

Electives for Cultural Resource Preservation

- ANT 112. Introduction to Archaeology. (3h)
- 305. Museum Anthropology. (4h)
- 370. Old World Prehistory. (3h)
- 374. Prehistory of North America. (3h)
Early Christian Studies
(Interdisciplinary Minor)

Coordinators  Associate Professor of Classical Languages Mary Pendergraft and Professor of Religion Kenneth G. Hoglund

The interdisciplinary minor in early Christian studies currently requires eighteen hours.

A. The student must take the following courses:

REL  321. Introduction to the New Testament. (3h) or 324. Early Christian Literature. (3h)
CLA  276. The Age of Augustus. (3h)
CLA/REL 285. Interdisciplinary Seminar in the Greco-Roman World. (3h)

B. The student must take three additional courses (nine additional hours), with no more than one course (three hours) from any one department, from the following list. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinators maintain a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

ART  241. Ancient Art. (3h)
    244. Greek Art. (3h)
    245. Roman Art. (3h)
    396. Art History Seminar. (3h)
    a. Ancient Art / b. Medieval Art
CLA/Greek  231. The Greek New Testament. (3h)
HST  315. Greek History. (3h)
    316. Rome: Republic and Empire. (3h)

Students intending to minor in cultural resource preservation should consult the program coordinator during the first semester of their junior year. Equivalent courses must be approved by the program coordinator.
The department offers majors in Chinese language and culture and in Japanese language and culture. In addition to language proficiency at the level of CHI 201 or JPN 201, the majors require ten three-credit-hour courses in language and culture and related courses. Study abroad in Japan, China, or Taiwan is also required. Under special circumstances, a student may substitute an approved intensive immersion program in the United States for the study abroad requirement, with permission of the department chair. A minimum “C” average is required for all courses in the major.

Majors in Chinese and Japanese require seven core courses: a survey course in East Asian culture (EAL 275 or equivalent), three advanced language courses (CHI or JPN 220, 230, and 231), a course taken abroad in reading and writing (CHI or JPN 190), a course in East Asian history (HST 249 or equivalent), and Research and Methodology in East Asian Studies (EAL 300). The inclusion towards the major of language courses taken abroad other than those which are officially designated Wake Forest programs requires permission from the department. In addition to the seven core courses, the majors include three elective courses; up to two elective courses may be in the other East Asian language.

Honors. Highly qualified majors should apply for admission to the honors program in East Asian languages and cultures. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Chinese” or “Honors in Japanese” following completion of EAL 300, the student must enroll in EAL 302, present an honors-quality research paper, successfully defend the paper in an oral examination, and earn an overall grade point average of 3.0 with an average of 3.3 on work in courses taken as part of the major in Chinese or Japanese. For additional information, students should consult members of the department.
Minors in Chinese language and Japanese language require twelve hours of advanced study in the language following completion of core courses (CHI or JPN 101, 102, 153, and 201). The standard sequence consists of CHI or JPN 220, 230, 231, and 190, although substitutions are allowed with permission from the department chair. Minor candidates are also required to participate in an approved semester educational exchange program in China, Taiwan, or Japan. A cumulative C average is required for courses taken in the minor.

Requests for exceptions to the stated curriculum should be made to the department chair. Elective courses should be selected from an approved list in the department chair’s office. More specific descriptions of each of the majors and course sequences are also available there.

East Asian Languages and Cultures (EAL)

170. Understanding Japan. (3h) Understanding Japanese culture and behavior from the structure of social units such as family, educational institutions, and sports, artistic, and professional organizations. Credit not given for both EAL 170 and EAL 175. Also listed as HMN 170. (CD)

175. Japanese Culture: Insight and Outreach. (3h) Develops an understanding of Japanese culture through reading, class discussion, and individual research, with subsequent outreach to area high schools through presentations. Credit not given for both EAL 170 and EAL 175. Also listed as HMN 175. (CD)

219. Introduction to Japanese Literature. (3h) Major works of poetry, drama, and fiction from the classical and modern periods. Also listed as HMN 219.

221. Introduction to Chinese Literature. (3h) Readings and discussions in fiction, drama, and poetry from the traditional and modern periods. Also listed as HMN 221.

251. The Asian-American Experience: Literature and Personal Narratives. (3h) Introduction to the writings and narratives of Asian Americans of South and Southeast Asian descent, including Asian Americans of Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Indian descent. Explores the process of assimilation, including the effects of immigration and cultural conflict on literary forms of expression, as well as the formation of new cultural identities. Also listed as HMN 251. (CD)

252. Introduction to Chinese Film. (3h) Introductory study of film from mainland China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan from its inception at the turn of the twentieth century to the present. Explores Chinese film as an art form, an instrument of political propaganda, and a medium of popular entertainment. Also listed as HMN 252.

275. Survey of East Asian Culture. (3h) Exploration of the cultural, historical, political, and economic development of China and Japan, with an emphasis on cultural shifts that resulted from the transition from pre-industrial societies of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries to world powers of the mid- to late- twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. The interaction between these cultures will also be examined. (CD)

300. Research and Methodology in East Asian Studies. (1h, 2h, 3h) Capstone course for majors on research methods and use of sources in Chinese and Japanese studies. Focuses on approaches to identifying and translating sources, and to conducting research in Chinese and Japanese. This course must be taken prior to or during the fall semester of the candidate’s senior year. P—POI and permission of chair.
301. Special Topics. (3h) Selected themes and approaches to East Asian literature, drama, culture, and film. Topics to be chosen by staff prior to the term the course is offered. May be repeated for credit. P—POI.

302. Honors Seminar. (3h) Writing of a major research paper. P—EAL 300 and POI.

303. Field Research Preparation. (1h) Development of target language (Chinese or Japanese) field research materials and preparation for field research practicum in China, Japan, or Taiwan. P—POI.

304. Field Research Practicum. (2h) Use of target language research materials in a field research project in China, Japan, or Taiwan to investigate aspects of culture and belief systems and to apply specific disciplinary frameworks. Not offered on the Wake Forest campus. P—POI.

American Ethnic Studies (AES)

240. Asian-American Legacy: A Social History of Community Adaptation. (3h) Introduction to the history, culture, and literature of the Asian-American communities, exploring issues of migration, assimilation, and the process of developing Asian-American identities in the twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. (CD)

Chinese (CHI)

101, 102. Elementary Chinese. (4h, 4h) Emphasis on the development of listening and speaking skills in Mandarin. Introduction to the writing system and to basic sentence patterns. Lab required. P—for CHI 102 is CHI 101 or equivalent.

190. Reading and Writing Chinese. (3h) Teaches reading and writing skills in Chinese language at the beginning and intermediate levels. Designed to accompany concurrent courses taken abroad in conversational Chinese and to provide a rigorous framework for the study and memorization of Chinese characters. Not offered at the Wake Forest campus. May be repeated for credit with POI.

196. Chinese Across the Curriculum. (1h) Coursework in Chinese done as an adjunct to specially-designated courses throughout the college curriculum. P—POI.

199. Individual Study. (1-3h) P—POI.

201. Intermediate Chinese II. (4h) Further study in grammar, reading, conversation, and composition. Lab required. P—CHI 153 or equivalent.

220. Advanced Chinese I. (3h) Integration of speaking, reading, and writing skills with emphasis on written and audiovisual sources including newspapers, literature, and film. P—CHI 201 or POI.

230. Advanced Chinese II. (3h) Continuation of CHI 220, with emphasis on oral presentation and compositional skills. P—CHI 220 or POI.

231. Advanced Chinese III. (3h) Continuation of CHI 230, with emphasis on advanced reading and writing. P—CHI 230 or POI.
250. Introduction to Literature Written in Chinese. (3h) Readings in Chinese in prose and poetry. P—CHI 231 or POI.

252. Recent Literature Written in Chinese. (3h) Readings in recent Taiwan and mainland Chinese literature. P—CHI 231 or POI.

255. Business Hanyu. (3h) Communicating in Mandarin Chinese for business purposes. Addresses cultural differences in communication and spoken and written linguistic forms. P—CHI 201 or POI.

350. Chinese Modern Literature Survey. (3h) Examines several key works of modern and contemporary literature in Chinese. Fosters critical reading and interpretive skills and teaches the stylistics of writing analytical essays. P—CHI 250, 252, or POI.

351. Classical Chinese. (3h) Vocabulary and syntax of the written Chinese language prior to the twentieth century, including readings from the fourth century BC authors such as Mencius, along with writings from later centuries. P—CHI 250, 252 or POI.

Communication (COM)

351A. Japanese and American Culture: Cross-Cultural Communication. (3h) Exploration of communication differences between the Japanese and the Americans. Japanese and American values, behavior, and beliefs are compared in determining effective methods for cross-cultural communication. East Asian Studies (EAS)
(Interdisciplinary Minor)

Coordinator Associate Professor of East Asian Languages and Cultures David P. Phillips

The minor in East Asian studies provides an opportunity for students to undertake a multidisciplinary study of the art, history, philosophy, politics, religion, and culture of East Asia. It consists of a total of eighteen hours. Candidates for the minor are required to take at least one course from three of the four curriculum groupings noted. (See course descriptions under appropriate course listings.) Nine or more of the hours towards the minor must focus on a geographical area—South Asia, Japan, China, or Southeast Asia.

Appropriate credit in various fields of East Asian studies also may be obtained by study abroad in programs approved by the coordinator. Interested students are encouraged, preferably in their sophomore year, to consult with the coordinator or an affiliated adviser to discuss their interests and structure a coherent course of study.

Courses may be chosen from among the list of approved courses. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

311. Special Topics in East Asian Studies. (1-3h) Intensive survey of one or more important issues in East Asian studies not included in the regular course offerings. P—POI.

381. Independent Research in East Asian Studies. (1-3h) Supervised independent research project on a topic related to East Asia. P—Permission of both instructor and coordinator of East Asian Studies. May be repeated for credit.

The objectives of the economics program are to help prepare students for effective participation in the decision-making processes of society, to develop analytical skills in solving economic problems, to promote a better understanding of alternative economic systems, and to provide a balanced curriculum to prepare students for graduate study or positions in industry and government. Any (3h) economics course will satisfy a divisional requirement.
The major in economics consists of twenty-seven hours in economics, including Economics 150, 201, 205, 206, 207, and at least one course from ECN 211, 222, 252 or 274. A minimum grade of C is required in ECN 150 and 201, and a minimum of C- in ECN 205 and 207; in addition, students must achieve an overall 2.0 average in economics courses. The student also must make a minimum grade of C- in MTH 111 and MTH 109 (or similar course with permission of department chair). Students who receive a grade below C- in ECN 150 may not major in economics.

Economics majors are encouraged to take complementary courses in mathematics, the humanities, or other social sciences to sharpen their analytical skills and to acquire a broader understanding of important issues. The faculty adviser will assist each student in determining the particular combination of courses that satisfies his or her needs.

The minor in economics consists of eighteen hours, including ECN 150, 205, and 207. The mathematics and minimum grade requirements for the minor are the same as for the major.

Honors. Students may graduate with “Honors in Economics” if they have a grade point average of at least 3.0 and 3.3 in economics, and earn a minimum grade of B- in the research course, ECN 298. It is recommended that ECN 297 be taken as preparation for 298.

Bachelor of Science in Mathematical Economics. The Department of Economics and the Department of Mathematics offer a major leading to a bachelor of science degree in mathematical economics. This interdisciplinary program affords the student an opportunity to apply mathematical methods to the development of economic theory, models, and quantitative analysis. The major consists of the following course requirements: ECN 150, 205, 207, 210, 211, 215, 218; MTH 112, 113, 121, 254, 255; and three additional (3h) courses chosen with the approval of the program advisers. Students electing the major must receive permission from both the Department of Economics and the Department of Mathematics. A minimum grade average of C in all courses attempted for the mathematical economics major is required for graduation.

Highly qualified mathematical economics majors are encouraged to apply for admission to the honors program in the major. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Mathematical Economics,” a student must satisfy the requirements of ECN 298 or MTH 391 and 392 by successfully completing a senior research project and must have a grade point average of at least 3.0 overall and 3.3 in courses for the mathematical economics major. Consult the program advisers for additional information.

150. Introduction to Economics. (3h) Survey of micro and macroeconomic principles. Introduction to basic concepts, characteristic data and trends, and some analytic techniques. Preference in enrollment is given to students with sophomore or upperclass standing. (D)

Wake Forest University believes that the teaching profession is important to society and that its welfare is significantly affected by the quality of educational leadership. One of the important objectives of the University has been and continues to be the preparation of teachers. The University’s commitment to quality in teacher education is demonstrated by selective admission to the program, a wide range of professional courses, and closely supervised internships appropriate to the professional development of students. The Wake Forest education programs are fully accredited by NCATE (National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education) and by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction.

Prospective elementary teachers and secondary social studies teachers earn a major in education. Prospective secondary teachers of English, mathematics, science, and prospective K-12 teachers of foreign languages major in that discipline and minor in education. A minor in secondary social studies education is also available. In addition to the professional program, the department provides elective courses open to all students.

Teacher Licensure. The state of North Carolina issues the Standard Professional I Class A Teacher’s License to graduates who have completed an approved program including the specified courses in their teaching fields and the prescribed courses in education, who meet licensure requirements, and who receive recommendations from the designated officials in their teaching areas and from the licensure officer.

Students who have graduated from an institution of higher education but have not completed an approved licensure program may seek admission to the department in order to complete the Class A License.

Students who wish to prepare for teaching at the secondary level but are unable to devote a semester to student teaching can earn a non-licensure minor.

Admission Requirements. Admission involves filing an official application with the department’s licensure officer, being interviewed, and being officially approved by the department.
In addition, the state of North Carolina requires Teacher Education Program applicants to submit SAT scores (verbal and math) of 1100 or an ACT composite score of 24 or the minimum score requirements for Praxis I before being formally admitted.

All students are required to have a 2.5 or better grade point average before being formally accepted to the Teacher Education Program. Formal acceptance into the program should take place by August 15 following the junior year for secondary students and by January 1 of the junior year for elementary students.

Program Area Goals. The goals and objectives for each licensure area are available in the office of the Department of Education.

Course Requirements. The approved program of teacher education requires candidates to complete successfully a series of professional education courses. The exact sequence of professional and academic courses varies with a student’s particular program and is determined by the adviser in conference with the candidate. For those seeking secondary licensure, the majority of the professional work is taken during the senior year. Candidates for the elementary license typically begin coursework required for licensure during the sophomore year.

Student Teaching. Prerequisites for registering for student teaching include (1) senior, graduate, or special student classification; (2) completion of Methods and Materials, Educational Technology, Educational Psychology, and the Foundations of Education courses; and (3) formal admission to the Teacher Education Program.

Students are assigned to student-teaching opportunities by public school officials on the basis of available positions and the professional needs of the student and the public school system. One semester of the senior year is reserved for the student-teaching experience. Students may not take courses outside the education department during this semester without the approval of the department chair.

Exit Requirements. Students must maintain at least a 2.5 grade point average while enrolled in the Teacher Education Program. The state of North Carolina requires candidates for professional licensure in elementary education to successfully complete the appropriate Praxis II Subject Assessment Exam(s).

Teaching Area Requirements: Secondary Licensure

Junior Year: EDU 201, 202, and 311
Senior Year: EDU 307, 354, 364, 381, 383, and 385

English. Thirty hours, including ENG 287, 323, and 390 or its equivalent. A course in world literature is also required.

French. Licensure in K-12 in French: A minimum of twenty-seven hours of French courses numbered above FRH 212 or 213. FRH 216, 315, 319, 320, 322, 370, one of the genre courses (363, 364, or 365), and two other courses are required

Spanish. Licensure in K-12 in Spanish: A minimum of twenty-seven hours of Spanish courses numbered above SPN 213: 316, 317, 318, 319 or 319L, 322, plus three advanced courses in literature of which one must be in Spanish literature and one in Spanish-American literature are required.
German. Licensure in K-12 in German: A minimum of nine courses beyond GER 153 to include one course from the sequence 210, 212, or 2147 (Vienna); 317, 320 or 321, 399; at least one course from the sequence 349, 381, 383, 385.

Mathematics. Thirty-two hours, including MTH 112, 113, 121, 321, 331, 357, (211 or 311), and three other courses beyond 113.

Science. Licensure in the individual fields of science: biology (thirty-four hours), chemistry (twenty-eight hours for BA), and physics (twenty-five hours). All courses must be from the same courses required for majors in those fields.

Social Studies. Thirty hours, including eighteen hours in history and twelve hours from four other social sciences. History hours include six hours from European or world history, six hours from U.S. history, and six hours from nonwestern history. The twelve additional hours come from one course each in economics, geography, political science, and anthropology or sociology.

Education courses required for a secondary license include EDU 201, 202, 307, 311, 354, 364, 381, 383, and 385.

Teaching Requirements: Elementary Licensure

A major in elementary education requires a minimum of thirty-nine hours including EDU 201, 202, 203, 221, 222, 250, 293, 294, 295, 296, 298, 307, 311, 312, and 382. In addition to or as part of lower division requirements, all education majors must take at least one course in mathematics and PSY 151.

Sophomore or Junior Year: EDU 201, 202, and 311
Senior Year: EDU 222, 250, 293, 294, 296, and 312

Education Minors. The minor in professional education requires EDU 201, 202, 307, 311, 354, 364, 381, 383, and 385 and is awarded only to students who complete student teaching. The non-licensure minor does not include EDU 381, 383, 385, and student teaching (EDU 364) and requires a major in one of the secondary license areas.

131. Adolescent Literature. (2h) Study of recent fiction centering on the lives of adolescents. Attention is given to interpretation of literature ranging from the reader response approach to critical pluralism. By placement only.

201. Foundations of Education. (3h) Philosophical, historical, and sociological foundations of education, including analysis of contemporary issues and problems. (CD)

203. Field Experience Two. (2h) Teaching experiences in classrooms in a diverse school environment. Weekly school participation and seminar. Pass/Fail only. P—EDU 201 and 202 and POI.

221. Children’s Literature. (2h) Survey of the types and uses of literature appropriate for elementary grades, including multicultural literature.

222. Integrating the Arts and Movement into the Elementary Curriculum. (2h) Survey of the materials, methods, and techniques of integrating the arts and physical development into the elementary curriculum. P—POI.
223. Theatre in Education. (3h) Practical experience for theatre and education students to work together with children in the classroom using theatre to teach core curriculum. Emphasis on methods and techniques as well as the development and implementation of creative lesson plans. Weekly public school teaching experience and seminar. Also listed as THE 270.

231. Adolescent Literature. (3h) A study of recent fiction centering on the lives of adolescents. Attention is given to interpretation of literature ranging from the reader response approach to critical pluralism.

250. Student Teaching: Elementary. (6h) Supervised teaching experience in grades K-6. Pass/Fail. P—POI.

271. Geography: The Human Environment. (3h) Survey of the geography of human activity as it occurs throughout the world. Emphasis is on current problems related to population, resources, regional development, and urbanization. Credit not allowed for both EDU 271 and 274.

272. Geography Study Tour. (3h) A guided tour of selected areas to study physical, economic, and cultural environments and their influence on man. Background references for reading are suggested prior to the tour. Offered in the summer. (CD)

273. Geography: The Natural Environment. (3h) Systematic study of the major components of physical geography with special emphasis on climate and topography.

274. Environmental Geography. (3h) A systematic study of major environmental issues on a global scale with an exploration of implications and possible solutions. Credit not allowed for both EDU 274 and 271.

281. Public Life and the Liberal Arts. (3h) Devoted to topics of abiding significance. Fundamental dilemmas and resolutions associated with each topic are examined through a consideration of their treatment in the liberal arts tradition. Politics and the Arts, and Theory and Practice in Public Life are representative topics.

293. Elementary School Curriculum. (3h) General principles of curriculum and teaching methods, including adaptations for exceptional learners of all types and integration among all curriculum areas. P—POI.

294. Teaching Elementary Language Arts. (3h) Methods and materials for teaching language arts, including adaptations for diverse and exceptional learners. P—POI.

295. Teaching Elementary Social Studies in a Pluralistic Society. (3h) Methods and materials for teaching social studies, including adaptations for diverse and exceptional learners. P—POI.

296. Teaching Elementary Mathematics. (3h) Methods and materials for teaching mathematics, including adaptations for diverse and exceptional learners. P—POI.

297. Trends and Issues in American Schools. (1h) Exploration of contemporary trends and issues as they affect course content and teaching methods in the schools. Intended to help those not entering professional education evaluate their schools as informed citizens and decision-makers.

298. Teaching Elementary Science. (3h) Methods and materials for teaching science, including adaptations for diverse and exceptional learners. P—POI.

303. History of Western Education. (3h) Educational theory and practice from ancient times through the modern period, including American education.
304. Theories of Education. (3h) Contemporary proposals for educational theory and practice studied in the context of social issues.

305. The Sociology of Education. (3h) Study of contemporary educational institutions. Examines such issues as school desegregation, schooling and social mobility, gender equity, and multiculturalism.

307. Technology in Education. (3h) Introduction to the use of computers in education. Includes use of the Internet, software, and hardware, including multimedia, to meet instructional goals. P—EDU 201 and 311.

The major in English requires a minimum of thirty hours in courses above ENG 111, at least twenty-four hours of which must be in advanced language and literature courses numbered 300 to 399. English 105 and 111, basic writing requirements, may not count toward the major or minor nor count as a divisional requirement. The advanced courses for the major must include Shakespeare (3 hours); 6 additional hours (two courses) in British literature before 1800, 3 hours (one course) in American literature, and a major seminar, ENG 300, which must be taken no later than the spring semester of the junior year. All English majors, except late declarees, must pre-register in the spring of their sophomore year for the major seminar. No more than two advanced writing courses (383, 398, and 399) may be counted toward the major. Majors and their advisers plan individual programs to meet these requirements and to include work in the major literary genres. No more than two courses (6h) taken elsewhere may be counted toward the twenty-four hours of 300-level English courses required for the major. This limitation applies to courses taught in approved non-Wake Forest programs, not to courses in programs offered or sponsored by Wake Forest.

A minor in English requires twenty-one hours in courses above ENG 111, at least fifteen of which must be in advanced language and literature courses numbered 300-399. No more than two advanced writing courses (383, 398, and 399) may be counted toward the minor. Each minor will be assigned an adviser in the English department who will plan a program of study with the student. No more than 3 hours (one course) taken elsewhere may be counted toward the fifteen hours of 300-level English courses required for the minor. This limitation applies to courses taught in approved non-Wake Forest programs, not to courses in programs offered or sponsored by Wake Forest.

A minimum grade-point average of 2.0 in courses which comprise a major or minor in the department is required for graduation with any major or minor this department offers.

Honors. Highly qualified majors recommended by the English faculty are invited to apply to the honors program in English during the second semester of their junior year. To graduate with “Honors in English,” students must have a minimum grade point average of 3.5 in the major and 3.2 in all course work and must satisfy the requirements of the program by completing ENG 388 during their senior year. Interested students may consult the director of the English honors program for further information.

Additional courses in journalism and writing are offered by the department as related subjects but do not count toward an English major or minor; they may be taken as electives regardless of the field of study in which a student majors.

Composition Course

Entrepreneurship and Social Enterprise (ESE)

Director Elizabeth Gatewood

The Wake Forest Program for Entrepreneurship and the Liberal Arts offers an interdisciplinary minor in entrepreneurship and social enterprise. Through this minor students are encouraged to take advantage of their knowledge, creative skills, and resources to identify and pursue opportunities, initiate change, and create sustainable value in their lives and the lives of others. A minor in entrepreneurship and social enterprise coupled with any major within the College or the Calloway School is designed to enable students to maximize their involvement in the local community and society.

A total of eighteen hours is required for the minor: six hours of entry-level courses (ESE 100, ESE 101/BUS 113 or BUS 213 for business majors), three hours of internship or independent study credit (ESE 350, ESE 391), and nine hours selected from relevant courses across the curriculum as listed. No more than six of the elective hours may be counted from a student’s major. Course plans will be made in consultation with the director of the minor. Students may fulfill six of their nine elective hours by taking the Calloway Summer Management Program (BUS 295) or SportsCOM (297S). Business majors are strongly encouraged to take BUS 272 to meet the strategic management requirement.
Required Courses for Entrepreneurship and Social Enterprise

100. Creativity and Innovation. (3h) Interactive seminar introduces students to readings and processes from various disciplines that elucidate the interdisciplinary nature of creativity and enable students to create conditions that stimulate it. Projects and assignments are designed to encourage a “critical creativity” that challenges participants through inquiry, multi-faceted exploration and strategic development. Topics examined through writing and design assignments, group projects, and discussions include consciousness, receptivity, risk, ethics, self agency, and social engagement with the express objective of fostering creative potential and its application in all areas of experience.

101. Foundations of Entrepreneurship. (3h) Addresses the challenges of creating and sustaining organizations in today’s global environment. Provides an overview of the role and importance of entrepreneurship in the global economy and in society. Examines how individuals use entrepreneurial skills to craft innovative responses to societal needs. Also listed as BUS 113. (BUS 113 does not count towards the Calloway major.)

350. Internships in Entrepreneurial Studies. (3h) Offers students the opportunity to apply knowledge in an entrepreneurial for-profit or not-for-profit environment. Requirements include a course journal and a comprehensive report that showcase the student’s specific achievements and analyze the quality of his or her experience. P—POI.

391. Independent Study in Entrepreneurship. (3h) An independent project involving entrepreneurship or social enterprise carried out under the supervision of a faculty member. P—POI.

Electives for Entrepreneurship and Social Enterprise

Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program director maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For the following course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

ESE 115. New Venture Planning. (1.5h) Explores how entrepreneurial ventures are formed, specifically in the early stages as commercially viable ideas are transformed into venture plans. Students explore idea generation, innovation, behaviors of entrepreneurs, the venture creation process, feasibility analysis, and venture planning; and they write a venture plan for an existing idea or for a new opportunity they wish to analyze and pursue. P—ESE 101/BUS 113 or BUS 213; or POI.

ESE 201. Free Trade, Fair Trade: Independent Entrepreneurs in the Global Market. (3h) Field-based seminar compares the barriers to market participation experienced by independent entrepreneurs cross-culturally. Free trade policies are contrasted with fair trade practices to determine why so many independent producers have trouble succeeding in a globalizing world. Also listed as ANT 301. (CD)

ESE 202. Building a Better Biology Textbook: The Accessible Textbook Project. (3h) Hands-on project requiring the skills of juniors and seniors from multiple disciplines. Participants assist in developing a prototype for an introductory biology textbook. Collaborative teams conduct preliminary market research, design the book format, develop a set of authoring tools, write the content of one prototype chapter, and assess the instructional effectiveness of their final product. P—POI.
ESE 203. Introduction to Professional Writing. (3h) A hands-on course in writing across a number of disciplines—Web site copy, brochures, public relations, corporate statements, marketing proposals. The course partners with a local nonprofit organization for the length of the semester and provides writing solutions, including Web site copy, for that organization. Local experts visit to address specific skills. Also listed as JOU 283. P—JOU 270 or POI.

ESE 210. Arts Entrepreneurship. (3h) Introduces students to entrepreneurial processes and practices in the visual arts, theater, dance, music, and creative writing. The seminar format includes encounters with arts entrepreneurs, investigation of case studies, and research in new and evolving models for creative application of entrepreneurial practices in the arts.

ESE 220. Social Entrepreneurship. (3h) Interdisciplinary seminar that introduces students to concepts of entrepreneurship with a focus on entrepreneurial activities that further the public good through the integration of core concepts of social and cultural values and ecological sustainability.

ESE 301-306. Topics in Entrepreneurship. (1.5 or 3h). Seminar and/or lecture courses in select topics related to entrepreneurship. May be repeated if course title differs.

The Wake Forest environmental program offers an environmental science or an environmental studies minor. The environmental program provides an interdisciplinary approach to the study of human-environmental interaction. The program seeks to identify and apply perspectives from biology, chemistry, physics, geography, English, government, economics, history, law, ethics, and anthropology to the human impact on the natural environment. The environmental science or the environmental studies minor, coupled with a liberal arts major, is designed to prepare students for careers in the environmental sciences, law, public health, public policy, and public administration, and to develop attitudes and values consistent with a sustainable environmental future.

201. Environmental Issues. (3h) Topics include environmental literature, environmental history, human populations, resource management, pollution, global change, and environmental ethics.

250. Nautical Sciences. (3h) Provides the theoretical background necessary for operating vessels at sea. In lectures, lab sessions, field trips, and student projects, Sea Education Association captains introduce the principles fundamental to sailing vessel operations. Students learn and apply essential concepts in general physics, astronomy, and meteorology. Offered only in conjunction with the Sea Education Association program.

391, 392. Individual Study. (1.5h, 1.5h) Field study, internship, project or research investigation carried out under the supervision of a member of the environmental program faculty. Pass/Fail or for a grade at the discretion of the instructor. Pass/Fail is not an option if used as an elective for the environmental science or environmental studies minor.

The following courses are required for the environmental science minor. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

- ENV 201. Environmental Issues. (3h)
- CHM/PHY 120. Physics and Chemistry of the Environment. (4h)
- ECN 150. Introduction to Economics. (3h)
- 241. Natural Resource Economics. (3h)

A total of eighteen hours (including eight hours of elective courses) is required for the minor. The following courses can serve as electives for the environmental science minor. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program director maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this bulletin.

Film Studies

Director Reynolds Professor of Film Studies Peter Brunette

Film studies offers an interdisciplinary approach to the study of film through a body of courses that exposes students to the cultural, political, and social implications of this art form. Courses in the minor provide students with the critical tools necessary for both evaluating and producing film texts, and they prepare qualified students to choose critical and/or creative paths for further study or toward a profession. More information on the film studies program is available at www.wfu.edu/film.

A minor in film studies requires a minimum of eighteen hours of approved courses. Candidates for the minor must complete Introduction to Film (COM 246) and Film Theory and Criticism (COM 311) and an additional twelve hours of courses: at least three hours from each of the designated fields of international cinema and production, and six hours of electives.

Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program director maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

Global Trade and Commerce Studies (GTCS)

Coordinator Kemper Professor of Business J. Kline Harrison

The minor in global trade and commerce studies consists of a total of fifteen hours. Candidates for the minor will be required to take INS 260 (Seminar in Global Trade and Commerce Studies) and twelve additional hours in global trade and commerce studies, which must include a study abroad experience for credit. No more than six of the fifteen hours for the minor may be taken in a single discipline. The following list contains courses within Wake Forest University that qualify as a global trade and commerce studies course. Courses taken during the study abroad experience which may qualify as a GTCS course also will be reviewed and approved by the director of international studies.

Required Course for Global Trade and Commerce Studies

INS 260. Seminar in Global Trade and Commerce Studies. (3h) Provides foundational knowledge in global trade and commerce. Focuses on understanding the global environment and the variety of issues associated with global trade and commerce.

Elective Courses for Global Trade and Commerce Studies

Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

Health and Exercise Science (HES)

Chair Michael J. Berry
Thurman D. Kitchin Professor of Health and Exercise Science W. Jack Rejeski
Charles E. Taylor Professor of Health and Exercise Science Paul M. Ribisl
Professors Michael J. Berry, Peter H. Brubaker, Stephen P. Messier
Professor Emeritus William L. Hottinger
Dunn-Riley Jr. Professor and Associate Professor Shannon L. Mihalko
Associate Professors Anthony P. Marsh, Gary D. Miller, Patricia A. Nixon
Visiting Assistant Professors Devon A. Dobrosielski, Jeffrey A. Katula
Lecturers David H. Stroupe, Johnnie O. Talley, Sharon K. Woodard

The purpose of the health and exercise science department is to advance knowledge through research and to disseminate the knowledge in this field of study through education of and service to humanity. The primary focus of the department is promoting health and preventing and treating disease through healthful behaviors, emphasizing physical activity and nutrition.

Health and Exercise Science Requirement

All students must complete HES 100 and 101. This requirement must be met before enrollment in additional health and exercise science elective courses, and in any case by the end of the second year.

Courses for the Major

The department offers a program leading to the bachelor of science degree in health and exercise science. A major requires thirty-one hours and must include HES 262, 312, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 360, and 370; and three hours of electives from the following HES courses: 201, 202, 232, 310, 311, 320, 355, 372, 375, 376, 382, 384, 386, and 388; or from HMN 390. Majors are not allowed to apply any HES 100-level courses toward the thirty-one hours required for graduation.
A minimum grade point average of 2.0 is required for graduation in courses that comprise a major in the department. Students interested in majoring in health and exercise science should consult the coordinator of the department’s undergraduate program as soon as possible after entering the University.

Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to apply for admission to the honors program in health and exercise science during the second semester of the junior year. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Health and Exercise Science,” a student must have a minimum grade point average of 3.3 in the major, a minimum overall grade point average of 3.0, and complete an honors research project which includes a written and an oral report. Interested students should consult the coordinator of the department’s honors program. For more information, please consult the department’s Web site at www.wfu.edu/hes.

201. Health Issues on College Campuses I. (1.5h) Introduction to concepts and methods of peer health education; development of teaching and group facilitation skills. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

202. Health Issues on College Campuses II. (1.5h) Development and delivery of educational programs on a variety of health issues relevant to college students. Pass/Fail only. P—HES 201.

232. Emergency Medical Training. (3h) Lectures and practical experiences in preparation for responding to medical emergencies, including: patient assessment; airway management; cardiopulmonary resuscitation; O₂ therapy; management of shock; trauma and environmental emergencies; and head/spine/musculoskeletal injuries. North Carolina state exam for EMT certification is offered.

262. Statistics in the Health Sciences. (3h) Basic statistics with emphasis on application to research in the health sciences. Students are introduced to graphics and statistical software for statistical analysis. (QR)

310. Clinical Externship. (1.5h) Application of theory and methods of solving problems in a specialized area according to the student’s immediate career goals. Open only to majors. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

311. Clinical Internship. (1.5h) A semester experience in the campus rehabilitation or clinical research programs. Work includes active participation with individuals and groups with clinical conditions such as heart disease, pulmonary disease, osteoarthritis, and obesity. Focus is on multiple intervention strategies, in conjunction with participation in physiologic monitoring of patients during therapeutic sessions. Open only to majors. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

312. Exercise and Health Psychology. (3h) Survey of the psychological antecedents of exercise and selected topics in health psychology with particular attention to wellness, stress, the biobehavioral basis of coronary heart disease, and the psychodynamics of rehabilitative medicine. P—HES 262 or POI.

320. Mindfulness Meditation in Behavioral Medicine. (2h) Study of contemplative science in the realm of behavioral medicine. Content includes recent evidence from neuroscience and outcome research on both mindfulness-based stress reduction and mindfulness-based cognitive therapy. Taught in a seminar format with laboratory experience. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

350. Human Physiology. (3h) Lecture course which presents the basic principles and concepts of the function of selected systems of the human body, with emphasis on the muscular, cardiovascular, pulmonary, and nervous systems. P—BIO 111, 112, or 214, or POI.
351. Nutrition in Health and Disease. (3h) Lecture/laboratory course which presents the principles of proper nutrition including an understanding of the basic foodstuffs and nutrients as well as the influence of genetics, eating behavior, and activity patterns on energy balance and weight control. Laboratory experiences examine intervention in obesity and coronary heart disease through diet analysis, methods of diet prescription, and behavior modification. P—HES 350 or POI.

352. Human Gross Anatomy. (4h) Lecture/laboratory course in which the structure and function of the musculoskeletal, neuromuscular, pulmonary, and cardiovascular systems are studied using dissected human cadavers. Open only to majors.

353. Physiology of Exercise. (3h) Lecture course which presents the concepts and applications of the physiological response of the human body to physical activity. Acute and chronic responses of the muscular and cardiorespiratory systems to exercise are examined. Topics include exercise and coronary disease, nutrition and performance, strength and endurance training, body composition, sex-related differences, and environmental influences. P—HES 350 or POI.

354. Assessment Techniques in Health Sciences. (3h) Lecture/laboratory course to develop clinical skills and knowledge in the assessment of health in areas of exercise physiology, nutrition/metabolism, biomechanics/neuromuscular function, and health psychology. Labs emphasize use of instrumentation and analysis/interpretation of data collected on human subjects. P—HES 262, 350, and 352 or POI. (QR)

355. Exercise Programming. (1.5h) Lecture/laboratory course which presents the scientific principles of safe and effective exercise prescription for fitness programs. P—HES 350 or POI.

360. Epidemiology. (3h) Introduction to basic determinants of the incidence of chronic disease in the population and development of an understanding of individual, community, and environmental approaches to promoting healthful lifestyles in youth, adults, and elderly populations. Issues are analyzed by formal statistical modeling. P—An applied statistical methods course, such as ANT 380, BIO 380, BUS 202, HES 262, MTH 256 or 358, PSY 311, or SOC 371; or POI. (QR)

370. Biomechanics of Human Movement. (3h) Study of the mechanical principles which influence human movement, sport technique, and equipment design. P—HES 352 or POI.

372. Anatomy Dissection Laboratory. (2h) Laboratory course that involves human cadaver dissection of the musculoskeletal, neuromuscular, pulmonary, and cardiovascular systems. Open only to majors. P—POI.

375. Advanced Physiology of Exercise. (3h) Lecture course which provides an in-depth examination of the physiological mechanisms responsible for both the acute and chronic changes which occur with exercise. Included are cellular changes in response to exercise, the ventilatory response to exercise, and metabolic consequences of exercise. P—HES 353 or POI.

376. Interventions in Behavioral Medicine. (3h) Seminar course providing an overview of the development, implementation, and evaluation of interventions within the context of behavioral medicine. Attention is on behavior change theories that have served as the framework for physical activity and weight loss interventions. Hands-on experience is included with current interventions through peer counseling and case study analysis.
382. Individual Study. (1h, 1.5h, 2h) Independent study directed by a faculty adviser. Students must consult the adviser before registering for this course. Open only to majors. P—POI.

384. Special Topics in Health and Exercise Science. (1.5h, 2h, 3h) Intensive investigation of a current scientific research topic in health or exercise science with focus on a specific topic. May be repeated for credit if topic differs. P—Contingent on topic offered and POI.

386. Honors Research. (1.5h) Directed study and research in preparation for a major paper on a subject of mutual interest to the student and faculty honors adviser. Taken only by candidates for departmental honors. P—POI, approval of departmental honors committee, and prior completion of a 1.5-hour Individual Study.

388. Field Internship in Health Sciences. (3h) An extensive hands-on experience in a discipline of the health sciences related to the student’s career goals. This internship occurs outside the Wake Forst University community. Open only to majors. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

Courses in Basic Instruction and Elective Health and Exercise Science

All the 100-level courses listed below are for one hour each, and they can only be taken once for credit except HES 183 which may be repeated once.

100. Lifestyle and Health. Lecture course that deals with the effect of lifestyle behaviors on various health outcomes, including cardiovascular disease, cancer, and sexually-transmitted diseases.

101. Exercise for Health. Laboratory course on physical fitness that covers weight control, cardiovascular endurance, muscular strength, and flexibility.

112. Sports Proficiency.

116. Weight Training.

150. Beginning Tennis.

151. Intermediate Tennis.

160. Beginning Golf.

161. Intermediate Golf.

163. Bowling.

170. Volleyball.

182. Beginning Ice Figure Skating.

183. Intermediate/Advanced Ice Figure Skating. May be repeated once for credit.

194. T’ai Chi.
Health Policy and Administration (HPA)

Director Professor of Economics Michael S. Lawlor

The health policy and administration minor is designed to give students a concentration in the area of public health policy and the study of health care delivery. It is open to all majors and places an emphasis on providing students with the analytical methods and knowledge of institutional complexity necessary to an understanding of the rapidly evolving medical industry. Students interested in either public policy or administrative roles in health care could benefit from the minor. The coursework requires the following five courses (three hours each), for a total of fifteen hours, plus some notable prerequisites (see individual course descriptions for details):

150. Introduction to Public Health. (3h) Survey of the basic structure of the health care system in the United States. Includes discussion of current issues of public policy toward health, organization of health care delivery, and health system reform. Serves as the introduction to the interdisciplinary minor in health policy and administration. Offered every fall.

250. Internship in Health Policy and Administration. (3h) A semester experience in a health care policy or health care administration organization. Students work in conjunction with a director who is a researcher on a public health science research project or with an administrator in health care delivery. Students gain relevant practical experience that builds on prior coursework and provides insight into public health policy issues. Open only to senior health policy and administration students. P—HPA 150 and POI. Offered every spring.

Required Courses for Health Policy and Administration:

- ECN 240. Economics of Health and Medicine. (3h) Fall
- HPA 150. Introduction to Public Health. (3h) Fall
- 250. Internship in Health Policy and Administration. (3h) Spring
- HES 360. Epidemiology. (3h) Spring

Elective Courses for Health Policy and Administration

Choose one course from the following electives. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program director maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

- ANT 362. Medical Anthropology. (3h)
- BIO 396. Biomedical Ethics. (3h)
- HES 312. Exercise and Health Psychology. (3h)
- HST 311. Special Topics in History. (3h) (when topic is controversies in American medical history)
- 339. Health Care in American Society. (3h)
- HMN 390. Interdisciplinary Seminar on Aging. (3h)
- PHI 161. Medical Ethics. (3h)
- POL 216. U.S. Social Welfare Policy. (3h)
- PSY 322. Psychopharmacology. (3h)
SOC 335. Sociology of Health and Illness. (3h)
SOC 336. Sociology of Health Care. (3h)
SOC 337. Aging in Modern Society. (3h)
WGS 321. Research Seminar in Women’s and Gender Studies. (3h)
  (when topic is appropriate)

Since many of the required courses involve prerequisites, students should plan ahead to ensure they can meet all of the requirements in four years. The following schedule suggestions may be helpful:

First Year: Core Requirements, including ECN 150
Sophomore: ECN 205, Applied Statistics (various departmental courses)
Junior: HPA 150, HES 360
Senior: ECN 240, HPA 250

History (HST)

Chair Simone M. Caron
Reynolds Professor Paul D. Escott
Wake Forest Professor Emeritus James P. Barefield, J. Howell Smith, Sarah L. Watts
Professors Nathan O. Hatch, J. Edwin Hendricks, Michael L. Hughes, Anthony S. Parent Jr., Alan J. Williams
Kahle Associate Professor Michele K. Gillespie
Associate Professors Simone M. Caron, Jeffrey D. Lerner, Susan Z. Rupp
Assistant Professors Robert Hellyer, Monique O’Connell, Stephen Vella, Emily Wakild, Charles Wilkins
Senior Lecturers Ronald Bobroff, Gloria Fitzgibbon
Visiting Assistant Professors Michael Bennett, Anders Greenspan, Kent McConnell, Jacob Whittaker
Visiting Instructor Angus Lockyer (London)
Adjunct Instructor M. Beth Hopkins

The major in history consists of a minimum of twenty-seven hours and must include HST 390 or 392, one pre-modern history course (206, 207, 209, 217, 219, 222, 223, 230, 242, 244, 246, 253, 284, 305, 307, 308, 315, 316, 328, or 330) and a minimum of 5.5 hours in each of the following three fields: European history; Latin American, Asian, or African history; and U.S. history. History courses 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 390, 391, and 392 count toward the major but cannot be used to meet the distributional or pre-modern requirements in the major. Majors may only count two 100-level divisional courses toward the required 27 hours.

Majors may include within the required twenty-seven hours up to six hours of advanced placement or comparable work and up to six hours of any combination of individual study and directed reading other than the hours earned in HST 397. The student must have a GPA of 2.0 in history to graduate with the major.

A minor in history requires eighteen hours. Minors may only count two 100-level divisional courses toward the required eighteen hours. Courses that the student elects to take pass/fail do not meet the requirements for the major or minor.
Honors. Highly qualified majors should apply for admission to the honors program in history. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in History,” the student must complete HST 391, present an honors-quality research paper, successfully defend the paper in an oral examination, and earn an overall grade point average of 3.0 with an average of 3.3 on work in history. For additional information, students should consult members of the department.

Students contemplating graduate study should acquire a reading knowledge of one modern foreign language for the master of arts degree and two for the PhD.

Humanities (HMN)

(Interdisciplinary Minor)

Coordinator William S. Hamilton
W.R. Kenan Jr. Professor of Humanities Allen Mandelbaum
Reynolds Professor of American Studies Maya Angelou
Professor Ulrike Wiethaus
Associate Professors Candyce Leonard, Robert L. Utley Jr.

In order to offer capable students a forum which encourages the pursuit of ideas across the disciplinary lines of such fields as history, philosophy, literature, politics, religion, and the arts, the minor is offered in humanities. It requires a total of fifteen hours. Candidates for the minor are required to take HMN 280. Reason and Revelation, and 290. Innovation and Inclusivity. When these have been passed, the student is assigned a minor adviser who assists in planning the rest of the student’s curriculum. In accordance with the plan, six more hours are selected from courses in the humanities or related disciplines other than those being used by the student to fulfill divisional requirements of the College or the requirements of the major.

The minor concludes with a three-hour project in HMN 396 supervised by a member of the humanities faculty and reviewed by a committee of relevant faculty appointed by the coordinator of humanities; the project must represent the further pursuit of an idea or topic studied in one of the courses of the minor, and must successfully reflect the synthesis of views from at least two traditional disciplines.

Interdisciplinary Honors (HON)

Coordinator Professor of English Barry Maine

A series of seminar courses of an interdisciplinary nature is open to qualified undergraduates. Students interested in admission to any one of these seminars should consult the coordinator.

Students who choose to participate in as many as four interdisciplinary seminars and who have a superior record may elect HON 281, directed study culminating in an honors paper and an oral examination. Those whose work has been superior in this course and who have achieved an overall grade point average of at least 3.0 in all college work may be graduated with the distinction “Honors in the Arts and Sciences.” Students who choose to be candidates for departmental honors may not also be candidates for “Honors in the Arts and Sciences.”

Able students are normally encouraged to choose a departmental honors program rather than “Honors in the Arts and Sciences.” As a result, most students elect to participate in only one or two interdisciplinary seminars in which they are particularly interested. The faculty participants for these seminars represent diverse academic disciplines.

131, 132. Approaches to Human Experience I. (3h, 3h) Inquiry into the nature and interrelationships of several approaches to man’s experience, represented by the work of three such minds as Leonardo da Vinci, Dante, Klee, Lorenz, Confucius, Dostoevsky, Descartes, Goya, Mozart, Jefferson, and Bohr. Seminar discussion based on primary and secondary sources, including musical works and paintings. Written reports and a term paper required. Offered in alternate years.

133, 134. Approaches to Human Experience II. (3h, 3h) A parallel course to HON 131, 132, concentrating on the work of a different set of figures such as Einstein, Galileo, Keynes, Pascal, Camus, Picasso, Ibsen, Stravinsky, Sophocles, and Bach. Offered in alternate years.

236. The Force of Impressionism. (3h) Impressionism and its impact on modern painting and literature, with attention to origins and theories of style. Painters include Manet, Monet, Renoir, Degas, and Cezanne. Writers include Baudelaire, Flaubert, Mallarmé, James, Pound, Joyce, and Woolf.
237. The Scientific Outlook. (3h) Exploration of the origins and development of the scientific method and some of its contemporary applications in the natural and social sciences and the humanities.

238. Romanticism. (3h) Romanticism as a recurrent characteristic of mind and art and as a specific historical movement in Europe and America in the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Emphasis on primary materials in philosophy, literature, music, and painting.

240. Adventures in Self-Understanding. (3h) Examination and discussion of significant accounts of the quest for understanding of the self, in differing historical periods, cultural contexts, and genres. Among figures who may be discussed are Augustine, Dante, Gandhi, Montaigne, Descartes, Pascal, and selected modern writers.

241. The Tragic View. (3h) The theory of tragedy in ancient and modern times; the expression of the tragic in literature, art, music, theatre, and film.

242. The Comic View. (3h) The theory of comedy in ancient and modern times; the expression of the comic in literature, art, music, theatre, and film.

247. The Mythic View. (3h) The nature of myth through creation and hero myths; the uses to which myths have been put in different historical periods; various modern explanations of myth (literary, religious, anthropological, psychoanalytic, social, and historical).

248. The Ironic View. (3h) Investigation of the ironic view of life in literature, art, history, theatre, and film.

257. Images of Aging in the Humanities. (3h) Multidisciplinary presentation and discussion of portrayals of aging in selected materials from several of the liberal arts: philosophical and religious perspectives; selections from literature and the visual arts; historical development of perceptions of aging; imaging of aging in contemporary culture. Also listed as HNM 357.

258. Venice in Art and Literature. (3h) Exploration of what Venice has meant to non-native artists and writers, and what they have made of it. Artists and writers include Byron, Turner, Ruskin, Henry James, Sargent, Whistler, Proust, Mann, and others.

265. Humanity and Nature. (3h) Multidisciplinary exploration of relations of human beings to nature, and of scientific, economic, and political factors in current environmental concerns. Selected religious, classical, and philosophical texts; works of visual art; selected discussions of ecology and human responsibility. Also listed as HNM 365.

281. Directed Study. (3h) Readings on an interdisciplinary topic and presentation of a major research or interpretive paper based on these readings, under the direction of a faculty member; an oral examination on the topic. Eligible students must submit a written request to the coordinator of interdisciplinary honors by the end of the junior year. Not open to candidates for departmental honors.

285. Performance Art and Theory. (3h) Introduction to the theory of performance art and its practice, with attention to its interdisciplinary underpinnings in art, music, dance, and theatre. Student performances required.

310. The Medieval World: Special Topics. (3h) Team-taught course spanning the Middle Ages (500-1500) which considers artistic and/or literary representations and texts in the context of political, historical, or religious culture of the medieval period in Western and non-Western areas of the world. Specific content is determined by the individual instructors.
390. Postmodern Thought and Expression. (3h) Exploration of postmodern philosophy, literature, and art, beginning with Nietzsche, Foucault, and Derrida, and extending into experiments in literature and art of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries.

393, 394. American Foundations I, II. (3h, 3h) Interdisciplinary study of American art, music, literature, and social history with particular reference to the art collection and/or exhibitions at Reynolda House Museum of American Art. Lecture and discussion. Also listed as ART 331, HST 349, and MUS 307. English majors may receive credit for ENG 302. Major credit in any department dependent upon staffing by that department.

International Development and Policy (IDP)

Director Zachary T. Smith Associate Professor of Economics Sylvain H. Boko

The minor in international development and policy emphasizes the study of the major contending theories and approaches to international development and their relationship to development-related policies in both rich and poor nations. The minor enables students to acquire critical skills of evaluation of the decisions and actions of the major multilateral institutions and their impacts on developing countries’ policy choices. Students interested in understanding world issues such as poverty, debt, the environment, women in development, hunger, and conflict stand to benefit from this minor. The minor consists of fifteen credits. The required courses are IDP 150, ECN 201, 258, and 271, yielding nine credits. The remaining six credits are received from an approved list of elective courses.

Required Courses: Please note the prerequisites for each course.

International Studies (INS)

Coordinator Professor of Sociology Ian Taplin

The minor in international studies consists of a total of fifteen hours which must include INS 250. Seminar in International Studies and twelve additional hours from approved international courses. Of the twelve additional hours, students must take two courses from each of the two categories: Global Thematic Studies and Regional Studies. No more than six of the fifteen hours for the minor may be taken from a single discipline. It is strongly recommended that INS 250 be taken in either the fall or spring semester of the senior year, but it must follow completion of the other aforementioned requirements.

1. Global Thematic Studies: Two courses preferably selected from a single category.
   a. cultural studies
   b. socio-economic studies
   c. geopolitical studies

2. Regional Studies: Two courses, preferably selected from a single region.
   a. Africa  d. Latin America
   b. Asia  e. Middle East
   c. Europe

The international studies minor is designed to prepare students to operate in an increasingly globalized world whose defining traits are a myriad of transnational challenges and opportunities. The minor exposes students to a variety of transregional themes and subjects on one hand and particular knowledge of specific regions on the other. Study of a foreign language beyond the basic requirements is strongly recommended, as is study abroad. For more information contact the Center for International Studies.

The current list of approved courses is available in the Center for International Studies and on its Web site. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

140. United Nations/Model United Nations. (1.5h) Exploration of the history, structure, and functions of the United Nations including current economic, social, and political issues. In-depth analysis of one country in the UN and attendance at the Model UN Conference. May be taken twice for credit. Pass/Fail only.

150. Intercultural Competency. (.5h) Introduces students to the theoretical approaches to cultural learning. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

151. Intercultural Competency. (.5h) Gives students the opportunity to apply knowledge and skills gained from INS 150 to develop a better understanding of cultural variables such as value orientations, communication styles, and nonverbal communication. Pass/Fail only. P—INS 150.

152. Intercultural Competency. (.5h) Students reflect on their experience abroad and the cultural learning that occurred there and develop strategies for dealing with reverse culture shock. Pass/Fail only. P—INS 151.

228. Individual Study. (1h, 2h, 3h) Intensive research leading to the completion of an individual project conducted under the supervision of a faculty member. Students are responsible for initiating the project and securing permission of an appropriate faculty member. P—POI.

229. Internship in International Studies. (1h, 2h, 3h) Field work directly related to international issues in a public or private setting under the supervision of a faculty member. Related readings and an analytical paper are minimum requirements. Students are responsible for initiating the project and securing the permission of an appropriate instructor. P—POI.

250. Seminar in International Studies. (3h) Applies theoretical assumptions and methods to the analysis of international issues of contemporary relevance. P—POI. (CD)

260. Seminar in Global Trade and Commerce Studies. (3h) Provides foundational knowledge in global trade and commerce. Focuses on understanding the global environment and the variety of issues associated with global trade and commerce. P—POI.

349. Japanese and American Culture: Cross-Cultural Communication. (3h) Exploration of communication differences between the Japanese and the Americans. Japanese and American values, behavior, and beliefs are compared in determining effective methods for cross-cultural communication. Emphasis is on examining factors leading to miscommunication and the development of techniques for overcoming cultural barriers. Credit not given for both INS 349 and COM 351A. Also listed as COM 351A. (CD)

363. Global Capitalism. (3h) Analysis of changing patterns of industrial organization, market, and labor relations, and institutional frameworks that have resulted from the growth of an integrated global capitalist economy. Also listed as SOC 363.
The following course does not count for the minor but is designed to ensure that students who study overseas receive sufficient credit to make satisfactory progress toward graduation: INS 101.

101. Overseas Study. (1-3h) Directed reading and/or field work as part of an approved overseas program under the supervision of the program coordinator or the Center for International Studies. The keeping of a journal and submission of an end of program evaluation are required. P—POI.

Languages Across the Curriculum (LAC)

Coordinator Charles E. Taylor Professor of Romance Languages Candelas Gala

Languages Across the Curriculum (LAC) is a strategy to integrate foreign language use throughout the curriculum. It facilitates the collaboration of faculty by bridging disciplinary boundaries, and it promotes the internationalization of course offerings. LAC encourages multicultural understanding and an appreciation of the place of different disciplines in a global context. It recognizes the importance of multilingualism in today’s society. Faculty and students learn how a discipline they have first studied in their native English is approached by different cultures and different linguistic codes.

Faculty members determine the most appropriate LAC model and level for their courses. For more information about the various models for LAC implementation, visit www.wfu.edu/academics/romancelanguages/related/lac.htm.

Latin-American Studies (LAS)

Director Reynolds Professor Luis Roniger
Associate Professor of Romance Languages Mary Friedman
Associate Professor of Political Science Peter Siavelis

The minor in Latin-American studies provides an opportunity for students to undertake a multidisciplinary study of the history, geography, economics, politics, and culture of Latin America and the Caribbean. It consists of a total of fifteen hours; three of these (but no more) may also count toward the student’s major. Candidates for the minor are required to take LAS
210. Introduction to Latin-American Studies, and choose electives amounting to twelve hours of coursework on Latin America. No more than six of these twelve hours may be in a single discipline.

Candidates should demonstrate proficiency in Spanish or Portuguese either by completing Spanish courses through the 213 level or by undergoing an oral proficiency interview with a member of the faculty of the Department of Romance Languages.

Five-Year BA/MA Degree Program Option. Students who choose to minor in Latin-American studies have the opportunity to pursue a joint BA/MA program in conjunction with the Center for Latin-American Studies at Georgetown University in Washington, DC. This program allows outstanding students interested in Latin America to begin work toward an interdisciplinary master’s degree in Latin-American studies while still undergraduates at Wake Forest, and to complete both degrees within a five-year period. The bachelor of arts degree is awarded by Wake Forest, while the master’s degree is awarded by Georgetown. Interested students should contact the director of Latin-American studies or the five-year degree program coordinator.

210. Introduction to Latin-American Studies. (3h) Introduction to the historical, economic, cultural, and social issues that shape Latin America. Also listed as ANT 210. (CD)

220C. Afro-Cuban Cultural Expressions. (3h) Also listed as SPN 371C. Offered in Havana. (CD)

310. Special Topics in Latin-American Studies. (3h) Selected topics in Latin-American studies; topics vary from year to year.

398. Individual Study. (3h) Reading, research, or internship course designed to meet the needs and interests of selected students, to be carried out under the supervision of a faculty member in the Latin-American studies minor. P—POI.

Students may choose from the following list of electives when designing their minor. See the relevant department listings for course descriptions. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program director maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. Visit www.wfu.edu/ias for current offerings.

Linguistics (LIN)

Coordinator Professor of Romance Languages (Spanish) M. Stanley Whitley

The interdisciplinary minor in linguistics requires LIN 150. Introduction to Linguistics, and twelve additional hours. Students minoring in linguistics are strongly encouraged to study foreign languages, achieving proficiency in at least one, and social and behavioral sciences. The minor may be usefully combined with a major in a foreign language, English, anthropology (or other social science), philosophy, or communication.

The twelve hours in addition to LIN 150 may be chosen from the following three groups:
linguistics courses, historical linguistics, and related topics. It is strongly recommended that at least one course be from historical linguistics.
Students intending to minor in linguistics should consult the coordinator of linguistics in the Department of Romance Languages, preferably during their sophomore year. Students may choose from the approved list of electives when designing their minor. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all elective courses that fulfill the minor.

Linguistics Courses

150. Introduction to Linguistics. (3h) The social phenomenon of language: how it originated and developed, how it is learned and used, its relationship to other kinds of behavior; types of language (oral, written, signed) and language families; analysis of linguistic data; and social issues of language use. Also listed as ANT 150. (CD)

301. Semantics and Language in Communication. (3h) Study of how meaning is created by sign processes. Topics studied include language theory, semiotics, speech act theory, and pragmatics. Also listed as COM 301.

310. Sociolinguistics and Dialectology. (3h) Study of variation in language: effects of regional background, social class, ethnic group, gender, and setting; social attitudes toward language; outcomes of linguistic conflicts in the community; evolution of research methods for investigating language differences and the diffusion of change. P—LIN 150 or POI.

330. Introduction to Psycholinguistics and Language Acquisition. (3h) Psychological and linguistic study of the mental processes underlying the acquisition and use of language; how children acquire the structure of language and how adults make use of linguistic systems.

333. Language and Gender. (3h) Uses an anthropological perspective to examine relationships between language structure, language use, persons, and social categories. Also listed as ANT 333.

337. TESOL Linguistics. (3h) An introduction to the theoretical and practical linguistics resources and skills for teaching English to speakers of other languages (TESOL) within the United States or abroad. Also listed as EDU 337. P—LIN 150 or ENG 304; knowledge of a second language is recommended.

340. Topics in Linguistics. (3h) Interdisciplinary study of selected topics, such as morphology, phonology/phonetics, syntax, historical linguistics, history of linguistic theory, semiotics, and ethnolinguistics, issues in Asian linguistics, language and gender. May be repeated for credit if topic varies. P—LIN 150 or POI.

351. Comparative Communication. (1.5h, 3h) Comparison of communicative and linguistic processes in one or more national cultures with those of the United States. Also listed as COM 351. (CD)

351A Japan (CD) 351D Multiple Countries (CD)
351B Russia (CD) 351E China (CD)
351C Great Britain (CD)

375. Philosophy of Language. (3h) Study of such philosophical issues about language as truth and meaning, reference and description, proper names, indexicals, modality, tense, the semantic paradoxes, and the differences between languages and other sorts of sign systems. Also listed as PHI 375. P—POI.
383. Language Engineering: Localization & Terminology. (3h) Introduction to the process of making a product linguistically and culturally appropriate to the target locale, and to computer-assisted terminology management. Surveys applications in translation technology. Taught in English. P—POI.

398, 399. Individual Study. (1-3h, 1-3h) Designed to meet the needs of selected students, to be carried out under the supervision of a faculty member in the linguistics minor program. P—LIN 150 and POI.

SIL 101, 102. Self Instructional Language. (3h, 3h) Students wishing to learn a language not offered at Wake Forest may arrange to study the language in consultation with a native speaker. Does not count toward the linguistics minor without approval from the coordinator. P—POI.

A major in mathematics can be achieved by satisfying the requirements listed for either the bachelor of arts or bachelor of science. Lower division students are urged to consult a member of the departmental faculty before enrolling in courses other than those satisfying Division V requirements.

The bachelor of arts in mathematics requires MTH 112, 113, 121, 211 or 311, and 321 with at least five additional three-hour courses numbered higher than 109 (excluding 205, 306, and 381), at least two of which must be numbered above 300.

The bachelor of arts in mathematics with a concentration in statistics requires MTH 112, 113, 121, 211 or 311, 321, 357, 358, 359, and either 256 or both 109 and another three-hour course numbered 200 or above (excluding 205, 306, and 381).

The bachelor of science in mathematics requires MTH 112, 113, 121, 311, 321, 391, and 392 with at least six additional three-hour courses numbered higher than 109 (excluding 205, 306, and 381), at least three of which must be numbered above 300.

The bachelor of science in mathematics with a concentration in statistics requires MTH 112, 113, 121, 311, 321, 357, 358, 359, 391, 392; one additional three-hour course numbered 300 or above (excluding 306 and 381); and 256 or both 109 and another three-hour course numbered 200 or above (excluding 205, 306, and 381). Additionally, the research and paper prepared for 391 and 392 must be on a topic related to statistics.

The bachelor of science in interdisciplinary mathematics requires MTH 112, 113, 121, 311 or 321, 391 and 392, as well as seven additional three/four hour classroom courses (not individual studies). These seven courses must be in math or the focused collateral area and must consist of at least three math courses above 116 with at least one being at the 300 level or above; also, the seven courses must consist of at least three focused collateral courses at the 200 level or above. These collateral courses require approval by an advisory committee, and they can not be double counted for any other major at the university. Finally, the 391/392 senior project should have some ties to the collateral area.

A minor in mathematics requires MTH 112, either 113 or 121, and four other courses of at least three hours each numbered higher than MTH 105, two of which must be numbered above 200. Credit is allowed for either MTH 107 or 109, but not both.
A minor in statistics requires five courses chosen from MTH 109, 117, 121, 211, 311, 256, 357, 358, or 359; ANT 380; BIO 380; BUS 201, 202; ECN 215; HES 262, 360; PSY 311, 312; SOC 371, 372; at least two of which must be chosen from MTH 357, 358, 359. Additionally, no more than one course can be chosen from ANT 380; BIO 380; BUS 201; HES 262; MTH 109; PSY 311; or SOC 371 to satisfy this minor.

A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in courses which comprise a major or minor in the department is required for graduation with any major or minor which the department offers. Students may not earn both a major and a minor in the department.

The department regularly schedules activities in mathematics for students that enhance the course offerings. Examples are participation in the annual Putnam examination and the COMAP contest in mathematical modeling; meetings of the mathematics club; seminars and courses which build upon the regularly scheduled course offerings; and student research with faculty.

The Bachelor of Science Degree in Mathematical Economics. The Department of Mathematics and the Department of Economics offer a joint major leading to a bachelor of science degree in mathematical economics. This interdisciplinary program offers the student an opportunity to apply mathematical methods to the development of economic theory, models, and quantitative analysis. The major has the following course requirements: MTH 112, 113, 121, 254, 255; ECN 150, 205, 207, 210, 211, 215, 218; and three additional (3h) courses chosen with the approval of the program advisers. Students selecting the joint major must receive permission from both the Department of Mathematics and the Department of Economics.

The Bachelor of Science Degree in Mathematical Business. The Department of Mathematics and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy offer a joint major leading to a bachelor of science degree in mathematical business. This interdisciplinary program, consisting of no more than forty-eight hours, prepares students for careers in business with a strong background in mathematics. The major has the following course requirements: MTH 205 (or both 113 and 121), 253, 256, and 353; ACC 221; BUS 211, 221, 241, 251, 261, 292; FIN 231 and a minimum of two additional (3h) courses chosen from among mathematics and business, not both courses chosen from business, with the mathematics courses being chosen from three-hour courses at the 300 level or higher, excluding 381. The following courses are prerequisites for admission into this major: MTH 112, ACC 111, and ECN 150. CSC 111, 112, and MTH 251 are strongly recommended electives. Students electing this joint major must receive permission from both the Department of Mathematics and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. To graduate from Wake Forest University with a major in mathematical business, the student must satisfy the requirements for graduation of both the Department of Mathematics and the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. Refer to the description in this bulletin for the admission, continuation, and graduation requirements of the Calloway School.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to apply for admission to the honors program in mathematics or the joint majors. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Mathematics,” “Honors in Mathematical Business,” or “Honors in Mathematical Economics,” students must satisfactorily complete a senior research paper. To graduate with “Honors in Mathematics” or “Honors in Mathematical Business,” majors must have a minimum grade point average of 3.5 in the major and 3.0 in all college coursework. For additional information, members of the departmental faculty should be consulted.

Students who are enrolled at Wake Forest may not take courses in mathematics at other institutions to satisfy divisional requirements.
105. Fundamentals of Algebra and Trigonometry. (1.5h, 2.5h, or 3h) Review of the essentials of algebra and trigonometry. Admission by permission only (generally, a student must have taken fewer than three years of high school mathematics to be eligible for admission). Not to be counted toward the major or minor in mathematics.

107. Explorations in Mathematics. (4h) Introduction to mathematical reasoning and problem solving. Topics vary by instructor and may include one or more of the following: knot theory, Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometry, set theory, cryptography, discrete models, number theory, discrete mathematics, chaos theory, probability, and MAPLE programming. (D, QR)

111. Calculus with Analytic Geometry I. (4h) Functions, trigonometric functions, limits, continuity, differentiation, applications of derivatives, introduction to integration, and the fundamental theorem of calculus. (D, QR)

112. Calculus with Analytic Geometry II. (4h) Techniques of integration, indeterminate forms, improper integrals, transcendental functions, sequences, Taylor’s formula, and infinite series, including power series. (D, QR)

113. Multivariable Calculus. (4h) The calculus of vector functions, including geometry of Euclidean space, differentiation, extrema, line integrals, multiple integrals, and Green’s, Stokes’, and divergence theorems. Credit not allowed for both 113 and 205. (D, QR)

117. Discrete Mathematics. (4h) Introduction to various topics in discrete mathematics applicable to computer science including sets, relations, Boolean algebra, propositional logic, functions, computability, proof techniques, graph theory, and elementary combinatorics. (D, QR)

121. Linear Algebra I. (3h) Vectors and vector spaces, linear transformations and matrices, determinants, eigenvalues, and eigenvectors. Credit not allowed for both 121 and 205. (D, QR)

165. Problem-Solving Seminar. (1h) Weekly seminar designed for students who wish to participate in mathematical competition such as the annual Putnam examination. Not to be counted toward any major or minor offered by the department. May be repeated for credit. Pass/Fail only.

205. Applied Multivariable Mathematics. (3h) Introduction to several topics in applied mathematics including complex numbers, probability, matrix algebra, multivariable calculus, and ordinary differential equations. Not to be counted toward any major offered by the department except for the major in mathematical business. Credit not allowed for both 205 and 121, or for both 205 and 113. P—MTH 112.

211. Advanced Calculus. (3h) Rigorous proof-oriented development of important ideas in calculus. Limits and continuity, sequences and series, pointwise and uniform convergence, derivatives and integrals. Credit not allowed for both 211 and 311. (D)

243. Codes and Cryptography. (3h) Essential concepts in coding theory and cryptography. Congruences, cryptosystems, public key, Huffman codes, information theory, and other coding methods. (D)

251. Ordinary Differential Equations. (3h) Linear equations with constant coefficients, linear equations with variable coefficients, and existence and uniqueness theorems for first order equations. P—MTH 112. (D, QR)

254. Optimization Theory. (1.5h) Unconstrained and constrained optimization problems; Lagrange multiplier methods; sufficient conditions involving bordered Hessians; inequality constraints; Kuhn-Tucker conditions; applications primarily to problems in economics. P—MTH 113 and 121.

255. Dynamical Systems. (1.5h) Introduction to optimal control, including the Pontryagin maximum principle, and systems of nonlinear differential equations, particularly phase space methods. Applications to problems in economics, including optimal management of renewable resources. P—MTH 113 and 121.

256. Statistical Methods. (3h) Study of statistical methods that have proved useful in many different disciplines. These methods include tests of model assumptions, regression, general linear models, nonparametric alternatives, and analysis of data collected over time. Knowledge of matrix algebra is desirable but not necessary. (D, QR)

306. Advanced Mathematics for the Physical Sciences. (3h) Advanced topics in linear algebra, special functions, integral transforms, and partial differential equations. Not to be counted toward any major offered by the department except for the major in mathematical business. P—MTH 205.

311, 312. Introductory Real Analysis I, II. (3h, 3h) Limits and continuity in metric spaces, sequences and series, differentiation and Riemann-Stieltjes integration, uniform convergence, power series and Fourier series, differentiation of vector functions, implicit and inverse function theorems. Credit not allowed for both 211 and 311. (D)

317. Complex Analysis I. (3h) Analytic functions, Cauchy’s theorem and its consequences, power series, and residue calculus. Credit not allowed for both 303 and 317. P—MTH 113. (D)

321. Modern Algebra I. (3h) Introduction to modern abstract algebra through the study of groups, rings, integral domains, and fields. P—MTH 121. (D)

322. Modern Algebra II. (3h) Continuation of modern abstract algebra through the study of additional properties of groups, rings, and fields. P—MTH 321. (D)

324. Linear Algebra II. (3h) Thorough treatment of vector spaces and linear transformations over an arbitrary field, canonical forms, inner product spaces, and linear groups. P—MTH 121 and 321. (D)

326. Numerical Linear Algebra. (3h) Numerical methods for solving matrix and related problems in science and engineering. Topics include systems of linear equations, least squares methods, and eigenvalue computations. Beginning knowledge of a high-level programming language is required. Credit not allowed for both 326 and CSC 352. P—MTH 112 and MTH 121 or 205. (D)

331. Geometry. (3h) Introduction to axiomatic geometry including a comparison of Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometries. (D)

334. Differential Geometry. (3h) Introduction to the theory of curves and surfaces in two and three dimensional space, including such topics as curvature, geodesics, and minimal surfaces. P—MTH 113. (D)
345, 346. Elementary Theory of Numbers I, II. (3h, 3h) Properties of integers, including congruences, primitive roots, quadratic residues, perfect numbers, Pythagorean triples, sums of squares, continued fractions, Fermat’s Last Theorem, and the Prime Number Theorem. (D)

348, 349. Combinatorial Analysis I, II. (3h, 3h) Enumeration techniques, generating functions, recurrence formulas, the principle of inclusion and exclusion, Polya theory, graph theory, combinatorial algorithms, partially ordered sets, designs, Ramsey theory, symmetric functions, and Schur functions. (D)

352. Partial Differential Equations. (3h) Detailed study of partial differential equations, including the heat, wave, and Laplace equations, using methods such as separation of variables, characteristics, Green’s functions, and the maximum principle. P—MTH 113 and 251. (D)

353. Mathematical Models. (3h) Development and application of probabilistic and deterministic models. Emphasis given to constructing models which represent systems in the social, behavioral, and management sciences. (D)

355. Introduction to Numerical Methods. (3h) Numerical computations on modern computer architectures; floating point arithmetic and round-off error. Programming in a scientific/engineering language such as MATLAB, C, or FORTRAN. Algorithms and computer techniques for the solution of problems such as roots of functions, approximation, integration, systems of linear equations and least squares methods. Credit not allowed for both MTH 355 and CSC 355. P—MTH 112, MTH 121 or 205, and CSC 111. (D)

357, 358. Mathematical Statistics I, II. (3h, 3h) Probability distributions, mathematical expectation, sampling distributions, estimation and testing of hypotheses, regression, correlation, and analysis of variance. MTH 357 prepares students for Actuarial Exam #1. C—MTH 112 or P—POI. (D)

359. Multivariate Statistics. (3h) Multivariate and generalized linear methods for classification, modeling, discrimination, and analysis. P—MTH 112, MTH 121 or 205, and MTH 256. (D)

361. Selected Topics. (1.5h, 2.5h, or 3h) Topics in mathematics not considered in regular courses or which continue study begun in regular courses. Content varies.

381. Individual Study. (1.5h, 2.5h, or 3h) Independent study directed by a faculty adviser. By prearrangement.

391. Senior Seminar Preparation. (1h) Independent study or research directed by a faculty adviser by prearrangement with the adviser.

392. Senior Seminar Presentation. (1h) Preparation of a paper, followed by a one-hour oral presentation based upon work in MTH 391.
Medieval Studies

Coordinators Professors of English Gillian Overing and Gale Sigal

The interdisciplinary minor in medieval studies requires eighteen hours, chosen from at least three different departments. Courses from the student’s major may count in the minor. Students are encouraged, but not required, to attend the six-week Summer Medieval Program at Oxford University in England, for which they receive 4.5 hours (two courses) which count toward the minor. (For details about application to the Oxford program, and possible financial aid, consult Gale Sigal in the English department.)

Courses may be chosen from the following list. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinators maintain a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

Electives for Medieval Studies

- ART 252. Romanesque Art. (3h)
  253. The Gothic Cathedral. (3h)
  254. Luxury Arts in the Middle Ages. (3h)
  267. Early Italian Renaissance Art. (3h)
  396. Art History Seminar: b. Medieval Art. (1.5h, 3h)
- ENG 305. Old English Language and Literature. (3h)
  310. The Medieval World. (3h)
  311. The Legend of Arthur. (3h)
  312. Medieval Poetry. (3h)
  315. Chaucer. (3h)
  320. British Drama to 1642. (3h)
- FRH 370. Seminar in French and Francophone Studies. (3h)
  (Periodically offered in medieval studies)
- GER 349. German Literature before 1700. (3h)
- HST 206. The Early Middle Ages. (3h)
  207. The High Middle Ages Through the Renaissance. (3h)
  242. The Middle East before 1500. (3h)
  311. Special Topics in History. (when topic is Jerusalem) (3h)
- HMN 320. Perspectives on the Middle Ages. (3h)
  361. Dante I. (1.5h)
  362. Dante II. (1.5h)
- PHI 237. Medieval Philosophy. (3h)
- POL 274. Religion and Politics in Medieval Thought. (3h)
- REL 367. The Mystics of the Church. (3h)
  372. History of Christian Thought (3h)
- SPN 331. Medieval Spain: A Cultural and Literary Perspective. (3h)
- THE 310. History of Western Theatre I (Beginnings to 1642). (3h)

Students intending to minor in medieval studies should consult one of the coordinators, preferably during the sophomore year.

(Minor)

Coordinator Professor of Political Science Charles H. Kennedy

The Middle East and South Asia studies minor provides students with an opportunity to engage in a multidisciplinary study of the history, politics, literature, peoples, and cultures of the Middle East and South Asia. To fulfill the minor, students must complete eighteen hours from an approved list of courses. Students may count no more than 10 hours from any of the foreign language offerings toward the minor.

Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication. Some courses relevant to the minor are not taught on a regular basis; others are offered by visiting or temporary faculty.

Electives for Middle East and South Asia Studies

ANT 334. Peoples and Cultures of South Asia. (3h)
383., 384. Field Research in Cultural Anthropology. (when topic is appropriate) (3h, 3h)
Arabic 111, 112. Elementary Arabic. (3h)
153. Intermediate Arabic. (4h)
213. Introduction to Arabic Literature. (3h)
218. Basic Arabic Conversation. (1.5h or 3h)
ART 104. Topics in World Art. (when topic is appropriate) (3h)
ENG 358. Postcolonial Literature. (3h)
359. Studies in Postcolonial Literature. (3h)
HST 242. The Middle East before 1500. (3h)
243. The Middle East since 1500. (3h)
311. Special Topics in History. (when topic is appropriate) (3h)
HMN 2248. Cross-cultural Encounters in Morocco. (3h)
NLL 111, 112. Elementary Hebrew. (3h, 3h)
153. Intermediate Hebrew. (3h)
211. Hebrew Literature. (3h)
212. Hebrew Literature II. (3h)
301. Introduction to Semitic Languages. (3h)
302. Akkadian I. (3h)
303. Akkadian II. (3h)
310. Intermediate Readings in Classical Hebrew. (1h)
311. Aramaic. (3h)
315. Syriac. (3h)
321., 322. Introduction to Middle Egyptian I and II. (3h, 3h)
325. Coptic. (3h)
POL 242. Topics in Comparative Politics. (when topic is appropriate) (3h)
246. Politics and Policies in South Asia. (3h)
247. Islam and Politics. (3h)
252. Topics in International Politics (when topic is appropriate) (3h)
Competition of Army Reserve Officers’ Training Corps (AROTC) requirements and recommendation for appointment by the professor of military science may result in commissioning as a second lieutenant in the active or reserve force components of the Army of the United States, as determined by the Secretary of the Army.

The AROTC program is composed of the basic course and the advanced course. The basic course consists of four courses (121, 122, 123, and 124), with either 117 or 118 taken each semester as a corequisite. No military obligation is incurred by enrollment in the basic course, except by Army ROTC Scholarship cadets. The basic course may be completed, partially or fully, by various alternative methods (e.g., through credit for specific types of Junior ROTC or other military training, as determined by the professor of military science, or through completion of a six-week summer Leader’s Training Course).

The advanced course consists of four courses (225, 226, 227, and 228), with either 117 or 118 taken each semester as a corequisite, and a five-week Leader Development and Assessment Course, usually attended during the summer between the junior and senior years. Army ROTC scholarships are available to qualified applicants (both those already enrolled in the AROTC program and those not yet enrolled) through annual competition.

114. Leadership. (1.5h) Examination of the fundamentals contributing to the development of a personal style of leadership with emphasis on the dimensions of junior executive management; specifically in the areas of business, politics, sports, and the military.

117, 118. Leadership Laboratory. (0.0h) Basic military skills instruction designed to technically and tactically qualify the student for assignment of an officer leadership position at the small-unit level. Either MIL 117 (fall) or 118 (spring) is required each semester for contracted AROTC cadets (including those conditionally contracted), advance designee scholarship winners, and non-contracted AROTC cadets taking their third and fourth military science courses. Pass/ Fail only. C—Any other military science core course. P—POI of military science, except when required as explained above.

121. Introduction to Army ROTC and the U.S. Army. (1.5h) Introduction to the Army Reserve Officers’ Training Corps and to the U.S. Army, exploring roles, organization, customs and traditions. C—MIL 117.

122. Introduction to Problem Solving, Decision Making, and Leadership. (3h) Introduction to the “life skills” of problem solving, decision making, and leadership. Designed to help students be more effective leaders and managers, whether they serve in the military or lead in civilian life. Topics addressed include problem solving, critical thinking, problem solving methods, leadership theory, followership, group cohesion, goal setting, and feedback mechanisms. Seminar format emphasizes student discussions and practical exercises. P—MIL 121 or POI. C—MIL 118.

123. Introduction to U.S. Army Leadership Skill. (3h) Introduction to the Army tactical concepts such as map reading, land navigation and general operations with a focus on the Army leadership model exploring the sixteen leadership dimensions. C—MIL 117.

124. Leadership in the U.S. Army. (3h) Theoretical and practical leadership instruction. Examines communication and leadership concepts such as written and oral communication, effective listening, assertiveness, personality, adult development, motivation, and organizational culture and change. Lessons maximize student participation, inspire intellectual curiosity, and clarify practical application. Concludes with a major leadership and problem-solving case study. After completion, students are well-grounded in fundamental leadership principles and are better prepared to apply such principles to a wide variety of life experiences. P—MIL 121, 122 and 123, or POI. C—MIL 118.

225. Military Operations. (3h) Instruction and case studies that build leadership competencies and military skills in preparation for future responsibilities as Army officers. Specific instruction in the principles of war, decision-making processes, planning models, and risk assessment. Advanced leadership instruction focuses on motivational theory, the role and actions of leaders, and organizational communications. P—MIL 121 through 124 (or equivalent credit as determined by the professor of military science). C—MIL 117.

226. Advanced Military Operations. (3h) Instruction and case studies that build upon the leadership competencies and military skills attained in MIL 225 in preparation for future responsibilities as Army officers. Specific instruction is given in individual leader development, planning and execution of small unit operations, individual and team development, and the Army as a career choice. P—MIL 121 through 124 (or equivalent credit as determined by the professor of military science) and MIL 225. C—MIL 117.

227. Leadership and Management in the U.S. Army I. (3h) Theory and practice of military leadership. Emphasis on the Uniform Code of Military Justice, the Manual for Courts-Martial, the Law of Land Warfare and the Army’s personnel, training, and logistical management systems. P—MIL 121 through 124 (or equivalent credit as determined by the professor of military science) and MIL 225 and 226. C—MIL 117.

228. Leadership and Management in the U.S. Army II. (3h) Continuation of MIL 227 with emphasis on the transition from cadet to officer. P—MIL 121 through 124 (or equivalent credit as determined by the professor of military science) and MIL 225 through 227. C—MIL 118.
229. American Military History. (3h) The American military experience with emphasis on the ideas and activities contributing to the development of the United States’ unique military establishment. Particular emphasis on civilian control of the military. Credit not allowed for both MIL 229 and HST 369. P—POI.

Music (MUS)

Chair Stewart Carter
Composer-in-Residence and Professor Dan Locklair
Professors Susan Harden Borwick, Stewart Carter, Louis Goldstein, Peter Kairoff, David B. Levy, Teresa Radomski
Director of Choral Ensembles and Associate Professor Brian Gorelick
Associate Professors Jacqui Carrasco, Richard E. Heard
Director of Bands C. Kevin Bowen
Associate Director of Bands Philip Morgan
Director of Orchestra David Hagy
Senior Lecturers Patricia Dixon, Kathryn Levy
Lecturer Joanne Inkman
Adjunct Instructors John Paul Antonelli, Lorena Guillén, Pamela Howland, William Osborne
Lecturer Morten Solvik (Vienna)

The Department of Music offers two majors, one in music performance, requiring thirty-eight hours, and a second in music in liberal arts, requiring forty hours. Students who choose one of these majors may not choose the other as a second major. Both majors include a basic curriculum of music theory (MUS 171, 172, 173, 174, sixteen hours) and music history (MUS 181, 182, 183, nine hours), and four semesters of MUS 100.

Major in Music in Liberal Arts. In addition to the basic curriculum, the major in music in liberal arts requires three hours of individual instruction (MUS 161 or 162), three hours of ensembles (excluding MUS 128 and 129), taken in three semesters; seven hours of elective courses in music—excluding ensembles and MUS 101, 104, 109, 131, 161-162, 165-168, 175, 177, 262—and a performance proficiency examination. The major in music in liberal arts must complete a senior project (MUS 397 or 398). To undertake the senior project, a student must have a grade point average of 2.0 in courses in the major.

Major in Music Performance. To be admitted to the major in music performance, a student must first successfully complete MUS 171 and then pass an audition before the entire music faculty. The audition should be completed during the sophomore year in order to fulfill during the third and fourth years the number of hours above the 100-level required of the performance major. Students who audition are required to (1) demonstrate technical skill when appropriate to the instrument, (2) perform standard repertoire, and (3) sight-read. All of the required areas must be deemed strong enough by a majority vote of the faculty for the student to be accepted as a major in music performance. In addition to the basic curriculum, the major in music performance requires six hours of individual instruction above the 100 level (MUS 262 and either 362 or 363), which require as a prerequisite the successful completion of an audition; four hours of ensembles (excluding MUS 119, 128, and 129), taken in four semesters; and three hours of elective courses in music, excluding ensembles and MUS 101, 104, 109, 131, 161-162, 165-168, 175,
The major in music performance must present a senior recital. To undertake the senior recital, a student must have a grade point average of 2.0 in courses in the major.

Students considering a major in music performance or music in liberal arts are urged to begin their musical studies during the first year and should consult the chair of the department as soon as possible after entering the University.

Honors. Highly qualified majors in music performance or music in liberal arts may be invited by the music faculty to apply for admission to honors in music. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Music,” a candidate must have an overall grade point average of at least 3.0, and a grade point average of at least 3.5 in courses in the major, be selected for this honor by the music faculty, and successfully complete either MUS 363 or 398. More information is available from the music department.

A minor in music requires nineteen hours: MUS 171, 172; one course from MUS 181, 182, 183; two hours of ensemble (excluding MUS 128, 129), taken in two semesters; two hours of individual instruction; three semesters of MUS 100; and four hours of elective courses in music, three of which must be in music in liberal arts, excluding MUS 100, 101, 104, and 109. Each minor is assigned an adviser in the music department and is encouraged to begin individual lessons, MUS 171, and MUS 100 as early as possible.

Regarding ensemble requirements for the majors and minor in music, students who are singers must fulfill the ensemble requirement by enrolling in MUS 114, 115 and/or 116. Students who play a band or orchestral instrument must fulfill the ensemble requirement by performing on their primary instrument in MUS 112, 113, 118, and/or 121. Performers on keyboard instruments are strongly encouraged to enroll in one of the above ensembles, but may also fulfill the ensemble requirement through participation in chamber music (MUS 120).

General Music

101. Introduction to Western Music. (3h) Basic theoretical concepts and musical terminology. Survey of musical styles, composers, and selected works from the Middle Ages through the present day. May not count toward the majors or minor in music. (D)

104. Basic Music Reading and Skills. (1.5h) Study of the fundamentals of music theory including key signatures, scales, intervals, chords, and basic sight-singing and ear-training skills. Designed for students wishing to participate in University ensembles and those wishing to pursue vocal, instrumental, and compositional instruction. May not count toward the majors or minor in music.

109. Introduction to the Music of World Cultures. (3h) Survey of music in selected societies around the world. Topics selected from the following areas of concentration: India, East Asia, sub-Saharan Africa, western Europe, Latin America, and vernacular music of the United States (including jazz). May not count toward the majors or minor in music. Credit cannot be received for both MUS 109 and 209. (CD, D)

131. The World of Musical Instruments. (3h) Historical survey of musical instruments by families. Instruments of Western art music, selected world cultures, and vernacular music of the U.S., as well as electronic instruments. Emphasis on the cultural, sociological, and technological as well as the musical aspects of instruments. Credit cannot be received for both MUS 131 and 231. (D)
Music in Liberal Arts

100. Recitals. (0h) Recitals, concerts, and guest lectures sponsored by the Department of Music and the Secrest Artists Series. (Specific attendance requirements are established at the beginning of each semester.) Four semesters are required of music majors; three semesters are required of music minors. Pass/Fail only.

106. Electronic Music Lab. (1.5h) Foundations of MIDI protocol, with particular attention to the study and application of sequencers, notational programs, and synthesizers. Development of skills in written notation through use of computerized programs. Taught in the Music Computer Lab. P—MUS 101, 104, or POI.

130. African-American Art Song. (3h) Survey of the art songs of African-American composers of the nineteenth and twentieth century. Emphasis on song for solo voice and piano, with some discussion of works for voice and orchestra or chamber ensemble. P—POI. (CD)

121. Jazz Ensemble. Study and performance of written and improvised jazz for a twenty-member ensemble.

124. Small Ensemble. Study and performance of conducted works for small ensemble. Performers are strongly urged to participate in a larger ensemble as well. P—POI.

   - a. percussion ensemble
   - b. flute choir
   - c. clarinet choir
   - d. saxophone ensemble
   - e. brass choir
   - f. vocal ensemble
   - g. mixed ensemble

128. Athletic Band I. Performs at most football games and men’s and women’s home basketball games. Meets twice weekly. Regular performances on and off campus. Offered in fall.

129. Athletic Band II. (0.5h) Performs at men’s and women’s home basketball games, and at the spring football game. Class held once weekly. Meets from the beginning of the semester to spring break. P—MUS 128 or POI.

Performance Study

Courses in individual instruction are open to students with the permission of the instructor on a space available-basis. Students in individual instruction who do not have basic knowledge of notation and rhythm are advised to enroll in MUS 104 either prior to or in conjunction with individual instruction. (See the fee section of this bulletin for specific information regarding cost.) All classes in this section may be repeated for credit unless noted.

108. Alexander Technique for Musical Performers. (0.5h) Educational process that uses verbal and tactile feedback to teach improved use of the student’s body by identifying and changing poor and inefficient habits that cause stress, fatigue, and pain in the musical performer. Designed to teach the performer to minimize physical effort and maximize expression. Meets two hours per week. Pass/Fail only.

122. Music Theatre Practicum. (1h) For musicians who perform in a departmentally-sponsored theatrical production (when their performance is not as a member of a departmental ensemble). May not be counted toward the majors or minor in music. Credit may be earned in a given semester for either MUS 122 or THE 283, but not both. Course may be repeated for no more than four hours. Pass/Fail only. P—POI.

123. Woodwind Doubling. (1h) Practical skills for woodwind instrumentalists who participate in musical theatre productions for which expertise on more than one instrument is required.
161. Individual Instruction. (0.5h) Technical studies and repertoire of progressive difficulty selected to meet the needs and abilities of the student. One half-hour lesson per week. Does not fulfill the individual instruction requirements for the major in music performance. May be repeated for credit. P—POI.

a. violin  h. bassoon  o. organ  u. accompanying
b. viola  i. saxophone  p. piano  v. voice
c. cello  j. trumpet  q. percussion  w. recorder
d. bass  k. French horn  r. guitar  x. viola da gamba
e. flute  l. trombone  s. harp  y. harpsichord
f. oboe  m. baritone  t. electric bass  z. jazz improvisation
g. clarinet  n. tuba

162. Individual Instruction. (1h) One one-hour lesson per week. Does not fulfill the individual instruction requirements for the major in music performance. May be repeated for credit. P—POI.

165p. Class Piano. (0.5h) Scales, chords, inversions, and appropriate repertoire, with emphasis on sight-reading, harmonization, and simple transposition. Designed for the beginning piano student.

165q. Class Percussion. (0.5h) Introduction to the fundamentals of playing percussion instruments. Includes an introduction to reading music as well as basic techniques on instruments of the percussion family. P—POI.

166p. Class Piano II. (0.5h) Continuation of fundamental piano techniques. P—MUS 165p or POI.

167v. Theatrical Singing I: Class Voice. (0.5h) Basic techniques of singing, breath control, phonation, and resonance, with emphasis on theatrical projection. Study and performance of musical theatre repertoire. (One hour per week.) P—POI.

168v. Theatrical Singing II: Class Voice. (0.5h) Continuation of theatrical singing techniques with increased study and performance of musical theatre repertoire. P—MUS 167v or POI. (One hour per week.)

175v. Advanced Voice Class. (1h) Development of advanced vocal technique and repertoire. Limited to eight students. Two hours per week; may be repeated. P—MUS 166v or POI.
177v. Advanced Theatrical Singing. (1h) Development of advanced theatrical singing technique and performance of musical theatre repertoire. Limited to eight students. Two hours per week; may be repeated. P—MUS 168v or POI.

190. Diction for Singers. (1.5h) Study of articulation in singing, with emphasis on modification of English; pronunciation of Italian, German, and French. Development of articulatory and aural skills with use of the international phonetic alphabet. Individual performance and coaching in class. (Two hours per week.) May not be repeated for credit.

262. Individual Instruction. (1.5h) One one-hour lesson per week. Fulfills the individual instruction requirements for the major in music performance. May be repeated for credit. P—Two hours of MUS 161 and/or 162, plus successful completion of the audition for the major in musical performance, and POI.

362. Senior Recital. (3h) Preparation and public performance of a recital. Fulfills the individual instruction requirements for the major in music performance. To be taken only during the senior year. A student may not receive credit for both MUS 362 and 363. A student may not enroll in MUS 262 and 362 in the same semester. May not be repeated for credit. P—Two semesters of MUS 262 and POI.

363. Senior Honors Recital. (3h) Preparation and public performance of a recital at the honors level. Fulfills the individual instruction requirements for the major in music performance. To be taken only during the senior year. A student may not receive credit for both MUS 362 and 363. A student may not enroll in MUS 262 and 363 in the same semester. May not be repeated for credit. P—Faculty selection for honors in music.

Neuroscience (NEU)

Coordinator Professor of Biology Wayne L. Silver

The neuroscience minor provides an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the nervous system. Neuroscientists study how we learn, process and remember information from the molecular to the philosophical level, and examine subjects ranging from the molecular pharmacology of brain function to the mind-body problem.

The minor requires a minimum of seventeen hours, nine of which must include NEU 200, 201, 300, and 391. At least one semester of research in neuroscience is required for the minor (NEU 391). The research can be conducted on the Reynolda Campus or with investigators at the Wake Forest University School of Medicine. The research project must be approved by a member of the neuroscience minor faculty. Eight hours must come from the elective courses listed. One of the elective courses must come from outside the student’s major department.

Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

200. Introduction to Neuroscience. (3h) Interdisciplinary course taught by faculty representing several fields. Topics include neurophysiology, sensory biology, motor mechanisms, neuropharmacology, cognitive neuroscience, perception, neural networks, and the philosophy of mind.
201. Neuroscience Laboratory. (1h) Examines principles of neuroscience ranging from the molecular and cellular to the behavioral and cognitive. Lab—three hours. C—NEU 200.

300. Neuroscience Seminar. (3h) Consideration of current neuroscience topics. Presentations of current research by faculty on the Reynolda Campus or the Wake Forest University School of Medicine. Readings from the primary literature accompany the presentations. P—NEU 200.

391. Research in Neuroscience. (2h) Supervised independent laboratory investigation in neuroscience.

392, 393, 394. Research in Neuroscience. (2h) Continued supervised independent laboratory investigation in neuroscience. Not to be counted toward the minor. P—NEU 200.

Electives for Neuroscience

BIO 323. Animal Behavior. (4h)
324. Hormones and Behavior. (3h)
325. Chronobiology. (3h)
346. Neurobiology. (4h)
351. Vertebrate Physiology. (4h)
352. Developmental Neuroscience (4h)
354. Vertebrate Endocrinology. (3h)
364. Sensory Biology. (4h)

CSC 371. Artificial Intelligence. (3h)

HES 312. Exercise and Health Psychology. (3h)
350. Human Physiology. (3h)

PHI 365. Philosophy, Mental Health, and Mental Disorder. (3h)
374. Philosophy of Mind. (3h)

PHY 307. Biophysics. (3h)

PSY 320. Physiological Psychology. (3h)
322. Psychopharmacology. (3h)
323. Animal Behavior. (3h)
326. Learning Theory and Research. (3h)
329. Perception. (3h)
331. Cognition. (3h)
333. Motivation of Behavior. (3h)

(Note that many of these courses have prerequisites, in some cases including introductory biology, psychology, or chemistry.)
Philosophy examines such topics as consciousness, knowledge, justice, free will, good and evil, and the nature of religious experience and belief. Engagement with the central questions of philosophy is valuable in itself; it is also valuable as a means of developing analytical, critical, and imaginative skills useful in the study of most other subjects, in the pursuit of careers as varied as law, business, medicine, science, education, and the arts, and in effective participation in civic life. A liberal arts education should introduce students to rigorous thinking and writing about philosophical issues and to the reading of great philosophical texts. We help to realize this goal through the courses we offer, through one-on-one discussion with students, and by presenting lectures, colloquia, and debates open to the University and the public.

The major in philosophy requires twenty-seven hours. These must include three hours in Ancient Greek philosophy (232, 331, or 332), three hours in Modern philosophy (241, 341, or 342), three hours chosen from 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, or 366 and three hours chosen from 370, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, or 377. Only one of 220 and 221 (Logic and Symbolic Logic) may be counted towards the major. No more than six hours of 100-level courses may be counted towards the major. No more than three hours of independent study may be counted towards satisfaction of the major requirements, and at least twenty-one hours of the major must be completed at Wake Forest; exceptions require approval by the department chair.

Majors intending to do graduate study in philosophy are strongly advised to take the following courses: Ethics (360), Symbolic Logic (221), and at least one of Epistemology (376) or Metaphysics (377). Such majors should work closely with their major adviser as they consider their additional course choices.

The minor in philosophy requires fifteen hours. At least nine of these hours must be earned in courses taken at Wake Forest at the 200-level or higher. Only one of 220 and 221 (Logic and Symbolic Logic) may be counted towards the minor. Students interested in minoring in philosophy should consult with the department about choosing an appropriate sequence of courses.

Honors. Highly qualified majors may participate in the Honors Program in Philosophy. Majors who wish to do so should consult with the department chair in the second semester of their junior year. Completion of fifteen hours in philosophy courses is prerequisite to beginning work in the honors program. Graduation with “Honors in Philosophy” requires successful completion of Honors I and II (391 and 392), a grade point average at the time of graduation of at least 3.3 in philosophy and 3.0 overall, and completion and successful defense of an honors thesis in an oral examination conducted by at least two members of the department. The hours earned in 391 and 392 do not count towards the twenty-seven hours required of all majors.

Any three-hour philosophy course numbered 221 or lower counts towards satisfying the Division I requirement. Courses taken elsewhere after a student has enrolled at Wake Forest University will not count towards satisfying the Division I requirement in philosophy.

111. Basic Problems of Philosophy. (3h) Examination of the basic concepts of several representative philosophers, including their accounts of the nature of knowledge, persons, God, mind, and matter. (D)

112. Introduction to Philosophical Ideas. (3h) How and why does philosophy engage religious belief and common sense? Why is the purposive world of pre-modern life abandoned by modern naturalism, skepticism, and existentialism? How are our contemporary ideas of self and world expressions of these opposing conceptions of life, love, and meaning? (D)

113. Knowledge and Reality. (3h) Examination of three interconnected philosophic problems: the nature of existence; the distinction between truth and falsity; and the question of what it means to know. (D)

114. Philosophy of Human Nature. (3h) A study of selected topics bearing on human nature, such as free will and determinism, the relation of mind and body, personal identity and personhood, and immortality. (D)

115. Introduction to Philosophy of Religion. (3h) A study of some central issues in the philosophy of religion, such as arguments for and against the existence of God; faith and reason; the divine attributes; the nature and existence of the soul; the possibility of immortality; and religious diversity. (D)

160. Introduction to Moral and Political Philosophy. (3h) Examination of basic concepts and problems in moral and political thought, including questions of right and wrong, virtue, equality, justice, individual rights, and the common good. (D)

161. Medical Ethics. (3h) Study of moral problems in the practice of medicine, including informed consent, experimentation on human subjects, truth-telling, confidentiality, abortion, and the allocation of scarce medical resources. (D)

163. Environmental Ethics. (3h) Examination of ethical issues concerning the environment as they arise in individual lives and public policy. (D)

164. Contemporary Moral Problems. (3h) A study of pressing ethical issues in contemporary life, such as abortion, euthanasia, animal rights, affirmative action, marriage, cloning, pornography, and capital punishment. (D)

165. Introduction to Philosophy of Law. (3h) An examination of prominent legal cases and their underlying principles, with an emphasis on philosophical analysis and moral evaluation. Topics include the requirements for criminal liability, the proper subjects for criminalization, punishment, and freedom of speech and of religion. (D)

220. Logic. (3h) Elementary study of the laws of valid inference, recognition of fallacies, and logical analysis. (D)
221. Symbolic Logic. (3h) Introduction to propositional and predicate logic, including identity and functions. Construction of proofs. Use of models to demonstrate consistency and invalidity. Application of these techniques to the assessment of arguments expressed in ordinary language. (D)

232. Ancient Greek Philosophy. (3h) A study of the central figures in early Greek philosophy, beginning with the Presocratics, focusing primarily on Plato and Aristotle, and concluding with a brief survey of some Hellenistic philosophers. P—One PHI course or POI.

237. Medieval Philosophy. (3h) A survey of some major philosophers from Augustine to Suarez, including Anselm, Averroes, Maimonides, Avicenna, Aquinas, Scotus and Ockham. P—One PHI course or POI.

241. Modern Philosophy. (3h) A study of the works of influential seventeenth- and eighteenth-century European philosophers such as Descartes, Locke, Leibniz, Berkeley, and Hume, with a concentration on theories of knowledge and metaphysics. P—One PHI course or POI.

331. Plato. (3h) Detailed analysis of selected dialogues, covering Plato’s most important contributions to moral and political philosophy, theory of knowledge, metaphysics, and theology. P—One PHI course or POI.

332. Aristotle. (3h) Study of the major texts, with emphasis on metaphysics, ethics, and theory of knowledge. P—One PHI course (232 or 331 strongly recommended) or POI.

341. Kant. (3h) A study of Kant’s principal contributions to metaphysics and the theory of knowledge. P—One PHI course (241 strongly recommended) or POI.

342. Topics in Modern Philosophy. (3h) Treatment of selected figures and/or themes in seventeenth- and eighteenth-century European philosophy. P—One PHI course (241 strongly recommended) or POI.

350. The Main Streams of Chinese Philosophy and Religion. (3h) Introduction to the most important traditions in Chinese philosophy and religion: Confucianism, Daoism (Taoism), and Chinese Buddhism or Chinese Chan (Zen) Buddhism. Also listed as REL 380.

352. Hegel, Kierkegaard, and Nietzsche. (3h) Examination of selected sources embodying the basic concepts of Hegel, Kierkegaard, and Nietzsche, especially as they relate to each other in terms of influence, development, and opposition. P—One PHI course (241 strongly recommended) or POI.

354. Wittgenstein. (3h) A study of the work of Ludwig Wittgenstein on such topics as the picture theory of meaning, truth, skepticism, private languages, thinking, feeling, the mystical, and the ethical. P—One PHI course (221 strongly recommended) or POI.

355. Contemporary Philosophy. (3h) Study of the principal works of several representative twentieth-century philosophers. P—One PHI course (221 strongly recommended) or POI.

360. Ethics. (3h) Systematic examination of central ethical theories in the Western philosophical tradition. Such theories include Kantian deontology, utilitarianism, Aristotelian virtue ethics, and divine command theory. P—One PHI course or POI.

361. Topics in Ethics. (1.5h, 3h) P—One PHI course or POI.
362. Social and Political Philosophy. (3h) A systematic examination of the work of selected contemporary and traditional philosophers on topics such as the state, the family, distributive justice, property, liberty, and the common good. P—One PHI course or POI.

363. Philosophy of Law. (3h) Inquiry into the nature of law and its relation to morality. Classroom discussions of readings from the works of classical and modern authors focus on issues of contemporary concern involving questions of legal principle, personal liberty, human rights, responsibility, justice, and punishment. P—One PHI course or POI.

364. Freedom, Action, and Responsibility. (3h) Study of the nature of human freedom and related matters in the philosophy of action, metaphysics, and moral philosophy. P—One PHI course or POI.

365. Philosophy, Mental Health, and Mental Disorder. (3h) Examination of a wide range of philosophical problems associated with the distinction between mental health and illness, such as: personal responsibility, self-identity, and rationality. Special attention is given to moral dilemmas posed by psychiatric classification and treatment and to clinical cases. P—One PHI course or POI.

366. Global Justice. (3h) Does justice transcend national boundaries? Topics include citizenship, national sovereignty, war, human rights, humanitarian concerns, distribution of resources and burdens, and international law. P—One PHI course or POI.

Also listed as LIN 375. P—One PHI course (221 strongly recommended) or POI.

376. Epistemology. (3h) The sources, scope and structure of human knowledge. Topics include: skepticism; perception, memory, and reason; the definition of knowledge; the nature of justification; theories of truth. P—One PHI course or POI.

377. Metaphysics. (3h) A survey of such issues as the nature and existence of properties, possibility and necessity, time and persistence, causation, freedom and determinism, and dualism versus materialism about the human person. P—One PHI course or POI.

385. Seminar. (1.5h, 3h) Offered by members of the faculty on specialized topics of their choice. With permission, may be repeated for credit. P—POI.
391. Honors I. (1.5h) Directed study and research in preparation for writing an honors thesis. P—Admission to the honors program in philosophy.

392. Honors II. (1.5h) Completion of the honors thesis begun in PHI 391. Graduation with honors in philosophy requires successful defense of the honors thesis in an oral examination conducted by at least two members of the department. P—PHI 391.

395. Independent Study. (1.5h, 3h)

The program for each student majoring in physics is developed through consultation with the student’s major adviser and may lead to either a bachelor of arts or a bachelor of science degree. The bachelor of arts degree requires a minimum of basic physics courses and allows a wide selection of electives related to the student’s interests in other disciplines, such as medicine, law, and business. The bachelor of science degree is designed for students planning careers in physics.

The bachelor of arts degree in physics requires twenty-five hours in physics and must include the following courses: 111 or 113, 114, 215, 230, 262, 265, and 266. The remaining six hours may be satisfied with any other 300-level courses in the department except 381 and 382. MTH 205 also is required.

The bachelor of science degree in physics requires thirty-eight hours in physics and must include the following courses: 111 or 113, 114, 215, 230, 262, 265, 266, 301, 302, 337, 339, 340, 341, 343, and 344. The remaining hours may be satisfied with any other 300-level course in the department. In addition, MTH 205, 306, and one other three-hour course at the 200 level or above in mathematics or computer science other than independent study courses are required.

The bachelor of arts degree in physics with concentration in biophysics and biochemistry requires 27.5 hours in physics and must include the following courses: 111 or 113, 114, 215, 230, 262, 265, 266, and two of the following: 307/325, 320/323, 341. A student must take PHY 381 or 382 for a minimum of 1.5 hours. Also required are MTH 205; CHM 111/111L, 122/122L, 230; two of the three courses BIO 112, 213, 214; and one of the four courses BIO 370, BIO 371, CHM 370, CHM 371.
While the physics major can be started in the sophomore year, students are encouraged to take PHY 113 and 114 and MTH 111 and 112 in the first year. If this sequence is followed, the physics major may be completed with considerable flexibility in exercising various options, such as the five-year BS/MS program. If physics is not taken in the first year, the degree requirements in physics may still be completed by the end of the senior year if a beginning course is taken in the sophomore year. A candidate for the 3-2 engineering program would also complete three years of the bachelor of science physics major program prior to transfer. (Consult the chair of the department for additional information on these five-year programs.)

No student may be a candidate for a degree with a major in physics with a grade less than C in General Physics without special permission of the department.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to apply for admission to the honors program in physics through the major adviser. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Physics,” students must pass PHY 381, write a paper on the results of the research in that course, pass an oral exam on the research and related topics given by a committee of three physics faculty members, and obtain a grade point average of at least 3.5 in physics and 3.0 overall.

A minor in physics requires seventeen hours, which must include the courses 111 or 113, 114, 215, and 262. Students interested in the minor should advise the faculty member responsible for advising physics majors. (Inquire in Olin Physical Laboratory, Room 100.)

Physics courses satisfying Division V requirements must be taken at Wake Forest. Satisfactory completion of the laboratory work is required for a passing grade in all courses with a laboratory.

105. Descriptive Astronomy. (3h) Introductory study of the universe, from the solar system to the galaxies. No lab.

109. Astronomy. (4h) Introductory study of the universe consisting of descriptive astronomy, the historical development of astronomical theories, and astrophysics. Knowledge of basic algebra and trigonometry is required. Lab—two hours. (D)

110. Introductory Physics. (4h) Conceptual, non-calculus one-semester survey of the essentials of physics, including mechanics, wave motion, heat, sound, electricity, magnetism, optics, and modern physics. Not recommended for premedical, mathematics, or science students. Credit allowed for only one of 110, 111, and 113. Lab—two hours. (D, QR)

111. Mechanics, Waves, and Heat. (4h) Introduction to mechanics, wave motion, thermodynamics, and sound. Extensive use of algebra and trigonometry. Credit allowed for only one of 110, 111, and 113. Lab—two hours. (QR)

113. General Physics I. (4h) Essentials of mechanics, wave motion, heat, and sound treated with some use of calculus. Recommended for science, mathematics, and premedical students. Credit allowed for only one of 110, 111, and 113. Lab—two hours. C—MTH 111 or 112 or equivalent. (D, QR)

114. General Physics II. (4h) Essentials of electricity, magnetism, optics, and modern physics treated with some calculus. Recommended for science, mathematics, and premedical students. Lab—two hours. P—MTH 111 or 112 or equivalent and and PHY 111 or 113. (D, QR)

120. Physics and Chemistry of the Environment. (4h) Covers the basic physical and chemical processes in the earth’s atmosphere, biosphere, and the oceans. It consists of two parts: 1) chemical processes in the environment such as element cycles and the chemistry of pollutants in air and water and, 2) physical aspects of the environment such as solar energy and the atmosphere, and the physics of weather and climate. Lab—three hours. Also listed as CHM 120. (D, QR)

215. Elementary Modern Physics. (3h) Development of twentieth-century physics and an introduction to quantum ideas. P—PHY 114 and MTH 111. C—PHY 265. (QR)

230. Electronics. (3h) Introduction to the theory and application of transistors and electronic circuits. Lab—three hours. P—PHY 114. (QR)

262. Mechanics. (3h) Study of the equations of motion describing several kinds of physical systems: velocity-dependent forces; damped and forced simple harmonic motion; orbital motion; inertial and non-inertial reference frames; and relativistic mechanics. Includes extensive use of computers. P—PHY 113 and MTH 205. (QR)

265, 266. Intermediate Laboratory. (1h, 1h) Experiments on mechanics, modern physics, electronics, and computer simulations. C—PHY 215 (for PHY 265); PHY 262 (for PHY 266). P—PHY 265 (for PHY 266).

301, 302. Physics Seminar. (0h, 0h) Discussion of contemporary research, usually with visiting scientists. Attendance required of junior and senior physics majors.

307. Biophysics. (3h) Introduction to the structure, dynamic behavior, and function of DNA and proteins, and a survey of membrane biophysics. The physical principles of structure determination by X-ray, NMR, and optical methods are emphasized. Also listed as BIO 307. P—PHY 113, 114 as well as BIO 112 or 214 or POI.

310. Extragalactic Astronomy and Cosmology. (3h) Topics include galactic structure, models for galaxies and galaxy formation, the large scale structure of the universe, the big bang model of the universe, physical processes such as nucleosynthesis in the early universe, and observational cosmology. P—PHY 114, 215. C—MTH 205.

320. The Physics of Biological Macromolecules. (3h) Physics of large biologically important molecules, especially proteins and nucleic acids. Topics include the physical basis of biomolecular structure, the energetics and statistical mechanics of biomolecular dynamics, and the electrostatics and solvation of biomolecules. Designed for students with biochemistry, chemistry, or physics backgrounds. P—PHY 341 or BIO 214 or CHM 341, PHY 113, 114, or POI.

323. Computational Biophysics Laboratory. (1h) Application of techniques in molecular modeling, including energy minimization, molecular dynamics simulation, and conformational analysis. C—PHY 320 or POI.

325. Biophysical Methods Laboratory. (1h) Experiments using various biophysical techniques such as electron paramagnetic resonance, atomic force microscopy, stopped-flow absorption spectroscopy, X-ray diffraction, and gel electrophoresis. C—PHY 307.

337. Analytical Mechanics. (1.5h) The Lagrangian and Hamiltonian formulations of mechanics with applications. Taught in the first half of the fall semester. P—PHY 262, and MTH 205.

339, 340. Electricity and Magnetism. (1.5h, 3h) Electrostatics, magnetostatics, dielectric and magnetic materials, Maxwell’s equations and applications to radiation, relativistic formulation. PHY 339 is taught in the second half of the fall semester, following PHY 337. PHY 340 is taught in the spring semester. These should be taken in sequence. P—PHY 114 and MTH 205.
341. Thermodynamics and Statistical Mechanics. (3h) Introduction to classical and statistical thermodynamics and distribution functions. Also listed as CHM 341. P—PHY 215 and MTH 111 and 112.

343, 344. Quantum Physics. (3h, 3h) Application of the elementary principles of quantum mechanics to atomic, molecular, solid state, and nuclear physics. P—PHY 215 and MTH 205.

347. Intellectual Property in Science and Engineering. (1h) Introduction to the process of creating and protecting intellectual property, with discussion of the economic impact of IP rulings and the concept of a non-disclosure agreement. Working with representative examples from physics, engineering, and biotechnology, the students, working in small teams, will analyze and create invention disclosures, patent applications, and issued patents. Recommended background: three courses from the major tracks in physics, chemistry, biology, or computer science.

361. Biophysics Seminar. (1h) Seminal and current publications in biophysics are studied. Each week a member of the class makes an oral presentation on a chosen publication and leads the ensuing discussion.

381, 382. Research. (1.5h/3h, 1.5h/3h) Library, conference, computation, and laboratory work performed on an individual basis.

385. Bioinformatics. (3h) Introduction to bioinformatics and computing techniques essential to current biomedical research. Topics may include genome and protein sequence and protein structure databases, algorithms for sequence and structure analysis, and computer architecture and environment considerations. Emphasizes interdisciplinary interaction and communication and includes a project that requires using software engineering protocols and working as part of an interdisciplinary team. Also listed as CSC 385. P—CSC 221 or POI.

In its broadest conception, the aim of the study of political science is to understand the way in which policy for a society is formulated and executed and to understand the moral standards by which policy is or ought to be set. This center of interest is often described alternatively as the study of power, of government, of the state, or of human relations in their political context. For teaching purposes, the study of political science has been divided by the department into the following fields: (1) American politics, (2) comparative politics, (3) political theory, and (4) international politics. Introductory courses in these fields provide broad and flexible approaches to studying political life.

The major in political science consists of thirty-one hours, of which, in all but exceptional cases, at least twenty-one hours must be completed at Wake Forest. Where students take political science courses abroad, they have to be in Wake Forest approved programs and/or must have been certified by the department chair. The required courses for the major include the following: (a) at least one non-seminar course in each of the four fields of political science listed above; (b) a course in political science methods (POL 280) normally taken in the junior year; and (c) one political science seminar course (POL 290) normally taken in the senior year.

No more than six hours may be taken toward the major from introductory courses (100-level courses). Majors may not take the introductory courses during their senior year. Highly motivated students who would like to further expand or apply their study beyond the normal course of offerings can undertake internships, individual studies, or directed readings if they fulfill the minimum overall GPA requirements of 3.0. No more than three hours for any one or any combination of the following courses may be counted toward the major: POL 287, 288, or 289. Transfer hours toward the major are awarded on an individual case-by-case basis at the discretion of the department chair. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in all courses completed in political science at Wake Forest is required for graduation with the major.

The senior seminar provides an opportunity for majors to experience something comparable to a graduate seminar. As such, it is conducted more by discussion than by lecture and enables students to read and reflect upon advanced scholarly material. The seminar also offers students the opportunity in their final year to create a research paper of greater length and sophistication than is customary and to develop the research and writing skills appropriate to the task.

Honors. Students who are interested in the requirements for honors in political science should consult the honors guidelines, which are available at www.wfu.edu/politics. Students who meet these requirements will graduate with “Honors in Political Science.”
Five-Year BA/MA Degree. Political science majors who minor in Latin-American studies also have the opportunity to pursue a five-year cooperative BA/MA degree program at Georgetown University in Washington, DC.

The minor in political science consists of eighteen hours. Fifteen of the hours must be taken at Wake Forest. No more than six hours may be taken toward the minor from introductory courses (100-level courses). Highly motivated students who would like to further expand or apply their study beyond the normal course of offerings can undertake internships, individual studies, or directed readings if they fulfill the minimum GPA requirements of 3.0. No more than three hours for any one or any combination of the following courses may be counted toward the minor: POL 287, 288, or 289. Transfer hours toward the minor are awarded on an individual case-by-case basis at the discretion of the chair. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in all courses completed in political science at Wake Forest is required for graduation with the minor.

A student who selects political science to fulfill the Division IV requirement must take one of the following courses: POL 113, 114, 115, or 116. Students who are not majors in political science may take upper-level courses as electives without having had lower-level courses, unless a prerequisite is specified.

American Politics

113. American Government and Politics. (3h) The nature of politics, political principles, and political institutions, with emphasis on their application to the U.S. (D)

210. Topics in U.S. Politics and Policy. (3h) Intensive study of one or more major problems in contemporary U.S. politics and policy. Course may be retaken for credit if topic varies.

211. Political Parties, Voters, and Elections. (3h) Examination of party competition, party organizations, the electorate and electoral activities of parties, and the responsibilities of parties for governing.

212. U.S. Policymaking in the Twenty-first Century. (3h) Examines the contemporary U.S. policymaking process. Special attention to ways issues become important and contributions of different political actors, institutions, and ideologies in the passage or rejection of policy proposals. Considers a range of social, economic, and regulatory policies.

215. Citizen and Community. (3h) Examination of the role and responsibilities of citizens in democratic policymaking. Includes discussion of democratic theory, emphasis on a policy issue of national importance (i.e. poverty, crime, environment), and involvement of students in projects that examine the dimension of the issue in their community. Service-learning course.

216. U.S. Social Welfare Policy. (3h) Analysis of U.S. social policymaking and policy outcomes on issues such as welfare, education, health care, and Social Security, with emphasis on historical development and cross-national comparison.

217. Politics and the Mass Media. (3h) Exploration of the relationship between the political system and the mass media. Two broad concerns are the regulation of the mass media and the impact of media on political processes and events. Also listed as JOU 277.

218. Congress and Policymaking. (3h) Examination of the composition, authority structures, external influences, and procedures of Congress with emphasis on their implications for policymaking in the U.S.
219. Political Participation. (3h) Examination of political participation in the U.S., with emphasis on electoral and non-electoral avenues through which individuals and groups wield influence in politics and government, including voting, interest groups, and social movements. Service-learning course.

220. The American Presidency. (3h) Emphasis on the office and the role; contributions by contemporary presidents considered in perspective.

221. State Politics. (3h) Examination of institutions, processes, and policies at the state level, with emphasis on the different patterns of governance in the various states and the consequences of the recent revitalization of state governments.

222. Urban Politics. (3h) Political structures and processes in American cities and suburbs as they relate to the social, economic, and political problems of the metropolis. Service-learning course. (CD)

223. Blacks in American Politics. (3h) Survey of selected topics, including black political participation, political organizations, political leadership, and political issues. Shows the relationship of these phenomena to American political institutions and processes as a whole.

227. Politics, Law, and Courts. (3h) Analysis of the nature and role of law in American society and the structure and procedure of American courts. Questions of judicial organization, personnel, and decision making, as well as the impact of law and court decisions on the social order, are explored at local, state, and national levels.

228. The Politics of Public Education. (3h) Introduces students to some of the most popular and contentious contemporary education policy debates and discusses what the U.S. school system tells us about the country’s fundamental political commitments.

229. Women and Politics. (3h) Examines classical and contemporary arguments regarding the participation of women in politics, as well as current policy issues and changes in women’s political participation.

Comparative Politics

114. Comparative Government and Politics. (3h) Analysis of political institutions, processes, and policy issues in selected countries. Case studies are drawn from Africa, Asia, Europe, and Latin America. (CD, D)

231. Western European Politics. (3h) Comparative analysis of political institutions, processes, and policy issues in selected West European countries. Special attention is given to case studies involving Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and to the process of European integration.

232. Politics in Russia and Eastern Europe. (3h) Analysis of the political, economic, and social patterns of the region, emphasizing the internal dynamics of the political and economic transition processes currently underway.
233. The Politics of Modern Germany. (3h) Study of the historical legacy, political behavior, and governmental institutions of contemporary Germany (newly unified Germany).

234. United Kingdom Politics in a Global Age. (3h) Introduces the nature and content of contemporary United Kingdom politics by placing those politics in a wider analysis of United Kingdom history, society, and international positions. (CD)

235. European Integration. (3h) Combines different approaches to the study of Europe by examining European integration—as highlighted by the development of the European Union—through the lenses of history, politics, culture, and economics.

236. Government and Politics in Latin America. (3h) Comparative analysis of the institutions and processes of politics in the Latin American region. (CD)

237. Comparative Public Policy in Selected Industrialized Democracies. (3h) Analysis of public policy choices involving such matters as health care, education, environment, and immigration in Western Europe and the U.S.

238. Comparative Economic Development and Political Change. (3h) Overview of the relationship between economic development, socio-structural change, and politics since the creation of the international capitalist system in the sixteenth century. Organized around case studies of industrialized democracies, evolving Communist systems and command economies, and “Third World” countries.

239. State, Economy, and International Competitiveness. (3h) Introduces a range of important case studies of national economic performance and does so in such a manner as to illustrate the role of public policy in economic performance in a number of leading industrial economies (the U.S., United Kingdom, Germany, Sweden, and Japan).

240. Human Rights in Latin America. (3h) Looks at the policy dilemmas that both restored and new democracies face when dealing with past human rights violations and how they engage in restructuring the domain of human rights in a changed global environment. Case studies focus primarily on Latin America within a comparative framework. (CD)

242. Topics in Comparative Politics. (3h) Intensive study of one or more major problems in contemporary comparative politics. Course may be retaken for credit if topic varies.

244. Politics and Literature. (3h) Examination of how literature can extend knowledge of politics and political systems. Considers the insights of selected novelists.

245. Ethnonationalism. (3h) Concerned with the role of ethnicity in world politics. Focuses on both theoretical and substantive issues relating to: (a) nature of ethnicity and ethnic group identity; (b) sources of ethnic conflict; (c) politics of ethnic conflict; (d) policy management of ethnic conflict; and (e) international intervention in ethnic conflict.

246. Politics and Policies in South Asia. (3h) Survey of major issues relevant to politics and policy in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Sri Lanka. (CD)

247. Islam and Politics. (3h) Explores the interrelationship of Islam and politics in the contemporary world. Deals with Islam as a political ideology which shapes the structure of political institutions and behavior. Looks at Islam in practice by examining the interaction between Islam and the political systems of Iran, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia and others. (CD)
248. Chinese Politics. (3h) Survey of the political institutions and processes in China (People’s Republic of China and Republic of China). Emphasizes group conflict, elites, ideology, as well as current policy changes in the process of modernization.

International Politics

116. International Politics. (3h) Survey of the forces that shape relations among states and some of the major problems of contemporary international politics. (CD, D)

251. The Politics of Forced Migration. (3h) Addresses major questions about forced migration in international politics, such as: What causes people to flee their homes? What are the effects of forced displacement on the host communities? How should considerations of human rights and international law affect our understanding of forced migration?

252. Topics in International Politics. (3h) Intensive study of one or more major problems of contemporary international politics. Course may be retaken for credit if topic varies.

253. International Political Economy. (3h) Analyzes major issues in the global political economy including theoretical approaches to understanding the tension between politics and economics, monetary and trade policy, North-South relations, environmentalism, human rights and democratization.

254. U.S. Foreign Policy: Contemporary Issues. (3h) Examines the most pressing issues in U.S. foreign policy today, with attention to the historical and institutional context in which U.S. foreign policy is determined.

255. Group Identity in International Relations. (3h) Examines the impact on international politics of nationalism, supranationalism, and globalism, with attention to the origins of group identities and to contemporary trends.

256. International Security. (3h) Explores various theoretical approaches to security studies and contemporary security issues, with special attention to domestic variables, the use of force, strategic culture, weapons of mass destruction, the political economy of national security, and terrorism.

257. Interamerican Relations. (3h) Examines the history and contemporary challenges of relations among the nations of the Americas, including intervention and sovereignty, migration, drugs, economic relations, and contemporary foreign policy.

259. The Arab-Israeli Conflict. (3h) Analysis of factors influencing the relationship between Israel and its neighbors relative to fundamental aspects of U.S., Israeli, Palestinian, and Arab states policies.

260. U.S. and East Asia. (3h) Analytical survey of U.S. interaction with East Asia, with emphasis on the strategic security and the political economy of the region. (CD)

261. International Law. (3h) Analyzes major issues in public international law including sources of international law, state sovereignty, territorial jurisdiction, treaties, peaceful settlement of disputes, human rights, and the relationship between international law and domestic law.

262. International Organizations. (3h) Survey of the philosophy, principles, organizational structure, and decision-making procedures of international organizations. In addition to the United Nations system, this course analyzes various international organizations in issues such as collective security, trade, economic development, human rights protection, and the environment.

263. U.S. Foreign Policy in the Middle East. (3h) Critical analysis of U.S. foreign policy with respect to the Middle East since the second World War. Utilizes a case study method of instruction.

264. Moral Dilemmas in International Politics. (3h) Examines moral dilemmas in international politics with reference to theories and cases. Topics include just war doctrine, responsibility of rich countries toward poor countries, exportability of capitalism and democracy, and legitimacy of humanitarian intervention.

266. Civil Wars: Causes and Consequences. (3h) Examines and assesses competing theories of civil war, including economic, ethnic, religious, and ideological explanations. Addresses dilemmas raised by civil war such as the spread of HIV/AIDS, the proliferation of private security companies, and the abuse of humanitarian aid.

268. International Conflict Resolution. (3h) Explores various approaches to conflict resolution through readings, case studies, and simulations. Issues include negotiation and mediation, dealing with war criminals, tradeoffs between justice and peace, and the role of the international community.

Political Theory

115. Political Theory. (3h) Introduction to the central concepts (democracy, liberty, equality, and power) and ideologies (liberalism, conservatism, and socialism) as they have been formulated within some of the main schools of political thought. (D)

269. Topics in Political Theory. (3h) Intensive study of one or more major topics in political theory. Course may be retaken for credit if topic varies.

270. Ethics and Politics. (3h) Investigation of the relationship between ethical reasoning and political theory. Representative philosophers include Hume, Kant, Nietzsche, Mill, Sidgwick, Green, Ayer, Hare, and McIntyre.

271. Classical Political Thought. (3h) Examination of the nature and goals of classical political theorizing, with attention to its origins in ancient Athens and its diffusion through Rome. Representative writers include Plato, Aristotle, and Cicero.

272. Democratic Theory. (3h) Examination of the theoretical underpinnings of democracy and some of the critiques of those foundations. Focus is on understanding some of the major theories of democracy and on how key democratic concepts are defined differently within these various traditions.

273. Marx, Marxism and the Aftermath of Marxism. (3h) Examination of Marx’s indebtedness to Hegel, his early humanistic writings, and the vicissitudes of twentieth century vulgar Marxism and neo-Marxism in the works of Lenin, Lukacs, Korsch, Horkeimer, Marcuse, and Sartre.

274. Religion and Politics in Medieval Thought. (3h) Investigation of the medieval encounter between philosophy and revealed religion (Islam, Judaism, and Christianity). Topics include the nature of political community and its role in cultivating virtue; relations between knowledge and power, and between politics and salvation; and the origins of modern ideas of law and freedom.

275. American Political Thought. (3h) Examination of the republican, civic humanistic tradition vs. the liberal, juridical tradition in American political thought from the founding to the present. Readings from Locke, Sidney, the Federalists and anti-Federalists, Spencer, Dewey, Rawls, and Sandel.

276. Modern Political Thought. (3h) Political thought from Machiavelli to the present, including such topics as moral and natural rights, positive and negative freedom, social contract theory, alienation and citizenship. Selected writings from Machiavelli, Locke, Rousseau, Mill, Marx, and Rawls.

277. Feminist Political Thought. (3h) Introduction to feminist thought and its implications for the study and practice of political theory. Topics include feminist critiques of the Western political tradition and schools of feminist political theory. (CD)

279. Varieties of Philosophical Liberalism. (3h) Study of twentieth-century philosophical liberalism such as libertarianism, utilitarianism, liberal utilitarianism, Kantian liberalism and communitarianism with special focus on rival conceptions of freedom and on utilitarianism and its critics.

Seminars and Additional Courses

280. Political Science Methods. (3h) Overview of the methods currently prominent in studying politics. Attention is given to the relationships between theory, method, and findings by focusing on the need to make empirical observation systematic. (QR)

282. Gandhi. (3h) Explores the life, political philosophy, and the method of non-violent coercion (satyagraha) of Gandhi. Students define and implement group projects designed to promote change within the context of Gandhian methodology. Service-learning course.

287. Individual Study. (2h or 3h) Intensive research leading to the completion of an analytical paper conducted under the direction of a faculty member. Students initiate the project and secure the permission of an appropriate instructor. May be repeated for a maximum of six hours, only three of which may count toward the major. P—POI.

288. Directed Reading. (2h or 3h) Concentrated reading in an area of study not otherwise available. Students initiate the project and secure the permission of an appropriate instructor. P—POI.

289. Internship in Politics. (2h or 3h) Field work in a public or private setting with related readings and an analytical paper under the direction of a faculty member. Students initiate the project and secure the permission of an appropriate instructor. Normally one course in an appropriate subfield is taken prior to the internship. P—POI.

290. Senior Seminar in Political Science. (4h) Readings and research on selected topics.

Psychology 151 is a prerequisite to all courses of a higher number. Courses numbered below 151 do not count toward Division IV requirements or toward the major in psychology. Psychology 151 and all higher numbered courses except for PSY 270, 280, and 392 count toward Division IV requirements. Psychology 310, 311, 312, or special permission of the instructor is prerequisite for some 300-level courses. See individual course descriptions for specific information.

The major in psychology

It is recommended that students who are considering psychology as a major take PSY 151 in their first year and PSY 311 no later than their junior year. Furthermore, students should take at least one course in addition to PSY 151 before taking PSY 311. An average of C or higher in psychology courses is required at the time the major is elected. The major in psychology requires the completion of a minimum of thirty-two hours in psychology, including 151, 311, 312, and 392. Students who have successfully completed 383 are not required to complete 392. In addition, the major student must complete at least one course from each of the two following groups: Group A: 320, 326, 329, 331, 333, 338; Group B: 341, 351, 362, and 374. No more than forty-two hours in psychology may be counted toward the graduation requirements of 120 hours. No more than three hours of directed study (PSY 280) may be counted toward the thirty-two hours required for the major, and a maximum of five hours of directed study (PSY 280) may be counted toward the graduation requirement of 120 hours.

No more than six hours will be accepted for courses taken at other schools to be counted toward the thirty-two hours required for the major. A maximum of nine hours of transfer credit can be counted towards the major if thirty-five or more hours in the major are taken. AP or IB credit may be accepted for PSY 151, but other courses taken at community colleges or college courses taught on high school campuses are not accepted for transfer credit. With the exception of PSY 151, specific courses required for the major must be taken at Wake Forest. The guidelines regarding transfer and credit approval may be modified in rare and special circumstances at the discretion of the psychology department chair.

The minor in psychology

Requires fifteen hours in psychology including: 151; either 310 or 311; and at least two of the following courses—241, 245, 255, 260, 268, 320, 323, 326, 329, 331, 333, 338, 362 and 374. No more than six hours will be accepted for courses taken at other schools to be counted toward the minor.

A minimum grade average of C on all courses attempted in psychology is required for graduation with either a major or minor in psychology.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are invited by the department to participate in the honors program in psychology. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Psychology,” the student must complete satisfactorily a special sequence of courses (381, 383), pass an oral or written examination, and earn an overall GPA of 3.2 with an average of 3.5 on work in psychology. In addition, the honors student normally has a non-credit research apprenticeship with a faculty member. For more detailed information, members of the departmental faculty should be consulted. (Students satisfactorily completing PSY 383 are not required to complete PSY 392.)

The study of religion is a way of organizing academic inquiry into how human beings and human cultures express and experience their religious needs, beliefs, and values. It involves the study of both specific religious traditions and the general nature of religion as a phenomenon of human life. Using cross-cultural and interdisciplinary approaches, religious studies investigate and interpret systems of religious belief, the history of religious traditions, the function of religion in society, and forms of religious expression such as ritual, symbols, sacred narrative, scripture, practices, theological and philosophical reflection. Students of religion, whether adherents of a religion or of no religion, gain tools to understand, compare, and engage the phenomenon of religion and its role in human life and culture.

A major in religion requires a minimum of twenty-seven hours, of which twenty-one must be in courses above the 100-level. Students must take one course from each of three areas (Biblical Studies; Religion, History and Society; World Religions) as designated by the course groupings below. In addition, students must take one of the following courses that focus on methodological approaches to the study of religion: 300, 304, 305, 318, 330, 350, 351, 387. Majors interested in graduate studies are strongly encouraged to take REL 300 for this requirement.

A minor in religion requires fifteen hours, nine of which must be above the 100-level and one course from the area of World Religions. The department provides advisers for students pursuing a minor.

Honors. Highly qualified majors are encouraged to apply for admission to the honors program. Students who wish to pursue this option should refer to the honors guidelines, available by selecting the undergraduate tab at www.wfu.edu/religion, for an overview of requirements and procedures. Upon completion of all requirements, a recommendation of honors at graduation will be made by the department based upon the student’s overall academic record and the quality of the final project.

The department offers programs leading to majors in French and Spanish, minors in French, Italian, and Spanish, and certificates in Spanish and French for business, and in Spanish translation and Spanish interpreting. The requirements for completion of each degree program are those in effect in the bulletin year when the declaration of the major, minor, and certificate occurs.

The major in French Studies requires a minimum of twenty-seven hours of French courses numbered above 212 or 213. FRH 216, 315, 319, 370, one of the genre courses (363, 364, or 365), and four other courses are required. Students are advised and encouraged to take related courses in other areas of the University curriculum, such as HST 217, 218, and 317, and HMN 222. Students must achieve at least a C grade in each course in the major. In order to count for the major, 319 must be taken at Wake Forest. Credit towards the major cannot be received for both 320 and 3202.

The minor in French Studies requires a minimum of eighteen hours of French courses numbered above 212 or 213. FRH 216, 315, 319 and three other courses are required. With departmental approval, equivalent courses may be selected from the Dijon program, and certain other substitutions may be made. In order to count for the minor, 319 must be taken at Wake Forest. Credit towards the minor cannot be received for both 320 and 3202. Students must achieve at least a C grade in each course in the minor.
The major in Spanish requires a minimum of twenty-seven hours of Spanish courses numbered above 214. SPN 317 or SPA 217, SPN 318 or SPA 218, SPN 319 or 319L or SPA 219 or 219L or SPA 2199, plus three advanced courses in literature, of which one must be in Spanish literature and one in Spanish-American literature, and three electives are required. Students must achieve at least a C grade in each course in the major. In order to count for the major, SPN 319 or SPA 219 must be taken at Wake Forest or in Salamanca.

The minor in Spanish requires a minimum of eighteen hours in Spanish courses numbered above 214. SPN 317 or SPA 217, SPN 318 or SPA 218, SPN 319 or 319L or SPA 219 or 219L or SPA 2199 and one advanced course in literature are required. With departmental approval, equivalent courses may be selected from the programs in Salamanca, Querétaro, or Havana, and certain other substitutions may be made. Students must achieve at least a C grade in each course in the minor.

The minor in Italian language and culture requires fifteen hours in Italian above ITA 153. It includes ITA 213, 216, 319, 320, and 324 or their equivalents. Students must achieve at least a C grade in each course in the minor.

Certificate in Spanish for Business requires SPN 319 or SPA 319L; SPN 387 or SPA 329; SPN 388 or SPA 330, 381, and one additional course above 214 in any area of Hispanic literature or culture. SPN 389 or SPA 385; or SPA 3859 are strongly recommended. SPN 387I or SPA 3289 may be substituted for either SPN 387 or SPA 329; or SPN 388 or SPA 330.

Certificate in Spanish for Medical Professions requires fifteen hours above 214. It includes SPN 319 or 319L; or SPA 219 or 219L; SPN 316 or SPA 220, SPN 385 or SPA 327, 382, and one additional course above 213.

Certificate in Spanish Translation/Localization (STL) teaches strategies of Spanish into English translation and introduces students to various software language applications; includes an internship in a professional translation environment (384). Hours: 13-15. Requirements include SPN 324 or SPA 380 and 381; LIN 383; and either SPN 387 or SPA 329 or 382.

Certificate in Spanish Interpreting (SI) teaches strategies for different types of Spanish/English interpreting; includes an internship (384). Hours: 10-12. Requirements include one literature course above 214, 382, 384, and any one of the following: SPN 387 or SPA 329; or SPN 324 or SPA 380 or 381; or LIN 383.

Certificate in French for Business requires FRH 319, 321, 329, 330, and one additional course in French above 212 or 213.

Transfer credit for courses approved as 500 will count toward the major or minor. Courses approved as SPN 500S will fulfill an advanced Peninsular literature requirement for the major or minor. Courses approved as SPN 500A will fulfill an advanced Latin-American literature requirement for the major or minor. Courses approved as SPN 500E will count as an elective for the major or minor. Transfer credit approved as 520 will not count toward the major or minor. SPN 500S and SPN 500A have a prerequisite of either SPN 317 or 318. Otherwise, credit will be transferred as SPN 520.
Honors. The honors designation in Romance Languages is a recognition of outstanding scholarship in the field, as evidenced by academic achievement, critical thinking, and intellectual initiative. Highly qualified majors selected by the Romance Languages faculty are invited to participate in the honors program, which candidates undertake in addition to the requirements for the major.

The honors program requires completion of SPN 398 or SPA 390 or FRH 390 (Directed Reading, 1.5h) and SPN 399 or SPA 391 or FRH 391 (Directed Research, 3h). Directed Reading, normally taken during a student’s last semester, includes reading and discussion of a number of texts on the selected topic, and a written exam covering these texts. At the end of fall semester, the student submits an annotated bibliography and an abstract of the honors thesis. Directed Research, taken during the student’s final semester, consists of writing the thesis following a schedule established by the director and the student. At the end of this course, the honors student defends the thesis orally before appropriate faculty who collectively may confer honors.

Intensive Summer Language Institute (ISLI)

Purpose: ISLI is a language immersion program. It offers a curriculum that enables students to achieve the necessary proficiencies in the Spanish language at the beginning-intermediate level and be better prepared to perform in subsequent courses in which they may enroll.

Intensive Summer Language Institute (ISLI) on the Wake Forest Campus: ISLI on campus offers SPN 153S. Intensive Beginning and Intermediate Spanish in an Immersion Setting. (8h). This is an accelerated five-week course in an immersion setting that is offered in the first summer term. Class size is reduced for individualized instruction. Requirements include daily classes, six hours per day; one-hour daily lunches with instructors in the target language; two-hour extracurricular activities two evenings per week; two Saturday mornings; housing in the language designated residence hall (optional); and a pledge to speak the target language.

Intensive Summer Language Institute (ISLI) in Italy: (8h) Wake Forest conducts a six-week immersion program in elementary or intermediate Italian during a special summer term, five weeks in Casa Artom in Venice and one week in another Italian location. Students enroll in either ITA 113V or 153V.

Information on courses offered as part of the Intensive Summer Language Institute is included in the course listings.

Semester in France

The department sponsors a semester in Dijon, France, the site of a well-established French university. Students go as a group in the fall semester, accompanied by a departmental faculty member. Majors in all disciplines are eligible. Juniors are given preference, but well-qualified sophomores are also considered. Applicants should have completed the basic foreign language requirement (FRH 212, 213 or equivalent), or should do so before going to Dijon. They are encouraged—but not required—to take one course or more above the level, preferably FRH 319 (Composition and Review of Grammar).

Students are placed in language courses according to their level of ability in French, as ascertained by a test given at Dijon. Courses are taught by native French professors. The resident director supervises academic, residential, and extracurricular affairs and has general oversight of independent study projects.

3152. Studies in French Language and Culture. (6h) Familiarization with the language and culture of France and its people. Courses in conversational and idiomatic French, practice in writing, participation in French family life, lectures on selected topics, and excursions to points of historical and cultural significance. Satisfies FRH 315 requirement for major or minor.

3202. Advanced Oral and Written French. (3h) Study of grammar, composition, pronunciation, and phonetics, with extensive practice in oral and written French.

3242. Contemporary France. (3h) Study of present-day France, including aspects of geography and consideration of social, political, and educational factors in French life today.

3742. Special Topics in French Literature. (1.5h) Selected topics in French literature; topics vary from year to year.

ART 2712. Studies in French Art. (3h) Lectures and field trips in French painting, sculpture, and architecture, concentrating on the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Counts for the major in French studies.

A major in sociology requires thirty-one hours. Students are required to complete four core courses: one 100-level SOC course, SOC 370, 371 and 372. Students should take one of the following courses: SOC 151, 152, 153, 154, or 155 in the freshmen or sophomore year prior to declaring their major in sociology. Any one (but no more than two) of these courses will count towards the major. No 100-level sociology course taken by seniors can count towards the major. Students are strongly encouraged to complete SOC 370 and 371 in the fall of their junior year, and 372 in the spring of their junior year. A minimum average of 2.0 in all sociology courses is required at the time the major is declared. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in all sociology courses is required for graduation.

A minor in sociology requires fifteen hours and must include SOC 370 and one (but no more than two) from the following courses: SOC 151, 152, 153, 154, or 155. No 100-level sociology course taken by seniors may count towards the minor. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in sociology courses is required at the time the minor is declared. A minimum grade point average of 2.0 in sociology courses is required for certification as a minor. Students who intend to pursue a sociology minor are encouraged to notify the department early in their junior year, and they are invited to participate in all departmental functions.

Honors. To be graduated with the designation “Honors in Sociology,” highly qualified majors are invited to apply to the department for admission to the honors program. They must complete a senior research project, document their research, and satisfactorily defend their work in an oral examination. For additional information members of the departmental faculty should be consulted.

A student who selects sociology to fulfill the Division IV requirement must take one of the following courses: SOC 151, 152, 153, 154, or 155. No introductory-level course is required for students taking a sociology course as an elective unless specified in the course description.

Urban Studies (URB)

Coordinator Professor of Economics Donald E. Frey

The interdisciplinary minor in urban studies requires fifteen hours, of which at least nine must be chosen from the following courses. Only one course from the art electives is permitted to count toward the minor. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

ART  233. American Architecture. (3h) or 288. Modern Architecture. (3h) or 396. Art History Seminar. I. Architecture and Urbanism. (3h)
ECN  246. Urban Economics. (3h)
POL  222. Urban Politics. (3h)
SOC  333. The Sociology of Cities. (3h)
URB  250. Urban Planning. (3h)

270. Individual Study. (3h)

Courses needed to complete the remaining six hours may be chosen from among the following courses. Additional elective courses may have been approved since publication of this bulletin. The program coordinator maintains a complete list of all approved elective courses. For course descriptions, see the relevant department’s listings in this publication.

EDU  271. Geography: The Human Environment. (3h)
HST  2253. History of Venice. (3h) Offered in Venice.
     2260. History of London. (3h) Offered in London.
     352. British Empire. (3h)
SOC  152. Social Problems. (3h)
URB  280. Urban Internship. (3h)

Students intending to minor in urban studies should consult with the coordinator as early as possible to discuss scheduling of courses not offered annually, careers in urban studies, and other issues. In exceptional cases, the coordinator may approve limited substitutions for the listed courses.

250. Urban Planning. (3h) The principles of urban planning and urban form. Some typical topics are urban history and its relationship to urban form, the features of communities, the exploration of urban development practices, and the role of planning policies and urban design in the planning process.

270. Individual Study. (3h) Directed readings in a specialized area of urban studies not otherwise in the curriculum. Under supervision of an instructor teaching in the minor. P—POI and approval of the coordinator of the minor.

280. Urban Internship. (3h) Field work in agency addressing urban issues. Related readings and paper are required. Under direction of an instructor teaching in the minor. P—POI and approval of the coordinator of the minor.
Women’s and Gender Studies (WGS)

Director Wanda Balzano
Professors Mary K. DeShazer, Linda Nielsen
Core (Rotating) Faculty Sarah Barbour (Associate Professor of Romance Languages), Anne Boyle (Professor of English), Michaelle Browers (Junior Faculty Research Fellow and Associate Professor of Political Science), Mary F. Foskett (Associate Professor of Religion), Angela Hattery (Associate Professor of Sociology), Perry L. Patterson (Professor of Economics)
Adjunct Professors Shannon Gilreath, Gary Ljungquist, Michelle J. Naughton, Teresa Smith
Visiting Associate Professor Penny A. Weiss

Women’s and Gender Studies (WGS) provides an opportunity for study and dialogue on a broad range of topics related not only to feminist contributions to the fundamental fields of human knowledge and achievement, but also to interdisciplinary studies of feminisms, masculinity, sex, gender and sexuality.

The interdisciplinary minor in women’s and gender studies must include WGS 221 and 321, and a minimum of twelve additional hours, for a total of eighteen hours. If courses not designated WGS are taken, they must be from an approved list on file with the director; examples of these courses are listed. Students may count no more than six hours from their major(s) toward the minor.

A student intending to minor in women’s and gender studies should consult the director of women’s and gender studies, preferably during their first or early in their second year. Students pursuing the minor are encouraged to take WGS 221 in the first or sophomore year, two or three courses in the sophomore and junior years, and complete the remaining hours, including the capstone research seminar, WGS 321, in the senior year.

101. Window on Women’s and Gender Studies. (1h) An opportunity to experience and reflect analytically in writing on the diverse cultural and intellectual life of Wake Forest, with an emphasis on women’s and gender studies events and topics. Pass/Fail only.

111. Writing and Women’s Issues. (3h) This writing-intensive seminar explores special topics that include women, such as: women and creativity; women, work, and family; womanist literature; reproductive rights; violence against women; women and the arts; the emergence of feminist thought. Emphasis is on expository writing, critical thinking, and exchange of ideas in a discussion and workshop setting; frequent essays based on readings. Satisfies the basic composition but not the minor requirement.

221. Introduction to Women’s and Gender Studies. (3h) An interdisciplinary course, taught by women’s and gender studies faculty representing at least two fields, that integrates materials from the humanities and the sciences. Topics include critical methods and practical solutions, history and theory of women’s and gender studies, women in culture and society, and cross-cultural issues of gender, ethnicity, social class, disability, and sexual orientation. (CD)

310. Gender, Power, and Violence. (3h) A research-centered study of various issues related to violence, power, and gender in American society. Emphasis is on sociological analysis of competing theoretical explanations of violence with respect to race, class, gender, religion, and sexual orientation. Also listed as SOC 375. (CD)
321. Research Seminar in Women’s and Gender Studies. (3h) A capstone, research-centered study of questions raised by women’s and gender studies on an interdisciplinary topic, such as women’s health issues, international women’s issues, lesbian and gay culture and theory, women and the arts, etc. May be repeated for credit if topic differs.

350. Biocultural Perspectives on Women and Aging. (3h) A course that examines biological, sociopsychological, and cultural issues affecting older women.

358. Mothers and Daughters. (3h) A course that examines literature, psychology, and feminist theories on motherhood and the mother-daughter relationship.

359. Fathers and Daughters. (3h) The ways in which fathers influence their daughters’ emotional, psychological, and intellectual development. Selected materials from psychology, mythology, film, and contemporary literature.

377. Special Topics. (1.5h, 2.5h, 3h) Includes such women’s and gender studies topics as gender issues in the twenty-first century, Jewish-American women writers, African-American women writers, women and aging, critical approaches to women’s issues, and the emergence of feminist thought. May be repeated for credit if topic differs.

396. Independent Study. (1-3h) Independent projects in women’s and gender studies which either continue study begun in regular courses or develop new areas of interest. A maximum of three hours may apply to the minor. By prearrangement.

397. Internships in Women’s and Gender Studies. (1.5h-3h) Practicum opportunities for work and for research in conjunction with a local women’s or justice organization, such as Family Services, NOW, N.C. Center for Laws Affecting Women, AIDS Care Service, etc. A maximum of three hours may apply to the minor. Pass/Fail only.

In addition to the women’s and gender studies courses, the following courses may be included in the minor. (See course descriptions under appropriate listings.)

100. R.A.D.: Rape Aggression Defense. (1h) Develops and enhances the options of self-defense, including basic physical self-defense tactics and risk reduction and avoidance, so they may become viable considerations for any woman who is attacked. Required readings include social science research on violence against women. Pass/Fail only.

Mission
The mission of the Calloway School of Business and Accountancy at Wake Forest University is to enhance business and society through our teaching and scholarship. We value: an environment that promotes thoughtful reflection and a high level of face-to-face interaction; intellectual curiosity, including a passion for the study of business; teaching excellence; challenging academic standards; the creation and dissemination of knowledge; and honor and integrity. Our key learning goals are: awareness of contemporary business issues; holistic understanding of effective conduct of business; effective communicators; effective decision makers; effective team members; and honor and integrity.

Accreditation
The Calloway School is accredited through AACSB International’s management accreditation standards as well as its accounting accreditation standards. Accounting accreditation is an elective extension of management accreditation. AACSB International may be contacted at 813.769.6500, 777 South Harbour Island Boulevard, Suite 750, Tampa, Florida 33602 and at www.aacsb.edu. Inquiries should relate only to the accreditation status of the school and not to general admissions information.

AACSB International accreditation represents the highest standard of achievement for business schools and accounting programs, worldwide. Institutions that earn accreditation confirm their commitment to quality and continuous improvement through a rigorous and comprehensive peer review. AACSB International accreditation is the hallmark of excellence in business education.

Wake Forest University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees. The Commission can be contacted at 404.679.4501, 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 and at www.sacscoc.org. Inquiries should relate only to the accreditation status of the institution, and not to general admissions information.

Programs and Majors
The Calloway School of Business and Accountancy offers two degree programs: the four-year bachelor of science degree, with majors in accountancy, business, finance, and mathematical business (in cooperation with the Department of Mathematics); and the master of science in accountancy (MSA). When taken in conjunction with the Calloway School’s undergraduate degrees in accountancy or finance, the MSA degree requires one additional year of study.

Business. The business major in the Calloway School prepares students for success in today’s business world with a challenging and high quality curriculum. The major is intentionally general and facilitates the integration of the various business disciplines with the liberal arts core. It also emphasizes flexibility by allowing the opportunity for specialized career paths and for minors outside the Calloway School.

Finance. The finance major in the Calloway School prepares students for success in careers in financial services, including portfolio management, investment and commercial banking, and financial consulting. The major emphasizes a strong concentration in finance, supported by accounting concepts beyond the introductory level, which is critical in a global environment.

Mathematical Business. The mathematical business major, offered by the Calloway School jointly with the Department of Mathematics, prepares students for careers in business and government that require model-based, advanced quantitative approaches to problem solving. The major responds to today’s complex global environment, where problems in business administration and public policy making are becoming more intricate, requiring the use of such approaches.

Accountancy. The Calloway School’s separate accounting accreditation through AACSB International requires that the School establish a separate statement of mission for its accountancy program complementary to the School’s basic mission statement provided. Accordingly, the mission and values of the School’s accountancy program are as follows:

The mission of the Wake Forest accountancy program is to enhance business, society, and the accountancy profession through our teaching and scholarship. We value: an environment that promotes thoughtful reflection and a high level of face-to-face interaction; intellectual curiosity, including a passion for the study of business; teaching excellence; challenging academic standards consistent with high-quality students; the creation and dissemination of knowledge; honor, integrity, and respect for the ethical and legal foundations of the accountancy profession; and strong relationships with alumni, recruiters, and other members of the accountancy profession.

The five-year accountancy program includes both the baccalaureate and master’s programs, and requires admittance during the student’s junior year. Students admitted to the five-year accountancy program may major in either accountancy or finance (FIN-M) at the baccalaureate level. During the third and fourth years, students admitted to the program take the business, accounting, and finance courses required for a major in accountancy or finance. The curriculum also provides students with the opportunity to do a professional internship during the fourth year. The coursework, combined with the professional internship, provides students with a solid foundation in the concepts, principles, and practices of accountancy and business. Students need this foundation for success in the MSA program and the early years of their careers.

The curriculum for the fifth year of study adds both depth and breadth to students’ undergraduate foundation in accountancy and finance and prepares them for a wide variety of careers in accountancy and financial services (for example, auditing and assurance, taxation, business advisory services, forensic accounting, investment and commercial banking). The five-year program also qualifies students to take the CPA examination in North Carolina and most other jurisdictions.

Admission

Admission to the Calloway School is by formal application, and applicants are screened by the Committee on Admissions, Continuation, and Scholarships of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy. Before being considered for admission to the Calloway School, the applicant first must have been admitted to Wake Forest College. Minimum requirements for admission to the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy are completion of forty-nine hours with an overall grade point average of 2.7, completion of ECN 150, MTH 111 or 112 (MTH 112 or the equivalent for the mathematical business major), ACC 111 (with a minimum of C in each course) and one additional Calloway School course (ACC 221, BUS 201, 211, 221, 251, 261, or FIN 231). Students who have not met fully the above requirements may request a one-semester provisional acceptance.

The number of students who can be accommodated is limited. Meeting the minimum requirements is not a guarantee of admission. Therefore, the Calloway School reserves the right to grant or deny admission or readmission to any student even though he or she meets the minimum requirements. Readmission to the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy first requires readmission to Wake Forest College, requirements for which are discussed in this bulletin.

Admission to the MSA Program

Admission to the MSA program requires Calloway students who have completed ACC 211 to file a formal application to the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at the beginning of the spring semester of their third year of study. In connection with the application, students must submit three recommendations and official scores on the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) to the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. The accountancy faculty evaluates the applicants and makes admissions decisions on a competitive basis. (See the Graduate School Bulletin for more information.)

Transfer of Credit from Other Schools

It is expected that most work toward degrees offered by the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy will be taken in the Calloway School. For students wishing to transfer credit from other schools towards their major, the following general guidelines apply:

(a) All approvals for transfer credits from other institutions to the Calloway School must be:
   1. approved prior to admission into the School for transfer students and
   2. pre-approved before such courses are taken by non-transfer students.

(b) Courses taken at AACSB accredited schools will be considered for transfer credit per (a) above. Transfer credit for all courses taken at schools not accredited by the AACSB generally requires a validation exam in order to be considered for transfer credit.

(c) Study abroad transfer credit will be considered per (a) above for coursework taken through international programs sponsored by AACSB accredited schools or offered by select universities or programs approved by the Calloway faculty. Courses taken through international programs not meeting these qualifications will require a validation exam in order to be considered for transfer credit [per (a) above].

(d) No online courses will be considered for transfer credit from any university.

(e) Courses passed at another school with the minimum passing grade at that school may not be transferred.

(g) No coursework equivalent to the 300-level or higher courses at Calloway will be accepted for transfer credit.

(h) Courses taken elsewhere in subjects not offered at the Calloway School will not necessarily count toward the hours required in the Calloway School.

(i) A maximum of two courses (6 hours) may be transferred after admission into the Calloway School (including any approved economics course counting toward the major).

(j) Students entering the Calloway School from the College of Arts and Sciences at Wake Forest University must take Accountancy 111 within the Calloway School. Students transferring into the Calloway School from another university must take a validation examination for Accounting 111.

For the accountancy major, a minimum of forty-two hours must be earned in the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy at Wake Forest University; for the major in business, a minimum of thirty hours must be earned in the Calloway School; for the major in finance, the minimum hours earned in the Calloway School must total thirty-eight; for the FIN-M option, a minimum of fifty hours must be earned in the Calloway School; and for the bachelor of science in mathematical business, a minimum of thirty hours must be earned in the Calloway School and/or mathematics department at Wake Forest University.

Students from the College of Arts and Sciences (non-Calloway majors) wishing to transfer business or accounting courses taken at other institutions towards credit as general electives in the College may do so upon review of that course’s description in the school’s catalog (and in some cases review of the syllabus for that course).

Requirements for Continuation
In addition to the requirements outlined in the Procedures section of this bulletin, a student must be academically responsible and must show satisfactory progress toward completing the requirements for the degree. The administration of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy notifies the student if satisfactory progress is not being made and, after consultation with the Committee on Admission, Continuation, and Scholarships, decides if the student may continue as a major in the Calloway School.

Requirements for Graduation
The Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy confers the bachelor of science degree with a major in accountancy, business, finance, or mathematical business. The requirements for completion of the degrees are those in effect at the time the student enters the Calloway School.

The accountancy major requires the following courses: ACC 111, 211, 212, 221, 237, 351, and 352; BUS 201, 211, 221, 241, 251, 261, 271 or 272, and FIN 231; ECN 150; MTH 111 or 112.

The business major requires the following courses: ACC 111 and 221; BUS 201, 202, 211, 221, 241, 251, 261, 271 or 272, and FIN 231; ECN 150; MTH 111 or 112; and a minimum of nine hours from BUS 209, 212, 213, 215, 216, 217, 218, 222, 223, 224, 225, 227, 228, 243, 253, 262, 265, 281, 282, 286, 290, 291, 293, 294, 338 or accounting courses numbered 200 or above (excluding ACC 221); or finance courses numbered 200 or above (excluding FIN 203 and FIN 231). One elective may be taken from economics courses numbered 200 or above.

The finance major requires the following courses: ACC 111, 211, 212, and 221; BUS 201, 211, 221, 241, 251, 261, 271 or 272; FIN 203, 231, and 232; ECN 150; MTH 111 or 112; and a minimum of nine hours from FIN 233, 234, 237, 281, 331, 332, 335, 336, and 338. Subject to approval by the finance faculty, a student may substitute three hours of an upper level Calloway elective or upper level Economics elective for one finance elective.

The mathematical business major requires the following courses: ACC 111 and 221; BUS 211, 221, 241, 251, 261, 292; FIN 231; ECN 150; MTH 112 (or equivalent), 205 (or 113 and 121), 253, 256, 353; and a minimum of six additional hours—only three of which can be in business excluding BUS 201, BUS 202, and FIN 203. Mathematics electives must be at the 300 level or above, excluding 381.

In addition to the courses stipulated, the student in business and accountancy also must meet the following requirements for graduation:

(a) a minimum of 120 hours, including the basic and divisional requirements established by Wake Forest College;

(b) a minimum grade point average of 2.0 on all work attempted at Wake Forest;

(c) a minimum grade point average of 2.0 on all work attempted at other institutions; and

(d) an overall 2.0 grade point average on all business and accountancy courses.
Senior Honors Program

Calloway School students (exclusive of mathematical business majors) with a grade point average of at least 3.0 on all college work and who are eligible for membership in Beta Gamma Sigma are invited to apply for admission to the honors program in business and accountancy. A project, paper, or readings, and an oral presentation or examination are required. Those who successfully complete the requirements specified by the School are graduated with the designation “Honors in Accountancy,” “Honors in Business,” or “Honors in Finance.” For additional information, interested students should consult a member of the faculty of the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy.

A project, paper, or readings, and an oral presentation or examination are required. Those who successfully complete the requirements specified by the school and the mathematics department are graduated with the designation “Honors in Mathematical Business.” For additional information, interested students should consult a member of the faculty of the mathematics department or the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy.

Beta Gamma Sigma, National Honor Society

Membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest national recognition a student can receive in an undergraduate program in accounting or business. To be eligible for membership, a student must rank in the upper five percent of the junior class or the upper ten percent of the senior class.

Courses of Instruction

Business (BUS)

101S. Introduction to Business Software. (1.5h) Provides students with basic skills in business software. Focuses on software for presentations, spreadsheets, and databases. In addition, students are familiarized with databases provided through the library and through the Internet that facilitate their ability to do research. Does not count towards a Calloway major. Summer only.

111. Professional Life Skills. (1.5h) Provides students with the basics of managing their personal finances and employee benefits. Focuses on topics such as: personal banking and budgeting fundamentals; individual credit and tax issues; employee investment and insurance options; and home rental or purchase considerations. Open to Calloway and non-Calloway students. Does not count towards a Calloway major. Pass/Fail only.

113. Foundations of Entrepreneurship. (3h) Addresses the challenges of creating and sustaining organizations in today’s global environment. Provides an overview of the role and importance of entrepreneurship in the global economy and in society. Examines how individuals use entrepreneurial skills to craft innovative responses to societal needs. Does not count toward a Calloway major. Also listed as ESE 101.

181. Field Study. (1h) Directed field study in specialized areas of business. Does not count towards a Calloway major. Pass/Fail only. P—ACC 111, POI.
201. Quantitative Analysis I. (3h) Emphasizes the understanding and application of quantitative tools used in the business decision making process. Issues covered include collection and presentation of data, sampling, and inferences.

202. Quantitative Analysis II. (3h) Emphasizes the understanding and application of quantitative tools for data analysis and managerial decision-making. Topics include statistical tools such as Chi-Square methods, analysis of variance, regression, and correlation analysis. Management science tools include statistical decision theory and some deterministic optimization models such as linear programming and its various extensions. Application of these methods to the analysis of decisions from various functional areas of business is an important component of the course. P—BUS 201.

209. Seminar: Contemporary Issues in Business. (3h) Examines current business issues using the theory and practices covered in the core courses. Topics may include recent global business events and policies, corporate takeovers and restructurings, business aspects of health care, workplace issues, the relationship of government and business decisions, among others. The topics discussed change each semester reflecting the important issues at that time. P—Senior status and POI.

211. Organizational Behavior. (3h) Focuses on the behavior, structure, and processes within organizations. Emphasis is on developing knowledge and skills regarding the role of individuals and groups within organizations, as well as organizational dynamics.

212. Human Resource Management. (3h) Focuses on important human resources management (HRM) skills that are frequently used by general managers. Upon completion of the course, students should be literate in basic HRM concepts, knowledgeable of general managers’ HRM responsibilities, and skilled in HRM applications as prospective managers. P—BUS 211.

213. Entrepreneurship. (3h) Exposes students to multiple facets of entrepreneurship and teaches about creating new ventures in a hands-on fashion. A broad range of ideas, readings, and cases enable students to understand the ambiguous and highly-charged environment of entrepreneurship, the contribution of entrepreneurial endeavors to business and society, and the characteristics of successful new venture startups. Focuses on three areas that define successful entrepreneurial pursuit of new for-profit, non-profit, and social enterprise initiatives: recognizing opportunity, management, and assembling resources. The completion of a team-based business plan for a new venture is usually required. Guest speakers present their views of entrepreneurial organizations based on real-world experiences—startup, financing, legal, transition, failure, etc. P—BUS 211, 221, and FIN 231; or POI.

215. Seminar in Comparative Management. (3h) Focuses on the global issues in management. Emphasis is on different management philosophies and styles practiced in an international context. Conducted in a seminar format, the course examines the complexities involved in operating in different cultures and the implications which these cultural differences have on managing organizations and employee behavior. P—BUS 211.

216. Leading in the Nonprofit Sector. (3h) Explores the role of nonprofit organizations (churches, schools, civic organizations, health clinics, etc.) and examines how to effectively lead them. Basic knowledge areas of responsibility in nonprofit organizations (ie, legal classifications and issues, recruiting and managing volunteers, community development, fundraising, board development, and ethical concerns) are covered. Pertinent leadership theories and issues are addressed. P—BUS 211 or POI, and junior or senior standing. One half of the available seats are open to non-Calloway majors.

217. Change Management. (3h) Focuses on the processes of change and reorganization in organizations. Students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to allow them to assess the necessity for organizational change, identify factors that facilitate or impede successful change, and initiate and implement change in organizations. P—BUS 211.

218. Leadership Seminar. (3h) Explores the history, art, science and practice of leadership in organizational settings. Focuses on theories and contemporary applications of such issues as change, vision, communication, coaching, followership, and motivation. Emphasis is on merging theory and practice and personal leadership skill development. P—junior or senior status, BUS 211.

221. Principles of Marketing. (3h) Investigates the means by which firms create, maintain, and improve relationships with customers through the development of strong brands and effective marketing programs. Emphasizes the application, rather than the acquisition, of marketing knowledge. Explores how the four P’s—product, price, place, and promotion—can be used to solve problems, exploit opportunities, and meet challenges in the global marketplace. Discussions, cases, objective tests, in-class exercises and a marketing campaign project are among the instructional methods used. P—ECN 150 and ACC 111; or POI.

222. Global Marketing Strategy. (3h) Builds on BUS 221 to explore strategic issues in the global marketplace in greater depth through intensive examination of cases from consumer and industrial markets; product and service businesses; and for-profit and nonprofit organizations. Analyzes social, cultural, economic, legal, and political factors present in the global marketplace and their impact on planning and implementing marketing strategy. Focuses on building analytical and decision-making skills. Objective is to ensure students understand the key role of marketing strategy in achieving and maintaining competitive advantage in an ever-changing, increasingly complex global business environment. P—BUS 221.

223. Selected Topics in Marketing. (3h) Identifies the most current marketing topics and practices in the dynamic global marketplace and covers them in detail. Focuses on the application of leading-edge concepts and ideas in the creation of superior marketing strategies. Seminar approach requires active student participation in the identification, elaboration, and discussion of course material. P—BUS 221.

224. Marketing Research. (3h) Introduction to fundamentals of research methodology and use of research information in marketing decision making. Topics include research design, data collection methods, scaling, sampling, and alternate methods of statistical data analysis. Students design and execute their own research projects. P—BUS 201 and 221.

225. Consumer Behavior. (3h) Focuses on understanding the customers/consumers/buyers/clients/patients/patrons without whom marketing and business cannot survive. Examines consumer motivations, influences, decision-making processes, and behaviors as they relate to the development of competitive marketing strategy. Discussions, mini-cases, in-class exercises, and a project are among the instructional methods used. P—BUS 221 or POI.

227. Marketing Communications. (3h) Designed for students whose career plans involve making strategic marketing decisions. Emphasizes ways to foster relationships with consumers by establishing a dialogue through advertising, consumer and trade promotions, the Internet, direct mail, publicity, packaging, point of sale material, and event sponsorship. Discussions, cases, in-class exercises, oral presentations, and a marketing communications campaign project are among the instructional methods used. P—BUS 221.

228. Sports Marketing. (3h) Focuses on the application of the strategic marketing process to the rapidly growing sports industry. Varied elements of the industry are examined: understanding the sports consumer; marketing and media; advertising and communication; promotion and special events; licensing; and corporate sponsorships. Current research, including gender-specific marketing, using athletes as endorsers, segmenting the sports market, measuring value of sponsorship, and the impact of technology on sports are covered. P—ECN 150 or equivalent.

241. Production and Operations Management. (3h) Introduces the basic concepts of operations strategy and operations planning in support of the business strategy of the firm. Topics include: operations strategy, quality management, project planning and control, capacity planning, location, layout, demand forecasting, supply chain management, aggregate planning, production scheduling, and inventory systems. P—BUS 201; MTH 256 for MBU majors.

243. Management of Technology and Innovation. (3h) Explores the management challenges and opportunities created by emerging new technologies including both product and process technologies. Themes include (1) how pioneering firms manage the initial exploitation of new technologies to create business value and establish a competitive advantage through new product development or new process development and (2) how established firms cope with an emerging technology that threatens to diminish their competitive advantage or displace demand for products and services. Deals with managerial rather than technical choices. P—BUS 211, 221, 251, and FIN 231; or POI.

251. Management Information Systems. (3h) Introduction to the business issues associated with information systems, designed to provide a broad perspective for utilizing and managing an organization’s information resources. Frameworks are presented for understanding the placement and relationship of different types of information systems within an organization. Includes an overview of computing technology currently used in business organizations, techniques for developing and implementing information systems, advanced applications of information technology, and the strategic implications of information systems and technology for business.

253. Selected Topics in Information Systems. (3h) In-depth study of contemporary issues in the field of information systems that are not covered in other information systems courses. Content varies. P—BUS 251 or POI.

261. Legal Environment of Business. (3h) Study of the legal environment in which business decisions are made in profit and nonprofit organizations. Emphasis is on how the law develops and how economic, political, social, international, and ethical considerations influence this development. Includes an overview of private law topics (such as torts, contracts, and agency) and public regulation of the employment relationship, the competitive marketplace, and the environment. P or C —ACC 111.

262. Business Law. (3h) A study of substantive law topics applicable to business transactions including contracts, agency, property, the UCC, and business organizations with an emphasis on how these subjects intersect with the functional areas of business and affect managerial decision making. P—BUS 261.

265. Ethics and Business Leadership. (3h) An interdisciplinary exploration of ethics applied to business. Lectures, readings, and a case-based approach introduce the necessary background information. Examples of ethical and unethical situations are used to develop an understanding of how an efficient and effective business can also be ethical. (One-half of enrollment spaces are available for non-Calloway School students.) P—Junior or senior standing.

271. Strategic Management. (3h) Focuses on the derivation of competitive advantage by organizations. Emphasizes the activities of general managers who are responsible for the shape, character, and overall direction of the total enterprise. Course content includes analyzing the effects of industry and competitive environments on the firm, determining the strategic basis upon which the firm should compete, formulating and implementing integrative action plans which enhance performance, and strategic leadership. Principles of competitive analysis and strategic planning are applied to case studies of domestic situations, diversification, globalization, and corporate turnaround. P—BUS 211, 221, and FIN 231. P or C—BUS 241.

272. Strategic Management in Entrepreneurial Firms. (3h) Core foundational concepts in strategic management are critically examined in the context of entrepreneurial firm settings. Emphasis is on applying principles of competitive analysis and strategic planning using case studies of startups, fast-growth firms, young firms in rapidly-changing industries, and firms confronting early organizational life cycle problems. Unique strategy issues confronted by firms in electronic commerce, technology, and other fast-paced industries are considered. P—BUS 211, 221, and FIN 231. P or C—BUS 241.

281. Individualized Reading and Research. (1h, 2h, 3h) Directed study in specialized areas of business. P—POI.

282. Management in the Visual Arts. (3h) Taught by faculty from the Calloway School and the art department. Provides both art and business students with the essential skills, pragmatic experiences, and a conceptual framework for understanding the role the visual arts play within the national and international economies. Students receive preparation for involvement in art galleries, auction houses, museums, and publishing, as well as for contributions to various boards and organizations that commission or purchase works of art. The marketing, financial, legal, and strategic aspects of art management are explored. Emphasis is on dialogue between art majors and business majors enrolled in the course. Field study in at least one major metropolitan area for the purpose of gaining intensive exposure to professional arts management is required, but the majority of travel costs are covered by the University. Also listed as ART 297. (One half of enrollment spaces are available for students who have been accepted into the Calloway School; the remaining half of the spaces are available to declared art majors with junior standing or higher.) P—Junior or senior standing and POI.

283. Seminar in Negotiations. (3h) Focuses on the process of conducting successful negotiations in a business setting. Introduces concepts, theories, and analytical frameworks that underlie common negotiation techniques. Practical skills are emphasized through negotiation exercises and the analysis of contemporary business situations. Lectures, discussions, and role plays are among the instructional methods used. P—Senior status or POI.

286. Selected Topics in Real Estate. (1.5h) Examines the most pertinent topics in real estate. Focuses on subjects such as ownership and interest, the legal aspects of real estate, real estate finance and real estate trends. P—senior status or POI.

290. International Business Study Tour. (3h) An experiential learning course which provides students with an exposure to and understanding of global operations in foreign settings. Each of the functional areas of business (marketing, operations, finance, human resources management, information systems, and strategic management) are covered through various site visits and presentations in selected foreign countries. Background readings and assignments appropriate to business or finance majors are required. Taught overseas in the summer. P—POI.

292. Seminar in Mathematical Business Analysis. (3h) Provides mathematical business majors with a forum where they can actually see how the mathematical, statistical and computer techniques can be brought to bear on many business problems in a variety of business functions. Emphasis is more on studying the process of modeling and implementation issues of the solutions and less on the algorithmic details. Critical and reflective thinking about models and the translation of results into management action is a major objective. Another objective of the seminar is to foster group work and the sharpening of presentation skills. P—BUS 211, 221, 241, FIN 231, and MTH 256, 353.

293. Principles of Risk Management. (1.5h) Intended to assist students in identifying and analyzing risk and in managing it through a variety of mechanisms. Techniques such as loss control, risk retention, and risk transfer are discussed. P—Junior or senior standing.

294. Applied Risk Management. (1.5h) Professional risk management field work, under the direction of a faculty member. Students gain relevant practical experience that is integrated with casework and risk management theory. Emphasis is on analysis, decision-making in a global environment, teamwork, written and verbal skills, presentation skills, and using technology to solve problems. P—BUS 293, POI, and senior standing.

295. Summer Management Program. (6h) A study of the various functions of business including accounting, finance, information systems, management, marketing, production, and strategic planning. Special application and admission procedures. Students may not receive credit for both BUS 295 and BUS 297S. Does not count towards a Calloway major. Pass/Fail only. Offered only in the summer and open only to junior and senior liberal arts majors.

296. Seminar in Fundamentals of Business. (4.5h) Study of the various functional areas of business, including finance, information systems, management, marketing, production, and strategic planning. Does not count towards a Calloway major. Pass/Fail only. P—Admission to master of science in accountancy program. Offered only in the summer.

297S. SportsCOM. (6h) Study of the concepts, operations, and management associated with the sports industry. Students are introduced to such areas as the foundation of sports management, sociology of sports, sports marketing, psychology of coaching, sports economics and finance, ethics in management of sports organizations, legal issues in sports management, athletics administration, facilities management, and the strategic management of sports organizations. Students may not receive credit for both BUS 295 and BUS 297S. Special application and admission procedures. This course does not count toward a Calloway major. Enrollment is not limited to Calloway students. One-half of enrollment spaces are available for student athletes and one-half for non-student athletes with sport experience. Does not count towards a Calloway major. Pass/Fail only. Offered only in the summer with preference to rising seniors.

338. Financial Statement Analysis. (1.5h) Study of the techniques used to analyze and interpret the information in corporate financial statements. Emphasis is on (1) accounting methods used in the preparation of financial statements, (2) implications of management’s accounting choices for evaluation of corporate performance by creditors and investors, and (3) linkages among financial statement items. P—FIN 231 and ACC 212.
Accountancy (ACC)

111. Introductory Financial Accounting. (3h) Introduction to financial accounting and reporting, including the role of financial information in business decisions, the basic financial statements, and the processes used to prepare these financial statements. Students are introduced to the accounting and reporting issues associated with an organization's financing, investing, and operating activities. Sophomore standing. Minimum grade of C required for admission.

221. Introductory Management Accounting. (3h) Study of the concepts fundamental to management accounting which aid in decision making, performance evaluation, and planning and control. Topics covered include product costing systems, budgeting, differential and break-even analysis, responsibility accounting, cost allocation, and management accounting reports. P—Minimum of C in ACC 111.

237. Taxes and Their Role in Business and Personal Decisions. (3h) Review of legal and accounting concepts associated with the federal taxation of income. Topics examined include the regular and alternative minimum tax models as well as gross income, capital gains, property transactions, deductions, and credits. P or C—ACC 211 or POI.

290. International Accounting. (3h) Experiential learning course that provides students with an opportunity to learn about international and transnational accounting standards, policies, and practices. Students participate in a study tour of several selected countries and gain an international accounting and business perspective through meetings with individuals in government, professional accounting firms, financial institutions, and manufacturing companies. Background readings and assignments appropriate to accounting or finance majors are required. Taught overseas in the summer. P—ACC 211 and POI.

291. Professional Accounting Internship. (6h) Professional accounting field work, under the direction of a faculty member, in a public accounting firm, corporate enterprise, or not-for-profit organization. Students gain relevant practical experience which builds on prior coursework and provides an experiential knowledge base for coursework in the fifth year. P—Admission to MSA program and POI.

351. Accounting Information Systems. (3h) Study of the design and operation of accounting systems including the revenue, expenditure, and administrative transaction cycles. Emphasis is on the necessary controls for reliable data. P—Admission to MSA program, BUS 251 and a minimum of C in ACC 212; or POI.
352. Introduction to Auditing. (4h) Examination of basic auditing concepts and practices, and the auditor’s professional responsibilities. Emphasis is on auditing standards and the auditing procedures commonly used in public accounting. P—Admission to the MSA program, minimum of C in ACC 212; C—ACC 351; or POI.

378. Individualized Reading and Research. (1h, 2h, 3h) Directed study in specialized areas of accountancy. P—POI.

Finance (FIN)

203. Applied Quantitative Analysis for Finance. (3h) Provides students the basic mathematical and statistical tools needed for the study of applied finance. Topics include multiple regression, analysis of residuals and F-tests; analysis of time-series data; risk, preference, and utility theory; stochastic processes; and applied optimization. P—BUS 201 with a C or better and FIN 231 with a C or better; C—FIN 232; or POI.

231. Principles of Finance. (3h) Survey course examining the fundamentals of financial decision-making and including topics such as the time value of money, security valuation (corporate debt and equity pricing), risk and return, financial statement analysis, capital budgeting, and the cost of capital. Financial decision-making is developed within the context of domestic and international institutions and markets. P—ACC 111, P or C—ECN 150.

232. Intermediate Finance. (3h) Required of all finance majors and is intended as preparation for upper level electives. Provides an examination of financial decision-making under uncertainty stressing practical applications of technology. Topics include yield curves and interest rate risk; the uses and risks of derivative securities; capital structure and the impact of leverage; statistical estimation of the cost of capital for the firm and its projects; financial statement forecasting (pro forma); and discounted cash flow valuation of the firm. Incorporates electronic spreadsheet applications (Excel) in problem solving, statistics, and financial modeling. P—BUS 201 with C or better and FIN 231 with C or better; C—FIN 232; or POI.

233. The Calloway Deacon Alumni Fund. (3h) The Calloway Deacon Alumni Fund is a student-managed mutual fund course that places students in the role of a sector analyst and requires them to make recommendations about whether stocks in their sector should be bought or sold by the fund. The course uses fundamental analysis and a discounted cash flow framework to value equity securities. Students write research reports and make formal presentations to make recommendations to alter the portfolio. P—232 or C—232 with POI.

234. International Finance. (3h) Examines the impact of international financial economics on markets and the management of both domestic and multinational firms. Emphasis is on institutional and environmental factors influencing trade, foreign exchange, and capital acquisition and allocation. P—FIN 232 with a C or better; or POI.

237. Financial Markets and Institutions. (3h) Provides students with an understanding of the structure and functioning of U.S. and international financial markets. Topics covered in the class: banking theory, the roles of traditional and non-traditional financial intermediaries, the impact of securitization, international financial competition, financial system stability, and financial regulation. Although primarily targeted toward finance majors, the course is suitable for business and economics majors wishing to understand our financial system. P—FIN 231 with a C or better; or POI.
239. Ethics, Capitalism, and Markets. (3h) Explores the market mechanics and ethical groundwork of capitalism. Focuses on the major ethical theories that have supported or criticized capitalism throughout history. Topics include the role and justification of private property, profits, the dilemma of the corporate structure, and wealth distribution. Applies various ethical perspectives to current hot-button business issues such as stakeholders versus stockholders; affirmative action and diversity; insider trading; corporate social responsibility; labor, management and stockholders; and government regulation and laissez-faire. P—FIN 231 with a C or better; or POI.

281. Individualized Reading and Research. (1h, 2h, 3h) Directed study in specialized areas of finance. P—POI.

331. Corporate Finance. (3h) Explores the practical application of corporate financial theory. The strategic financial decisions of firms are analyzed with regard to capital budgeting, capital structure, dividend policy, seasoned equity offerings, rights issues, the application of option theory to corporate finance strategy, and real options. P—FIN 232 with a C or better; or POI.

332. Banking and Investment Banking. (3h) Examines corporate restructuring and how commercial and investment banks facilitate the transactions. Investigates the impacts of strategic financial alterations on the performance of the firm’s assets. Examines IPOs, mergers and acquisitions, divestitures, spin-offs, and capital acquisition. Focuses on the application of financial modeling and the use of discounted cash flow valuation to analyze managerial decisions under uncertainty. P—FIN 232 with a C or better; or POI.

335. Financial Derivatives. (3h) Explores the pricing and uses of derivatives; the role of market participants; how market structures and practices facilitate risk transfer; and the uses of derivatives for hedging. Covers futures/forwards, options, and swaps, the three most important types of financial derivatives. P—FIN 232 with a C or better; or POI.

336. Fixed Income and Financial Engineering. (3h) Provides an introduction to interest rate risk management, the nature of fixed income markets, the structure and underlying economic rationale for various structured products including collateralized debt obligations, and the role of financial engineering in fixed income markets and risk management. P—FIN 232 with a C or better; or POI.

338. Real Estate Finance. (3h) Focuses on concepts and techniques used to value and finance income-producing property investments. Provides a critical perspective for making financial decisions about real estate. The nature of real estate risk, at both the level of the individual project and the investment portfolio is considered. Case discussions encourage students to evaluate how economic characteristics of the property and the local market, motives of different actors, and institutional arrangements interact to shape decision-making in real estate. P—FIN 232 with a C or better; or POI.

The information in this bulletin applies to the academic year 2007-2008 and is accurate and current, to the extent possible, as of April 1, 2008. The University reserves the right to change programs of study, academic requirements, teaching staff, the calendar, and other matters described herein without prior notice, in accordance with established procedures.

Wake Forest University is committed to administer all educational and employment activities without discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, veteran status, handicapped status or disability as required by law. The University has adopted a procedure for the purpose of resolving discrimination complaints. Inquiries or concerns should be directed to Harold Holmes, dean of student services, at 336.758.5226; dean of the College, at 336.758.5312; or Doris McLaughlin, assistant director of human resources, director of equal employment opportunity, and Title IX coordinator, at 336.758.4814.

In addition, Wake Forest rejects hatred and bigotry in any form and adheres to the principle that no person affiliated with Wake Forest should be judged or harassed on the basis of perceived or actual sexual orientation. In affirming its commitment to this principle, Wake Forest does not limit freedom of religious association or expression, does not presume to control the policies of persons or entities not affiliated with Wake Forest, and does not extend benefits beyond those provided under other policies of Wake Forest.
